Group of Winnipeg Girl Guides Have a Busy Week-end

Members of Senior Scout Troop 34 were hostesses to members of the 27th Company of Canadian Girl Guides this past weekend, and in escorting them around the city discovered the city themselves. With the cooperation of Jim Roche, secretary of the Civic and Commerce association, various sightseeing trips were made, and all firms visited did all in their power to make the Canadian girls feel at home.

The girls were thrilled by the large locomotives at the round house, got up into a Diesel Cab, and were treated to a ride on the turn table. They watched the grain being cleaned at the Osborne McMillan elevator, saw the belts and conveyors carrying the grain into the high storage tanks. The firehall was of great interest, and the museum on the second floor was visited and admired.

Few of the girls realized the enormous quantities of eggs candled, broken and frozen per hour in the Land O'Lakes plant, and the ice cream making was of interest. The girls also visited the Times Office and Jung's Rainbow Pastry shop. The dam, power house, and sewage disposal plant were visited and explained and the touring ended at the Hartz warehouse.

Mayor Harry Simons welcomed the Guides, presented them with souvenirs of Thief River Falls, and received a friendly letter sent with the Guides to the mayor and the people of Thief River Falls.

The visit of the Guides was the occasion for an area rally of all Senior Scouts, and 160 were present in the city Auditorium on Friday night, from Karlstad, Warren, Roseau, McIntosh, Fosston and Red Lake Falls, besides the Guides and 3 local troops. The American Legion auxiliary served a lunch after the evening's activities. Games, contests and stunts kept the girls busy.

Eighty Guides and Scouts with the Scouts' families, attended the pot-luck supper in Trinity church Saturday night. Carol Bjerken acted as toastmistress for the Scouts, Marian Sarles responded for the Guides. Tom Peck entertained with an archery demonstration and the Guides demonstrated the opening of a Guide meeting. Both troops attended church at Trinity Sunday morning and made an impressive sight, Guide and Scout together in full uniform as they marched together down the aisle of the church.

The local high school was a marvel to the Guides and they played basketball in the gym, while others learned to bowl.

The Guides were guests on Kay Barzen's "Women in the News" radio program and the Ben Franklin "Man on the Street." They left for Canada convinced that this was but the first of many visits they would like to make to Thief River Falls, and left an invitation for local girls to attend their camp on Lake Winnipeg this summer and see how Canadians camp.

BUSINESS WOMEN OF DISTRICT PICK OFFICERS SUNDAY

Mrs. VanStrum of Bemidji Is Reelected Chairman at Meeting in This City

Mayor Harry E. Simons complimented Business and Professional Women on their interest and active participation in civic affairs when he addressed their district convention Sunday.

The mayor particularly emphasized the fact that two Thief River Falls club members are on the local planning board whose activities are of primary importance to local residents.

The mayor's address was given at the conclusion of a midday dinner at the Terrace Room in the Rex Cafe.

During the all-day session district officers were elected. Mrs. Gladwin VanStrum was renamed district chairman. She presided at Sunday's meeting and is a member of the Bemidji group. Mrs. Maybelle Anderson of Crookston was elected vice-chairman, and Mrs. Lou LaFontise of Bemidji was named secretary-treasurer.

In the absence of their state president, Mrs. Hazel C. Daniels, the convention heard Ann Bloomquist, state co-chairman of membership, who spoke on the necessity of budgeting in club work.

Club presidents from Crookston, Bemidji, Detroit Lakes, and Thief River Falls reported on their group activities, and an invitation from Alexandria was accepted for the fall convention.

In a lighter vein, the Bemidji group loaned Paul Bunyan's gavel for use during the session. The out-sized gavel was dimensioned in proportion to the lumber-jack's great size.

Crookston's club presented an emblem ceremony at the conclusion of the meeting. Louise Rasmussen, state emblem chairman was in charge.

Mrs. Irene Forsberg, president of the Thief River Falls club, presided at the dinner.

CONGRESS ACTS FRIDAY TO CUT INCOME TAXES

Both Houses Repass Measure After Veto by President Truman

Congress Friday enacted a $4,800,000,000 income tax cut. It brushed aside a veto message in which President Truman branded it a "reckless" measure that would sap America's strength at a time of world danger.

The vote was 311 to 88 in the house and 77 to 10 in the senate.

The house margin was 45 votes larger than the necessary two-thirds. The senate majority had 13 votes to spare.

Mr. Truman vainly argued that such a tax slash would fan the fires of inflation and weaken the country in its campaign to preserve "peace with justice against the forces of dissension and chaos". Opponents countered that the measure would spur production, strengthen the economy and grant much needed relief to a burdened public.

The bill, now a law without the president's signature, cuts taxes on 1948 income for all the 52,000,000 taxpayers. It removes entirely the federal income tax on 7,400,000 with smaller incomes.

Reductions for the others range from 12.6 per cent on the first $2,000 of taxable income after deductions and exemptions. There is a 7.4 per cent cut on that part of the income above $2,000 and up to $136,700. For income above $136,700 the cut is 5 per cent.

Personal exemptions are raised from $500 to $600. Persons who are 65 or older get a $1,200 personal exemption. The blind get special benefits.

The bill applies the community property principle to all states. This allows wives and husbands to split the family income for tax reporting purposes. In many cases it puts couples income in lower brackets and thus cuts their tax bill.

Explorer Beltrami to Be Honored This Summer

One of the big celebrations of the summer season will be held at Buena Vista in Beltrami county on August 22, to commemorate the 125th anniversary of the discovery of Lake Julia by Giacomo C. Beltrami, the Italian explorer who believed the Lake to be the northern source of the Mississippi River. Beltrami county is named for him.

A part of the program will be devoted to the dedication of a plaque to Beltrami, for which the last legislature appropriated $500.

Beltrami was one of the leading early claimants to the discovery of the true source of the Mississippi River, along with Zebulon Pike and Lewis Cass. It was Henry R. Schoolcraft who found the true source in Lake Itasca in 1832. Lake Itasca will be the scene of a big historical pageant when Minnesota celebrates its 100th birthday next year.

SECURITY LOAN CAMPAIGN OPENS IN STATE APRIL 15

Treasury Department to Explain Bond Drive in Minneapolis Apr. 10

A state savings bonds conference of county chairman under the auspices of the treasury department will be held Saturday, April 10 at the Radisson Hotel in Minneapolis, it was announced by Von E. Luscher, state chairman.

Plans for America's Security Loan, a bond drive which is to begin April 15 and continue through June 30, will be outlined at the meeting. Through the medium of thousands of community workers an all-out campaign will be undertaken to solicit every potential buyer of savings bonds either in his home or at work.

Vernon L. Clark, national director of the savings bonds division, will be present to give first hand information on the national aspects of the drive. Under his direction, as the nation's number one bond volunteer serving without compensation, $7 billion dollars worth of savings bonds were sold during 1947. This was accomplished with less than one-quarter of the division's paid wartime staff, and without many of the millions of wartime volunteer workers.

According to Mr. Clark, the relief of inflationary pressures will be accomplished through the Security Loan in two ways. The money received from the public will be withdrawn from the consumer markets, and it will be used by the Treasury to pay off bank-held or other potentially inflationary portions of the public debt now outstanding. This shifting of ownership is sound debt management.

Governor Luther W. Youngdahl will address the conference at the afternoon session.

Making Steel Rails

The original process of making steel rails was invented by Sir Henry Bessemer, England, and perfected by A. L. Holley, an American. Sir Henry was a gunsmith before making steel rails. He obtained his original patents in 1856. Holley bought the Bessemer patents in 1863 and had his improved process patented in 1865. Their inventions produced a steel rail with a life several times greater than that of iron rail. The open-hearth process, developed by William and Frederick Siemens of Germany and improved by Samuel T. Wellman, an American, has largely replaced the Bessemer and Holley processes.

Ice Value Proven

Ohio State university compared the shrinkage of 14 products when displayed at room temperature and when held in crushed ice. At room temperature losses averaged about 20 per cent in two days. In ice most vegetables actually gained a little weight.

Steel Use Increases

More steel is being used today by the American people than at any previous time in history, the total amount of steel currently in use being estimated at more than a billion tons. This means that more than 17,500 pounds are in use for every man, woman and child in the country, nearly seven times as much as in 1900. The amount of steel in use per capita still is increasing as new uses for steel are found. It has been estimated that about 17 per cent of the steel produced now goes into automobiles, while the construction industry is the second largest steel buyer, taking about 15 per cent of the total output.

Slaughter of Game

Greatest slaughter of game in American history took place in 1872, 1873 and 1874, when it is estimated that more than 1,400,000 buffaloes were killed for their hides alone.

Movements of Fish

Movements in the water of the different species of fish tend to be characteristic. In jumping over a low obstacle, such as a counting board, both king salmon and silver salmon tend to go over with a sort of rolling motion, while the steelhead tends to jump straight ahead. Similarly, in breaking water in a pool the salmons tend to come out with a rolling motion, while the steelheads usually come out with a straight thrust. In some instances it has been noted that in leaping the salmons have extended their pectoral fins fully, while the steelheads have folded them partially against the body.

Holland Population Increases

Holland's population has reached a record high of 9,123,286, according to a report recently released. Females slightly outnumber males, the respective figures being 4,574,861 and 4,548,425.

Minnesota's state highway department is out in front of other states in progress made in construction of roads since the war. Last year, according to S. L. Taylor of the federal public roads administration, Minnesota completed 19 million dollars in federal-state highway work. This was 71.8% of the work under contract, the highest rate of completion in Upper Midwest states. He stated that a total of 45 million dollars is available for federal-state highway construction in Minnesota in the next two years. How do you suppose Mike Hoffmann and the members of his organization would react if they were told they are doing a good job?

Last week came a warning to small towns from a gathering of the American Society of Planning Officials in Chicago. "Small towns that wish to keep their farmer trade must provide him with a parking lot," they resoluted. "Farmers are in revolt against the pay-as-you-go hitching post from the shores of the Pacific to the plains of Kansas." It is a timely warning and one that should be heeded by local planners.

Six billion American bucks were ordered out to war this past week, a tough war to restore order in this crazy world of ours. Some of these bucks will fight to feed hungry people; some will help restore industry and agriculture to make war-torn nations self-supporting again; and some will go into combat with the forces that seek to destroy free government. We are throwing our bucks into this war in the hope that it will not be necessary to send our boys into another war. No one can assure us that what we are doing is the right thing to do. Later developments may prove that we are wrong. But at the present time it is the considered judgment of the leaders of both of our main political parties that what we are now doing is right — right from the humanitarian standpoint and right from the standpoint of our own selfish and materialistic interest in preserving peace. If this program does preserve peace then we can well afford the cost. If peace is not preserved it will not matter what the cost has been.

Each night from now until Saturday night will be big nights in the field of local entertainment. A whale of a big community show invites the community to come and enjoy itself and we'll go out on the limb with our assurance that it is a worthwhile show to see. We're giving it a plug in the interests of good entertainment. We are also hoping for its financial success for the good and sufficient reason that the proceeds of this venture are going to a deserving cause. It is sponsored by the American Legion and Auxiliary to raise money for the American Legion Heart Research Professorship Memorial Fund. The Minnesota goal is a half million dollars. Pennington County's quota is $2,400, and 200 entertainers are going all out to give you bang-up entertainment for your contributions to this good cause when you attend "Anything Goes" at the Auditorium this week.

Harold Stassen killed off one contender for the Republican presidential nomination in the Wisconsin primary election Tuesday and left another leading aspirant hanging on the ropes. By failing to make an impressive showing in his own state, General Douglas MacArthur can no longer be considered a threat for the nomination. And Thomas E. Dewey, whose striking Wisconsin victory four years ago made him appear to be a strong man in the north-central states, will have little chance now of convincing the Republican national convention that he is the man of the hour and should be given a second chance. Stassen's display of strength in Wisconsin adds tremendously to his prestige as a candidate. He still has a hard fight ahead of him however.

Who was it that sounded off about the ice going out of the river by the tenth of April? Any fool should know that an early Easter always means a late Spring.

On page 12 of this issue is published Pennington County's financial statement as of the first of the year and it makes good reading for those who are interested in the county's progress. The old debt that for many years remained over $600,000 has now been cut to $331,000. With $121,000 in reserve for debt service, the old debts are actually reduced to a net of little more than $200,000 and this balance is under easy control. Ditch repair warrants are quite an item of new debt now and the total probably will increase, but there is little danger that ditch obligations are going to get out of hand as they did when the original ditch systems were put in.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear daughter Deloris May Urdahl who passed away one year ago, April 3, 1947.

One year has passed our hearts, still sore,
As time rolls on, we miss her more.
Her loving smile, her sunny face,
No one can fill her vacant place.
Friends may think we have forgotten,
When at times they see us smile
But they little know the heartaches,
That our smiles hide all the while.

Sadly missed by Mr. and Mrs. Nick Urdahl. 15c

Sleeping Potion for Potatoes

A "sleeping potion" for potatoes to reduce sprouting in storage is one of the more recent scientific developments now available for housewives. The result of research conducted by Cornell university, the new chemical was used on more than 600,000 bushels last year by large growers. It is called methyl ester and is now available in dust form in one pound containers for the small grower who produces for home use and for the housewife who stores potatoes in large quantity.

STATES-DOMINION LEAGUE ALL-STAR TEAMS SELECTED

Tony Dorn Named on 1st Team; 3 Thieves Given Places on Second Team

As expected, the Grand Forks Amerks, league champions and Minnesota state amateur hockey titleholders, monopolized the States-Dominion hockey league All-Star team selected the coaches and managers of the circuit's five member teams. The Amerks high-scoring forward line of center Cliff "Fido" Purpur and wings Russ and Milton Johnson were given first team ranking; and in support of that line, the voters named the Thieves' Tony Dorn and Hallock's Ben Commeault to the defense positions, with Hallock's Tony Loiselle being named goalie to complete the first team lineup. Purpur and Russ Johnson were unanimous first team selections, getting 15 points each. Tony Dorn and Tony Loiselle were near-unanimous choices with 14 points apiece. Ben Comemault was credited with 13 points, while Milt Johnson barely edged out the locals' Babe Paulsen, having 11 points to Paulsen's 10 points.

On the second team, the Thieves, who concluded the season's play as the league leader but lost to the Amerks in the championship playoffs, placed three players. Babe Paulsen earned a wing position; Clarence "Greek" Swanson was selected for goalie; and Bill Zippel tied with the Crookston's Pirate's Jimmy Medved for the center position. Emerson's Armand "Moose" Dionne, at a wing, and Eddie Beaulieu, at defense, and Grand Forks' Frank Lawrence and Tom Devine tied for the other defense post to complete the squad.

Named to the third team were Dick Justice of Grand Forks as goalie; Bill Medved of Crookston and Lloyd "Pug" Lund and Jimmy Doyle of the Thieves at defense; Napoleon Commeault and Len Lander of Hallock at the wings; and George Lesperence of Emerson at center.

The Thieves' Tony Dorn and Hallocks' Tony Loiselle were the only first team "holdovers" from last season's All-Star selection. In addition to Dorn and Loiselle, last years' first team had "Moose" Dionne and Babe Paulsen at the wings; Bill Zippel, then playing with Warroad, at center; and Eddie Beaulieu at defense.

WESTERN OIL WINS HANDICAP TOURNEY

Shell Oil Co. Bowlers Are Runners-up in Event

The Western Oil & Fuel Company's bowling team proved their claim to the title of the city's top-ranking bowling squad by winning the team handicap bowling tournament that was concluded at the Mint alleys on Friday night. The Western Oil team, captained by "Ham" Bergland, won the City Bowling League championship with a fine won and lost record, and bowling on the 7 P. M. shift on Friday night they marked up an aggregate pin total of 3704 to gain a 70-pin margin over the runner-up Shell Oil Co. team.

The Shell Oil team, bowling on the 9 P. M. shift on Friday night, had an opportunity to overtake the Western Oil, but a 759 in their fourth and final game proved disastrous. Jack Poole's St. Hilaire team was the early leader in the tournament, with the Saints having scores of 701-750-750-777, plus a handicap of 656, to post an aggregate of 3634.

The Western Oil opened their tournament bowling by chalking up actual-pin games of 850 and 930 on alleys No. 3 and No. 4. Moving over to alleys No. 1 and No. 2, the Westerns bumped into trouble, getting an 810 count in their third game, and concluding with a 790, giving the winners and acutal-pin total of 3389. With their handicap of 315 pins the Westerns were able to mark up a 3704. In their two "big" games the Western Oil scoring was as follows: Ambrose Wysoski, 160 and 180; Ed Karwand, 142 and 170; Blackie Stephens, 178, and 194; Ham Bergland, 224 and 190; and Emil Dostal, 146 and 190. Bergland was the high pin bowler for the winner, having scores of 159 and 162 in the third and fourth games to total 735 pins.

Disturbing News

Co-captains Al Williamson and Joe Bradley and the rest of the Prowler football players, and the local fans, too, are disturbed by the probability that Wayne Johnson, the Prowler football coach, will not return here next year. Wayne, who in his first year here produced a North Valley Conference championship squad, has been giving serious thought to accepting a position in the southern part of the state, and he's just about decided to accept the New Ulm proposition.

Wayne hasn't any grievance as to conditions up here, except that he desires to be located closer to the Twin Cities and Red Wing. It is hoped, though, that the high school boys, who are circulating a petition, and the fans can persuade Wayne to remain, and that when he gives his final decision, on April 12th, it will be to coach the Prowlers for another year.

Reds Interested in Perkins.

Don Perkins, pitching ace of last season's junior legion baseball team, is in receipt of a letter from Fred Schulte, scout for the Cincinnati National League baseball team, stating that he, Perkins, had been recommended as a prospect. Mr. Schulte requested that Don should send in a schedule of the games that the local team would play, and in which it was probable that he would pitch, so that the scout could get a look at Don in action.

Fact is, the seventeen-year old Perkins has possibilities of being quite a pitcher. He's loose and rangy, possesses a fair fast ball and an adequate curve; but he does require considerable coaching to smoothen his pitching form. He was a standout in district baseball last year, and with a bit more determination and aggressiveness, he would have been terrific. Let's hope that Mr. Schulte will be pleased with what he sees when he comes up here in three or four weeks.

States-Dominion All-Star Teams

The "official" States Dominion hockey league All-Star teams, as selected by the coaches and managers of the league teams, was acceptable to most of the fans and did not cause too many arguments. The first team lineup with Tony Loiselle in goal, Tony Dorn and Ben Commeault on defense, and Cliff Purpur, Russ and Prince Johnson at the forwards, would be a high-scoring outfit. The only improvement, possibly, would be placing Babe Paulsen at a forward spot in place of one of the Johnson brothers. It appears that several of the coaches were impressed by the play of the Grand Forks trio and voted for Purpur and the two Johnsons as a playing unit. And it will be difficult to convince many of the States-Dominion hockey league fans that the locals "Greek" Swanson wasn't the ablest goalie in the circuit.

And the All-Star voters committed a "fumble" when they didn't place Crookston's Johnny Noah on one of their three teams. Johnny didn't even get honorable mention, and the personable Crookston all-round star certainly deserves a measure of credit for the consistent play that he turned in this year.

City Softball League Meeting

Karl Gerstner emphasizes that Monday night's softball meeting, which will be held in the City Council room of the Auditorium at 8 p. m., will be important and that all team managers, sponsors, and players are requested to be in attendance. League membership playing rules, player eligibility, and the league schedule, are some of the topics that will be brought up for discussion. It is rumored that Bob Carlson will attempt to have the "contract" that he signed, declared null and void.

Western Oil City Champs

Ham Bergland, Ed Karwand, Blackie Stephens, Emil Dostal, and Am Wysoski are walking around town with a pronounced swagger, and all because of the 3704 aggregate total they recorded to win the city handicap bowling tournament last week. Previously the team had won the City Bowling league championship, and they feel that by winning the team tournament they erased whatever doubts there were as to their claim to the city championship.

Am Wysoski, the team's pilot and one of the city's best bowlers, doesn't swagger as much as the other Westerns, though, because in the fourth game of the tournament on Friday night, Am scored a 98. In fairness to the Western Oil pilot it must be explained, that he ran into six splits.

To Form Intermediate Baseball Loop April 9

Jimmy Welton, secretary of the JayCee's baseball league for boys, announced that a registration meeting for intermediate boys—that is, boys from 14 to 16 years of age—will be held at the Lincoln high school Friday afternoon, April 9th, at 4:15 P. M. All intermediate boys interested in playing with a team are asked to attend the meeting or make arrangements for registration. Last week's midget baseball meeting found 110 boys registering for baseball, and this week Mr. Welton is completing the schedule for the midget baseball league, which will be composed of eight teams.

YOU CHECK YOUR HAT FOR PROTECTION...

Why not your Health?

● Hats and Health ... The comparison may seem a bit far-fetched. But let's see. You check your hat as a protective measure. Why not check up on your health for the same reason? You can buy a new hat for a few dollars. But who would care to put a price-tag on his health? You aren't really ill ... just a bit under par, perhaps. And that's the very time you should see a Doctor—before he has to see you! Better make an appointment right away. He will be glad to help you get back on the highway to Health! A little foresight may save you the price of a dozen hats! And remember, bring your Doctor's prescriptions here for careful, conscientious compounding by our experts.

41,819 ACCIDENTS HAPPEN ON STATE ROADS DURING '47

570 Person Killed in Mishaps, State Highway Department Reports

The 570 pesons who met death in Minnesota traffic in 1947 represent but a small part of last year's traffic accident toll of human misfortune, according to a sumarized analysis of all last year's motor vehicle accidents in the state, released today by the state department of highways.

The exhaustive study, completed as a means to utilize every angle of the state's accident experience in efforts to avert or reduce similar mishaps, show:

41,819 fairly serious motor vehicle accidents, that is serious enough to involve at least a personal injury or property damage over $50, occurred in Minnesota in 1947.

501 of these accidents killed 570 persons, a 5.8 per cent increase over 1946.

11,180 of them caused reportable personal injuries or maiming to 17,478 people.

30,138 of them, although no one got killed or seriously hurt, cost from $50 up to thousands of dollars apiece in property damage.

Heading the fatalities list were pedestrians, with 163 of the year's 470 dead, and 2,472 other pedestrians injured.

The greatest single cause of motorist fatalities was collision with another motor vehicle, which caused 33,545 accidents, resulted in 171 deaths, and injured or crippled 11,116 persons. The second major cause was running off the roadway, without having collided with any other vehicle or obstacle. Reportable accidents of this nature totaled 2,449 and their toll included 126 killed and 2,092 injured. Next came collision with a fixed object—1,164 crashes which took 23 lives and 551 injuries.

Streetcars and motor vehicles collided 957 times in Minnesota last year causing six deaths and 336 serious injuries. Railroad crossing collisions involving crashes between railroad trains, cars and trucks totaled 213 and resulted in the death of 38 persons and injury to 149 others. In only 98 car-train cases did the motorist escape with just property damage. Bicycle-motor vehicle collisions totaled 333 with eight fatalities and 329 injuries. Twenty-five motor vehicles collided with animal drawn vehicles and 180 struck animals in the roadway with a net result of two people killed and 70 injured.

POLITICAL ROUNDUP

By Arthur Naftalin

The report that Governor Luther W. Youngdahl will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator against Joseph H. Ball has popped up again, this time with renewed vigor. A Minneapolis weekly newspaper, The Mall, declares flatly that Youngdahl will definitely file. Although it gives no source for the information, the newspaper goes on to declare that this move has the full backing of the forces behind former Governor Harold Stassen.

Many months ago this column was the first to report that Youngdahl was under presure to consider the Senatorship. Later this was confirmed by general press reports. Then the Governor declared that he would be a candidate for re-election, a statement which was interpreted as indicating he would not enter the senatorial race. Now, however, the report of a likely Youngdahl-Ball encounter is circulating widely. It is linked with another report that State Auditor Stafford King will be the candidate to succeed Youngdahl as governor.

It would be surprising if Youngdahl was not considering the senatorial race. Recently opinion polls indicated he has a strong following that would make him a favored candidate for any position he might seek. If Youngdahl should pass up the 1948 Senatorial contest, the prospect of his going to the Senate in the future would be postponed for many years. The next Senatorial race will be in 1952, and then Senator Edward J. Thye will be up for re-election. The '52 race unless times and conditions change drastically, would provide no opening for Youngdahl as both he and Thye are on the same team. Thus, if Youngdahl has his eyes on the Senate, '48 would be his year to strike.

There are many hidden currents in the Ball-Stassen-Youngdahl relationship. Persons claiming to be close to the Governor say that what he would really like in the future would be a federal judgeship and that, if Stassen should move into the Presidency, such a future would be secure for Youngdahl. King has indicated that he is definitely considering the senatorial race himself. Stassen has made no public comment to indicate what his preferences are concerning the state elections in '48. The best guess is that the whole Republican picture in the state will remain unsettled until after the GOP national convention in June.

Meanwhile, the GOP and DFL alike are waiting to see what Mayor Hubert H. Humphrey of Minneapolis will do in '48. Humphrey has indicated that he is ready to enter the Senatorial picture, if he is certain that the DFL Party will have leadership that is friendly to him. But, if Youngdahl should declare for he Senate, the Governorship might become a more likely spot for Humphrey to seek.

Minnesota DFL'ers are pondering their plight with respect to the matter of Presidency. Many would like to find another candidate to take Truman's place, and there is much talk about "drafting" General Dwight Eisenhower. Among other possibilities mentioned are Mayor Humphrey, who has also been suggested for the Vice-Presidential nomination.

The big battle for the control of the state DFL Party has moved into high gear. In Hennepin county, which is regarded as the pivotal factor in determining right-wing CIO leaders have joined with other non-labor forces who controls the state AFL and ces in a coalition effort under the name of the Hennepin county DFL Volunteer Committee. The committee's chairman, Russell K. Berg, openly announced that the group is out to defeat the Henry Wallace Third Party faction from taking over the Party and to prevent "Communist infiltration into the DFL".

Radioactive Material

Radioactive material often is mentioned in this atomic age. Radioactive materials are unstable atoms which shoot out radiation and particles until the nucleus falls into a normal, or stable, form. Radium and a few other elements are naturally unstable. Many common elements can be made radioactive by cyclotrons or an atomic "pile," which is an atomic furnace. The pile consists of uranium distributed in a lot of pure carbon or other materials. It burns fissionable material and releases atomic energy.

Not an Aristocrat

Broccoli is no longer the aristocratic, high-priced luxury food of a few years ago. It is rich in vitamin A, calcium and iron, these food values being found especially in the leaves but also present in the buds and stems. Cooked in an open pan long enough to get the stems tender, broccoli is an appetizing dish.

Top of the Nation

Colorado is called the "top of the nation" because 50 of the 80 highest peaks in all North America are within its borders. Lowest elevation in the state is 3,385 feet, more than three-fifths of a mile.

Nickel Resists Corrosion

Nickel does not rust and strongly resists corrosion by salt water, by many acids, caustics and other chemicals. When alloyed with steel along with chromium and other alloying elements, such as in stainless steel, nickel helps to make those metals resistant to heat and corrosion.

Scope of Oil Companies

Today more than 34,000 companies are engaged in the oil business throughout the United States. Of these, 13,473 are in the production end of the business; 400 are refiners; 650 are engaged in transportation of oil products, and 20,000 deal with marketing and distribution. In addition, there are nearly 250,000 service stations, as well as thousands of other retail outlets for oil products.

Material in Telephone

Forty-eight different materials are required to produce a single telephone set.

Beware of Anthrax

Anthrax is an acute disease affecting all domestic animals and man. Generally fatal, the disease is spread by means of spores from carcasses of animals which have died from the disease. These spores may live in the soil for years and, when picked up with their food by grazing animals, germinate in the intestinal tract. From there, the anthrax bacilli invade the blood stream, rapidly causing death. Human beings may become infected when skinning an animal which has died from the disease, or by handling the skin or other products.

N. W. BELL SEEKING INCREASED RATES IN LARGER CITIES

Rates in T. R. Falls Will Not Be Affected by New Application

A. J. Rau, manager for the Northwestern Bell Telephone company here, announced today that the company has filed an application with the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission asking increased prices for its services in certain larger communities it serves in the state. Mr. Rau said that the application does not provide for any change in the schedule of rates authorized last December by the commission for Thief River Falls and placed in effect here in January.

Commenting upon the application, Glenn Allen, Northwestern Bell vice president and general manager, said "The company has made every effort to minimize costs and keep rates as low as possible, but the present level of earnings is grossly inadequate in view of our need to obtain from investors the huge sums required to carry out telephone construction that will enable us to provide the kind of telephone service the people of Minnesota have a right to expect."

Allen pointed out that even with the revised prices for telephone service now in effect, the company's earnings are only 2¾ per cent of the $103,000,000 cost of its Minnesota plant. He said, "In 1947 the company spent $17,116,000 in the state on new construction to expand and improve telephone service. In 1948 and each of the next few years, similar expenditures will be required to extend and improve our plant to meet needs for service."

He added, "No business can continue to obtain the funds for such huge capital expenditures in the face of such a poor financial result as is being experienced by the company in Minnesota."

RECOMMEND PAY BOOST FOR THREE GROUPS RAIL MEN

Presidential Board Advises 15½-cent Raise for 150,000 Workers

A presidential emergency board Saturday in Washington recommended a 15½-cent hourly increase for approximately 150,000 railroaders threatening a nationwide strike.

The board recommended the increase for engineers, firemen and switchmen on nearly all of the nation's major railroads.

The board recommended that the increase be retroactive to Nov. 1, 1947.

Although they represent a comparatively minor segment of the total number of rail employes, a strike by the three brotherhoods involved in the current dispute would tie up the country's rail network.

The increase would put the engineers, firemen and switchmen on the same level with all other railroad employes who have accepted a 15½ cent-an-hour increase.

Previously, some informed sources had said that unless the board recommended at least an 18-cent increase and certain other benefits the engineers, firemen and switchmen would begin walking out in 30 days.

The report now will be given to the railroads and the unions They will have 30 days in which to attempt to reach agreement, leaving the unions free to strike after April 26.

The board, headed by William M. Leiserson, made its report to President Truman.

Besides the pay raise, the board recommended some of the 37 proposed changes in working rules take effect. It suggested some should be made effective in part, and that others be withdrawn.

The board refused to recommend extra pay for night shifts or Sunday and holiday work.

State Requests Bids on 1,300 Miles Bituminous Road Repair Projects

The state highway department this week called for contract bids for the application of 2,353,400 gallons of bituminous material to the spring-break-up damaged surfaces on some 1,300 miles of state trunk highways, in eight of the 16 maintenance districts of the Minnesota trunk system. The sealed bids will be opened at the highway department offices in St. Paul at 11 a. m. on April 9.

The work represented is that portion of the state's bituminous surface maintenance operations which will be performed by contract, in addition to the bituminous retreatment to be done this spring with the state's own maintenance crews and equipment.

The eight districts in which this contract work will supplement bituminous applications by state forces cover generally the southern half of Minnesota, including the Twin Cities districts, and District 4 which includes the Brainerd-Mille Lacs region extending northward to Leech Lake.

ANNOUNCE PLAN TO CURB BAD CHECKS

Strangers Asked to Put Thumbprints on Checks

Robert E. Pye, secretary of the Minnesota Bankers Association, today announced a "Thumb Print" plan to stop fraudulent check writing.

Under this plan, any stranger who wishes to cash a check must place his right thumb print on the back of the check besides his signature.

According to Elmer O. Stovern, superintendent of the state bureau of criminal apprehension, fraudulent check writing is increasing daily in Minnesota and throughout the country, and every indication is that as unemployment increases, check forgery and other similar means of defrauding the public will be practiced on an enormous scale.

To eliminate this problem, Mr. Pye conferring with Mr. Stovern, worked out this simple solution.

By merely placing a thumb print over signatures and figures on wills, money orders and other legal instruments, this plan can be extended to give added protection.

While this plan is extremely simple, defrauding the public through forgery of checks and other instruments can be eliminated from Minnesota if the merchants and bankers will give it their complete co-operation.

Should a person pass a worthless check bearing his fingerprint, it would be a relatively simple matter for law-enforcement agencies to run him down, thus effecting a saving of both time and money or the people of Minnesota.

Introduced Nickel Coins

Belgium introduced coins of a nickel-copper alloy in 1860. Switzerland issued pure nickel coins in 1881, and in subsequent years one country after another followed suit. In 1939, over one hundred governments had coinage containing nickel.

MORAL: IT MAY PAY TO CLEAN YOUR CAR

St. Paul.—The return of $2 after three years of separation is interesting enough in principle to make up for lack of earned interest. After riding in the car of a friend in the spring of 1945, Morton D. Spencer missed a highly prized purse he had acquired while in military service abroad, which contained $2 in cash and valuable papers. Recently his friend thoroughly cleaned up the car—and returned Mr. Spencer's purse from under the seat.

CHRISTMAS SEAL FUNDS USED WELL, REPORT REVEALS

Minnesota Residents Benefited by Campaign to Halt Tuberculosis

Expressing appreciation to the 10,000 volunteer workers and the thousands of contributors to the 1947 Christmas Seal fund, the Minnesota Public Health association this week announced that the money raised is "hard at work" financing the fight against tuberculosis even though complete figures on returns are not yet available.

Most counties have sent in their reports, according to Dr. E. A. Meyerding, executive secretary of the state organization, and it is estimated that receipts will be between five and ten percent above those of the previous year. He explained that each county retains 55 percent of its receipts to carry on its own local TB control program.

The secretary outlined several projects now underway in Minnesota counties.

Seven counties—Lincoln, Dakota, Steele, Martin, Beltrami, Le Sueur and Cottonwood—have announced plans for tuberculin testing surveys in the schools during April or early May. School testing surveys are now being completed in four other counties — Chippewa, Lac Qui Parle, Renville and Yellow Medicine. The tuberculin, or Mantoux, test reveals whether a person has TB germs in his body, it is explained. Positive reactors are x-rayed to determine if the disease is present.

Another case-finding program, mass chest x-raying, is being carried on in Stearns and Olmstead counties. X-ray surveys are conducted by the state health department, but Christmas Seal funds pay the major share of local costs and help finance follow-up work. During 1948 x-ray units are "booked" for visits to Winona, Dodge, Nicollet, Sibley, Marshall, Beltrami, and Mahnomen counties. A number of communities in other counties may also be reached.

University of Minnesota plant pathologists advise always treating seed grain to improve germination and vigor.

Birth of Dallas

Dallas, Tex., had its birth in 1841 when John Neely Bryan, a Tennessean and an Indian trader, built a shelter of cedar boughs on the banks of Trinity river. Thirty years later, Dallas was still a village of some thousand people. John Bryan named the city Dallas, after a friend of his.

Wallace Speaks for Peace

TEXT OF BROADCAST BY HENRY A. WALLACE, MARCH 18, 1948

"Tonight I Plead the Case for Universal Peace."

Yesterday we heard a call for universal training.

Tonight I plead the case for universal peace.

The grave issues of peace and war were thrown into sharp focus on St. Patrick's Day. Those issues will not be settled by name-calling.

Three years ago Franklin Roosevelt died. And in those thirty-six months the hopes of the people of the world have been undermined by those who talk of war and turn their backs upon the policies for which he worked.

Two years ago Winston Churchill, sponsored by President Truman, laid down the policy which has been followed ever since. One year ago the President announced the Truman Doctrine to contain communism by using American arms to bolster corrupt and reactionary regimes a long way from home.

Yesterday Americans were asked to give their sons to enforce that Doctrine.

Yesterday that Doctrine expanded to a point where it threatens the life of every human being in the world.

Why have we reached this crisis in world affairs?

Is there a single reason why we cannot make peace to end the cold war?

Is there any evidence that Russia has agressive designs against our country or that our national security is threatened from any source?

These are the questions which were left unanswered in the hysteria-breeding speeches of St. Patrick's Day, 1948.

The men who are stirring up hate and fear traffic in a word. That word is "communism." They hope it will provoke a hostile response from great masses of the people. They think that it is capable of blotting out reason.

". . . Ideas Can't Be Licked With Guns."

But you can't fool most of the people any of the time. We know that ideas can't be licked with guns. America's mothers and sons know that millions of soldiers won't cure the social and economic conditions which turn many peoples of the world to Socialist and Communist parties. They rightfully belive that a draft and compulsory military traning are not the way to preserve freedom at home or to guarantee democracy abroad.

Let us answer the questions which others have left unanswered as they cry for militarization of America and the world.

First, why have we reached this crisis in world affairs?

We have reached this state because the men who are running our government fear the power of the common men and women the world over. They have recognized that the world is changing; that the peoples of the world are on the march. They know that the people of France, Italy, Czechoslovakia—yes, and the people of China and Greece, want to try a new approach. They are afraid of this demand for change and they are standing against it. They are using our resources, our science, our productive facilities—and soon they hope to use the bodies of our young men—to stop the demands of the people everywhere.

One year ago I said that President Truman was the greatest salesman Communism ever had. I repeat that charge tonight. He has ignored the deep underlying nature of the people's problems. His approach to fighting ideas is wrong, totally wrong. Ideas are like nails; the harder you hit them on the head, the deeper they go.

Fundamental land reform is long overdue in both China and Italy. The Communists recognize this situation and use it; but they did not create it. Our government is tacking the phrase "Russian aggression" onto movements which are essentially the expression of an inevitable historical trend. I don't want to see billions of American dollars—and what is far more important, millions of American lives wasted because American politicans will not accept these simple facts.

". . . Willful Men With Private Interests Are Dictating Our Foreign Policy."

We have come to this world crisis because willful men with private interests are dictating our foreign policy. Their interest is profits, not people. They seek to protect and extend their foreign investments against the democratic actions of people abroad. They have had the assistance of other men who do not understand the problems of the people—either here at home or overseas.

Some of these men pose as humanitarians as they ask for the militarization of America. They say we must militarize to fight for freedom. But their records do not reveal that they have led fights for a secret ballot in South Carolina, or free elections in the poll tax states, or for an end to the divisive practices of segregation and discrimination.

In accusing another nation of sole responsibility for the undermining of the United Nations, this Administration tries to cover up facts which have brought us shame and cost us friends throughout the world. It was our State Department which killed the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, which circumvented the United Nations to give military aid to Greece and Turkey, which ignored the United Nations Economic Commission in planning what it called European Recovery, and which is ignoring even today the decision of the United Nations on Palestine. We have a heavy share of the responsibility for the weakening of the United Nations. We shall have to assume that responsibility. It is on the record. It can't be wiped out.

If we stand self-righteously—and stubbornly insist that responsibility for the world crisis rests entirely with others, we shall make peace impossible.

It is openly proclaimed in high places that we shall, sooner or later, fight the Russian people; yet no reason for such a war is advanced.

Why should be fight Russia?

Does anyone really believe that we are helping the growth of civil liberties in Russia or Eastern Europe by threatening their governments with our armed power and economic boycotts? Such actions actually curtail civil liberties there and here. We can't extend civil liberties by war and preparations for war.

There are some who want a Holy War for the propaganda of their faith. To them we must say we are against baptism by atomic bombs.

Shall we fight Russia because she offers us competition in the world markets? The Soviet Union is in no position to compete with us for world markets. Quite the contrary. She offers us a great market for our own goods.

Shall we fight Russia because we are competing for the raw materials of the world? We shall dissipate more raw materials in such a war and in preparation for such a war than they are worth to either the United States or Russia. There is no competition for raw materials which cannot be settled by peaceful means.

Is there a single reason to militarize America —to deprive our young men of freedom, and throw them under the domination of Army and Navy authoritarianism? There is not.

The attempt to make the fight for peace subversive will not succeed. We shall seek as earnestly for the common ground for peace as others seek the reasons for conflict.

●

"The Program to Militarize America . . . Will Impose a Police State."

The program to militarize America, if carried out, will impose a police state. Already men and women are paying a high price to speak forthrightly for peace. Speech is not free when it costs a man his job. Preparations for another world war will undermine American freedom just as surely as if the enemy had conquered us in the war just ended.

If we believe in democracy we have to support the free flows of ideas here at home and everywhere in the world. The ideas of communists and socialists for the solution of basic problems can only be countered with other ideas —positive ideas. They can't be licked with guns or standing armies.

It is shameful when high officials of the United States imply that a free, democratic election in Italy is a threat to freedom. We can't counter the propaganda of others by saying that we only believe in democracy when the election results please us. We can't win friends anywhere in the world by telling needy people that they shall vote as the Administration wants them to vote or they shall be deprived of aid. It is an exhibition of a lack of faith in the democratic process.

It is not our job to attack or defend actions of any other nation as we insist that our American policies conform to American principles. We can't in good conscience point our fingers at others when our own government has perpetuated civil war in Greece and China, forced major parties from the cabinets of France and Italy, armed Latin-American dictators, and violated every fundamental American principle while it has used the words freedom and democracy.

I say that our only national defense lies in a return to a foreign policy which is American in principle and practice.

National defense cannot be founded on arms and weapons of terror.

The production of those weapons is a profitable business. We must take the profits out of defense. The young men who are asked to give up years of their lives make no profits from defense and war, nor should any American.

"Speak up For Peace."

We must take the offensive for peace. As we fight against draft and compulsory military training, we must also fight to eliminate the conditions which make war and defense profitable for private interests. We must bring under control — strict public control — the private foreign investments of the monopolists.

We must demand that our government accept its share of the responsibility for the world crisis. We must demand firm allegiance to the United Nations. The price of self-righteousness is war and depression.

Speak up now. Speak up for peace. Pay the price for forthright expression. Don't let the war-makers intimidate you into silence. Be heard—be heard now—for the voice of peace-loving, freedom-loving people is our only national defense.

Let us remember that military might has never imposed a good idea nor sustained a bad one. Recall with me the words of the prophet Isaiah:

> "Woe to those who trust in chariots,
> Because they are many
> And in horsemen, because they are mighty."

Northwestern Bell telephone construction in Minnesota breaks all records

1946—$10,926,000

At the end of war, telephone facilities were greatly overloaded—more than 25,000 requests for telephones were on the waiting list. Equipment manufacturers faced a mountain of orders. Output had to be allocated. But every piece of equipment we could obtain was rushed into service—nearly $11,000,000 worth. And 64,792 people needing telephones got them.

1947—$17,116,000

1947 brought no let up in service demands. Waiting lists grew at the top almost as fast as we could chop away at the bottom. As rapidly as switchboards, dial equipment, cable could be manufactured and installed, these new facilities were put to work. By the end of the year, this high speed program had required expenditures of $17,116,000.

1948—$21,000,000

1948 telephone construction will be even greater than last year. New buildings are being constructed, others enlarged. Day by day the volume and pace of installation work is being stepped up. With the rate of equipment manufacture at an all-time high, expansion and improvement projects to be carried out this year will cost $21,000,000.

This three-year, $49,000,000 construction program is more than two and one-half times as large as for any similar period in our history. And if we are to meet all telephone needs with a steadily improving service, the next three years will require an even greater expenditure for new construction.

What is the source of money for such huge capital expenditures? It cannot and should not come from the price charged for telephone service. These millions of dollars must be secured from investors willing to put their savings into the telephone business. That is why fair and reasonable telephone earnings are so all-important in the successful carrying out of this big job.

I want peace. I believe that UMT and conscription lead to war, NOT peace. I believe that the people of Italy, China or Indonesia have a right to vote as they please without threats of war from Truman and his Wall Street clique. I believe the UN should be strengthened not weakened. I believe the road to peace lies in supporting Henry A. Wallace.

Spring Yard Rules

The State highway department is not the only one giving orders for traffic. While the grass is soft bicycles must not be ridden on the lawn. Some boys have been riding around town at noon. If any pupil brings his lunch he must stay on the school ground at noon. If he wants to ride around he should ride home for lunch. The teachers are not responsible if pupils disobey these rules and are hurt on the highway. Last week five boys rode down the highway halting traffic of trucks.

It will not be long until the baseball, volley ball and soccer courts are in action. The jumping standards and pit will be repaired.

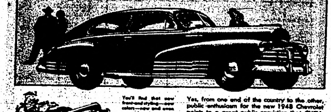
CHEVROLET and ONLY Chevrolet IS FIRST!"



You'll get much better performance with economy from Chevrolet's world's champion Valve-in-Head engine. It has the finest record of dependability of any automotive power plant. And Valve-in-Head engines are exclusive to Chevrolet and more expensive automobiles.

You'll find that new front-end styling—new colors—new and even more luxurious interiors add still further to the Big-Car beauty of Chevrolet's Bodies by Fisher. They're the world's finest bodies, found only on Chevrolet and higher-priced cars.

Yes, from one end of the country to the other, public enthusiasm for the new 1948 Chevrolet points to a great public conviction that CHEVROLET AND ONLY CHEVROLET IS FIRST in all-round value as in popularity. More people drive Chevrolets, according to official nationwide registrations and more people want Chevrolets, according to seven independent nationwide surveys than any other make of car. Your own judgment will tell you that this is because Chevrolet gives more value . . . because it alone offers BIG-CAR QUALITY AT LOWEST COST!

CHEVROLET

You and your family will have Big-Car safety, too, for Chevrolet brings you the three-fold protection of Fisher Unisteel body-construction, the Knee-Action Ride, and Positive-Action Hydraulic Brakes—another combination of features found only in Chevrolet and more costly cars.

As you know, public demand for new 1948 Chevrolets is at the highest level in all Chevrolet history. For that reason, we urge you to keep your present car in good running condition, pending delivery of your new Chevrolet. Come in, get skilled, dependable service, now and at regular intervals.

MEDICAL SERVICE PREPAYMENT PLAN TO START IN STATE

Will Be Inaugurated at Meeting at University in Minneapolis Apr. 13

Dr. Paul R. Hawley, former chief medical director of the Veteran's Administration who just has accepted a position as chief executive officer of the national Blue Cross and Blue Shield commissions, will be guest of honor during the two-day official inauguration of the Minnesota doctor's new medical prepayment plan on April 12 and 13, it was announced today by Dr. O. I. Sohlberg, president of Minnesota Medical Service, Inc., known as the Blue Shield Plan.

Dr. Hawley will participate in a round of meetings marking the official inauguration of the Minnesota Blue Shield Plan in this state and will be the guest of honor and main speaker at a dinner April 13 in Coffman Memorial Union at the University of Minnesota. His address, "An American Health Plan Based Upon the American Principle of Free Choice," will be broadcast directly from the Union over station WTCN.

The Blue Shield dinner will climax inaugural activities in observance of the new medical plan. Among those invited to attend are all physicians in the state, leading state government and civic officials, heads of statewide public health, hospital, nursing, education and religious organizations, key persons representing business, industry, labor, press, radio, Blue Cross and other civic and community leaders in Minnesota.

According to Dr. Sohlberg, the official inauguration of the Minnesota Blue Shield medical plan "marks a noteworthy step taken by the medical profession, both in Minnesota and in the nation, and demonstrates the medical profession's willingness to solve the problem of making medical care available to more people."

ARMY TECHNICAL SCHOOLS OPEN TO H. S. GRADUATES

Local Army Recruiting Sergeant Reports on Training Opportunity

With the nation's colleges and universities still overcrowded, high school graduates now have an opportunity to continue their education in some of the best technical schools in the world run by the U. S. Army, M/Sgt. F. R. Skinner local recruiting Sergeant said today.

Under a new pre-selected school plan, qualified young men with high school diplomas can pick their own fields of specialization before enlisting and then be assured of assignment to schools teaching their preferred occupations following completion of basic training.

Some 60 fields are open to graduates who can meet the high enlistment standards Sgt. Skinner explained. Among them are: radar, meteorology, photography, electricity, drafting, cryptography, engineering, refrigeration, water supply, power generation, automotive mechanics and armorers.

The plan is available to high school graduates between the ages of 17 and 34, who enlist for three, four or five years. For further information contact M/Sgt. Skinner at the local recruiting office in the auditorium in Thief River Falls.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Senator Joseph H. Ball

As this is written, the soft coal strike is ending its third week and the Administration has not yet asked the Federal court for an injunction to stop it under the provisions of Title II of the Taft-Hartley Act. The meat packing strike has lasted nearly three weeks, likewise with no decisive move yet by the Administration.

The delay in utilizing the procedures of the Taft-Hartley Act is inexcusable in these two industry-wide strikes, both of which are bound to have serious repercussions on all the people and on our economy. Steel mills already are shutting down for lack of coal and more will do so the next week. With steel already in short supply, that will really hurt.

Effects of the meat packing strike has been to hold animals, particularly hogs, on the farm after they have reached prime marketing condition. Result is they eat up scarce and expensive feed and they get overweight, which means a lower price for the farmer.

Title II of the Taft-Hartley Act is very clear. It provides that whenever the President finds an industry-wide strike is threatened or occurring which endangers the national health or safety, he shall first appoint a fact finding board to report the facts of the dispute and positions of the two parties. If its report does not settle the dispute, the next step is an injunction stopping the strike for eighty days during which there is to be further fact-finding mediation and finally a secret vote of all employees on the best offer of their employers, in efforts to settle the dispute. The intent of the law, to have the fact-finding report made and the injunction issued before work stops, is clear both in its language of the Act and in the reports. It is always easier to settle a dispute before a strike than afterward. The coal strike was a quickie which perhaps could not have been anticipated, but that is not true of the meat packing strike, and in any event, the delays in action on both are inexcusable.

The meat packing strike began March 10, the fact-finding board was appointed the same day, but although its hearings were completed a week ago, it is not due to report until April 8. In the coal dispute, the strike began March 15, the fact-finding board was not appointed until March 24, but it did move promptly and made its report on March 31, after which the White House sat on it. All the delay accomplished was to give John L. Lewis a chance to indulge his psychopathic craving for amateur histrionics and thumbing his nose at the Government and people of the United States.

Already demands for stronger laws dealing with this problem of industry-wide bargaining and strikes are heard in Congress, and they will grow in volume. Basically, there are two approaches when economic power becomes so concentrated that labor relations disputes can shut down entire vital industries. One is the approach used in dealing with inherent monopolies like public utilities, namely, strict regulation, perhaps seizure, probably compulsory arbitration.

The other, and traditional American approach, is to break up the concentrations of power by an approach similar to the Serman anti-trust act. In other words, to make industry-wide agreements and strikes or lockouts subject to the anti-trust laws. The House version of the Taft-Hartley Act adopted that approach. Senator Byrd and I offered amendments along that line in the Senate, but they lost by one vote and the provisions were eliminated in conference.

Now it appears likely that some such approach will be revived in the 1949 session as a result of the Administration's bungling in its handling of the much milder provisions in the present law.

You are cordially invited to hear: "Which is the True Church"? By F. B. Larsen, Sunday, April 11th, 2:30 p. m. at Lucky Hall, 201½ N. LaBree Ave. Followed by a Watchtower Study, "Why the Holy Scriptures Teach No Trinity."

Hard of Hearing Now Can Hear With Ease!

To those whose hearing is defective, at long last comes a truly comfortable hearing instrument, almost invisible and weighing only a few ounces. This new invention amazes those who thought they would never hear well again.

Thrilling, clear, sound, without static or other annoying noises, is brought back to the hard of hearing by this wonderful new development. Regardless of their age, most persons with a hearing loss can be greatly helped by this new kind of hearing aid.

If you are tired of straining to hear and would like help, the manufacturers of this surprising device, The Microtone Company, 908 Marquette Ave., Dept. S, Minneapolis, Minn., will gladly send you all the facts on better hearing.

There's absolutely no cost or obligation for this information. Write for free details today.

NEWFOLDEN

The 12½ miles of road from 32 west to the Strandquist road is all in very bad shape and it was hoped that the entire length would be rebuilt this summer, but it seems that the seven miles east of town will be allowed this season. Our county board is also putting pressure on the State to have the road west of town rebuilt, and it is hoped that next year the entire 12½ miles will be completed and we will at last have good roads into town.

Newfolden Raises $130.50 in Red Cross Drive

In the Red Cross drive completed last week by Mrs. Louis Farstad, local chairman of the drive, the village of Newfolden raised a fund of $130.50, exceeding the quota set by several dollars. Mrs. Farstad and her workers, Orin Green, Arloine Anderson, Patsy Dyrud and Edith Lindquist wish to thank the citizens of our village for their generosity and their courtesy.

PERENNIAL QUEST FOR OLDEST, YOUNGEST

Has Regal, a village in Kandiyohi county, the youngest mayor in Minnesota, or even in the United States? Wilfred Schulte, buttermaker at the Farmers Cooperative Creamery and mayor of Regal, is 27 years old. Has Kilkenny, in LeSueur county, the oldest apiarist in Minnesota, or in the nation? Robert Pittman, at 88, has been buzzing about his bees, and vice versa, 54 years, since 1894 when he took up honey production as a hobby. Mr. Pittman's annual honey crop from 32 bee colonies now ranges between a low of about 3,000 to a high of about 7,000 pounds.

Have Fewer Phones
The percentage of Kentucky farmers having telephones is decreasing, according to the agricultural experiment station at Lexington. The last farm census found that only one farmer in five had a telephone. This is in sharp contrast with the trends of other modern improvements. Nearly a third of Kentucky farmers have electricity, two-thirds have radios, more than 60 per cent live on all-weather roads and nearly half of them own an automobile or a truck.

Mass Ice Cubes
Mass production of ice cubes by a new method which dispenses them in varying amounts can be had with an invention patented by a Pittsburgh man. A column of ice is frozen in a tube, and when desired, the ice column moves upward as a cutter slices off cubes into a dispenser. The machine can be set for any predetermined number of cubes each time it is in operation.

Spools First Used
Silk thread was first placed on spools in 1849 by Gen. Merritt Hemingway in his factory at Watertown, Conn. Before that time silk was sold in skeins.

Conservation of Vision Week Observed Apr. 4-10

Cooperating with the conservation of vision group in focusing state-wide attention on the necessity for improving eye health and preventing eye accidents will be the Minnesota State Department of Education, the Minnesota Safety Council and the Minnesota State Department of Health.

Railroad Business
Today there are more than 400,000 miles of railway track in the United States over which move some 45,000 locomotives. To operate and maintain U. S. railroads requires nearly a million and a half people, making it one of the greatest industries. During World War II, with less equipment and fewer employees than in World War I, railroads handled 98 per cent more traffic.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Playmates

The visitor settled down on the couch and pulled little Bobby on to her lap.

"Ruth and Johnny will take Bobby outside to play with them while we have a good chat," the hostess said. Ruth and Johnny were all eager anticipation. They liked nothing more than playing with other children, and a new child promised to be still more fun.

"Bobby would rather stay here on my lap," the visitor replied. "He's my boy."

Ruth and Johnny stared. They could not believe what they had heard. A mother who did not want her little boy to go out and play. Bobby, for his part stared wistfully at the other children.

A child whose parents show a great deal of affection for him, is very lucky, but they should let him play with children, too.

There is an equality in play groups composed solely of children which makes a great deal of give and take possible. This give and take is hardly possible when a child plays with his parents, who are the acknowledged disciplinarians and hold a tremendous power over the child. In a child's group this is not the case give and take is possible. This give and take is extremely valuable for the stimulation of the child's social development.

While playing with other children the child learns to get along with his equals; he learns control of his behavior so that he becomes efficient socially. Above all, he learns his own position in society.

Many adults are extremely ill at ease because they did not have social practice while young. The greatest part of any person's life is spent with people his own age, so you as a parent do your child a great service by encouraging him to get out into social groups of his age mates.

AERIAL HUNT FOR NEW DEPOSITS OF IRON OPENS MAY 1

Survey Sponsored by U. S. and Minnesota Geological Surveys

The most extensive "treasure hunt" in Minnesota's history, the aerial search for new iron formations which may lie beneath the glacial drift in the northern part of the state, will be resumed May 1, according to Dr. G. M. Schwartz, director of the Minnesota Geological survey at the University of Minnesota.

Started last spring as a joint project of the United States Geological survey and the Minnesota survey, the search with an airborne magnetometer covered some 15,000 square miles in 16 northern counties during two months of flying. Headquarters for the 1947 survey flights was Bemidji. This year the U.S.G.S plane will be based at Hibbing, Dr. Schwartz reported.

Plans for this year's work, according to the University geologist, call for a survey of approximately 10,000 square miles in seven counties: Aitkin, Kanabec, Mille Lacs, Itasca, St. Louis, Koochiching and Pine. Only small portions of the last two counties are included. Under the terms of the agreement between the state and federal surveys, the plane and survey crew will be available for May only, so the area covered will depend upon flying weather conditions during the month.

Results of the 1947 search are expected to be published sometime next September, Dr. Schwartz stated. The results will be released simultaneously by the state and federal surveys. Counties included in whole or in part in the 1947 work are: Polk, Red Lake, Mahnomen, Becker, Ottertail, Grant, Douglas, Todd, Wadena, Hubbard, Clearwater, Morrison, Crow Wing, Beltrami, Cass and Itasca. Results of this year's survey probably won't be available until sometime in 1949.

Darrell Heads Highway Traffic Safety Division

Appointment of James E. P. Darrel, assistant traffic engineer of the state highway department since 1941, as traffic engineer succeeding the late W. F. Rosenwald as head of the department's traffic and safety division, was announced today by M. J. Hoffman, commissioner of highways.

Darrel, who will supervise traffic engineering, highway safety promotion, accident reports and drivers license functions of the state highway department, is a veteran of both world wars, and saw overseas service in both.

Darrell started highway and traffic work as a rodman and instrumentman during summer vacations, first with surveying crews in Redwood and Rice counties and then, in 1921, with the newly established state highway department. He had two years as instrumentman and assistant engineer with the Northern States Power Company before joining the plans division of the state highway department in 1925.

Teachers College at Moorhead Admitted to North Central Assn.

Moorhead state teachers college has been accepted as a member of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, according to an announcement from Dr. O. W. Snarr, president of the college.

The action admitting MSTC was taken at the annual meeting of the North Central Association, held in Chicago last week.

Membership in the association assures that transfer of credits of any MSTC students will be accepted without question. Graduates will also be qualified to teach in high schools belonging to the group.

WHY BLAME THE SPARROW?

Red Wing.—A newspaper report of a costly farm fire said that "a sparrow carrying a lighted cigarette butt was blamed." Insurance and safety-minded folk may ask who dropped a lighted cigarette near a barn that contained four calves, 50 chickens, six tons of grain feed, ten tons of hay, a milking machine, and a power plant—all of which, except the rescued calves, went up in flame and smoke.

$174,000 Raised to Date by Easter Seals in State

The 1948 Easter Seal sale to raise funds for the physically handicapped ended officially on Easter Sunday with incomplete returns of $174,002 reported from individual county committees throughout the state.

Individual county returns will be announced next week. A. H. Beecher, Minneapolis, president of Minnesota Society for Crippled Children and Adults, sponsor of the drive, predicted returns will continue coming in for several weeks.

More than 800,000 Minnesota residents received this year's direct mail appeal for contributions.

COUNCIL OK'S MANY PERMITS FOR BUILDINGS

Numerous Delegations Present Requests at Session Tuesday Night

Approval of building permits calling for estimated expenditures totaling $118,000, including two structures in the downtown area, featured the regular April session of the city council Tuesday evening. A number of delegations also were present to submit requests of various kinds.

Largest project covered by the permits is a new store building to be erected by C. B. Bjorkman at an estimated cost of $40,000 on the site of the former H. B. Newell drug store on LaBree av. The structure will be 25 by 140 feet in dimensions, of solid brick construction with a full basement.

Another permit covered the construction by the local American Legion post of a basement to be used for clubroom purposes on the lots just north of the public library. The building will be 50 by 130 feet in dimensions, and it is planned to finish the first floor later on when a tenant is secured.

Permits to erect residences at costs ranging from $3,500 to $12,000 were issued to Andrew Norby (four), M. O. Haughom, Severt Hanson, Leslie Kulseth, Ernest O. Lium and Carl M. Strand. A permit also was granted Stanley Ranum to remodel the second floor of the Dr. M. C. Starekow home on Crocker av. N.

The application of Andrew Norby for a special permit to move a dwelling to a site on Kinney av. S. was held up, this location being platted as in the industrial zone. A hearing was set for Friday evening, April 30, as required under the zoning ordinance.

A delegation from the merchants committee of the Civic and Commerce association was present and asked the council to consider the possibility of making a reduction in the rate for commercial electric lighting, which they stated, has not been revised since 1939. Spokesmen said that for larger consumers local rates compared unfavor-

STASSEN SCORES IN NEBRASKA VOTE

Runs Well Ahead of Other Republican Candidates

A tide of Nebraska Republican votes carried Harold E. Stassen Wednesday into the field of top-notch contenders for the GOP presidential nomination.

His smashing victory in Tuesday's presidential primary delivered to the former Minnesota governor 13 of the state's 15 votes on the first nominating ballot at Philadelphia.

In a sweep that promised him a final margin of more than 15,000 over Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Stassen climbed to the top of the popularity standings in Nebraska.

Stassen collected about 43 per cent of a GOP ballot total expected to top 200,000 when all the state's precincts are counted.

Dewey, apparently in line for support of one convention delegate, got 34 per cent. Senator Robert A. Taft was a bad third runner with 10 per cent.

The count, with only 47 of the state's 2,024 precincts missing, was:

Stassen 78,610; Dewey 62,444; Senator Robert A. Taft 20,680; Senator Arthur Vandenberg 8,863; Gen. Douglas MacArthur 6,679; Gov. Earl Warren of California 1,772; House Speaker Joseph Martin 886.

A[illegible]ents are now being co[illegible] for the orthopedic clin[illegible] held Saturday, April 17, [illegible]n. to 2 p. m. at Lincoln [illegible]chool in Thief River Fall[illegible]ing to Miss Empie Hill, field nurse for the crippled children services. Miss Hill has been in the area working with the clinic chairman, public health nurses and county welfare workers in preparation for the clinic.

Reporting that a large attendance is expected, Miss Hill said the clinic in Thief River Falls will serve children from Pennington, Marshall, Red Lake, Roseau and Kittson counties. It is open to boys and girls under 21 who have or may be developing crippling disabilities.

Children who have been notified by the Gillette Hospital for crippled children or the crippled children services to report for the clinic are urged to attend. The field nurse said that except for a few who have received special notices, patients who have kept their appointments at Gillette, University and Shriners hospitals should not report at the Thief River Falls clinic.

Services offered will include examinations by orthopedic surgeons, recommendations for hospitalization for those who need it, and instructions for any necessary home care.

Mrs. J. Arthur Johnson heads the local committee assisting with the clinic, which is sponsored locally by the Womans club. Mrs. Millard Peterson is co-chairman. Public health nurses of the three counties are taking an active part in the arrangements.

LOCAL BANKS PUT NEW CHECK PLAN IN EFFECT TODAY

Adopt State Plan to Ask Strangers to Put Thumbprints on Checks

John Carlander, president of the Minnesota Bankers Association, urged today that all banks and merchants co-operate with the association's thumb print endorsement plan to eliminate check forgeries in Minnesota:

"We already have received a large number of injuiries from merchants and bankers alike who are highly in favor of adopting the plan," Mr. Carlander said.

Both E. O. Peterson, president of the Union State bank and George W. Werstlein, cashier of the Northern State bank, said their banks would put the plan into operation immediately and hoped that all merchants would do the same.

Under the plan, any stranger who wishes to cash a check will be asked to put his right thumb print on the back of the check beside his signature.

In stressing the need for such protection, Mr. Carlander pointed out that four recent forgery cases in the state either could have been prevented or the forger could have been apprehended immediately if merchants had requested a thumb print.

Musical Show Was Most Entertaining, Audiences Agree

The musical show, "Anything Goes," presented in the municipal Auditorium last Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, demonstrated to the large audience greeting the performance each evening that the Thief River Falls community possesses its full quota of talent in the field of entertainment.

Presented under the direction of Mrs. E. F. Wright, assisted by Mrs. Rudy Larson, the production brought in gross receipts of nearly $2,000, which, after necessary expenses are paid will leave the substantial balance of about $1,600 to apply on this county's quota of $2,480, for the memorial heart research professorship fund being assembled by the Minnesota department of the American Legion and auxiliary.

Featuring the smooth-running production were the well-drilled and attractively costumed dance groups of young men and women who appeared in a series of effective numbers, together with several talented soloists and small groups.

A special treat Thursday evening was the appearance of the Alexandria barbershop quartet, composed of the four Bundy brothers, who were accorded enthusiastic applause for their mastery of the type of singing that prevailed in the Gay Nineties, as well as for their droll humor.

Also scoring a hit with the audiences was Joanne Gardner of Winnipeg, who demonstrated her mastery of the art of tap dancing, as well as having a most pleasing stage presence.

Enjoyable vocal solos were supplied by Mrs. John Stewart, Walter Ekeren, Mrs. Wayne Levorson, Jean Currie, Dick Biddick and Lois Bendickson. Vocal groups playing a prominent part in the production included the high school boys octet, the Legion auxiliary trio and a local male quartet.

Well received specialty acts were presented by Orvis Olen and Mrs. Pat Ecklund together with a group of bathing beauties; George Rockstad, guitarist, and a Gypsy orchestra; Jim Roche and a trio consisting of Donna Dougherty, Maxine Wente and Mrs. Wayne Johnson, whose performance suggested that of the famed Cherry Sisters; Grace Welin, monologist; and a skilled two-piano offering by Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Harrison.

Miss Velma Meyers presented an attractive appearance when presented as the Queen of Gloravia, together with her ladies-in-waiting. Handsome Bill Taylor set the key for the show in a brief prologue.

The difficult task of providing musical accompaniment for the show was well handled by an orchestra directed by Walter Larson, with Mrs. Larson as pianist accompanist.

Mix oil, lemon juice and seasonings; rub well into meat. Dredge meat with flour and brown slowly in fat. Add the tomatoes. Cover closely and cook in a slow oven for about 4 hours or until meat is fork tender.

Swiss steak is cheaper than some cuts of meat, and the leftovers may be used as the meat from pot roast.

*Cream Swiss Steak.
1½ pounds round or arm steak
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ cup flour
2 tablespoons lard
½ cup sliced onions
½ cup water
½ cup sour cream

Have steak cut 1½ to 2 inches thick. Season with salt and pepper and pound flour well into steak. Brown steak on both sides, in lard or drippings. Add remaining ingredients. Cover closely and simmer for about 2 hours, or until tender.

Rice-Beef Balls.
1½ pounds ground beef
½ cup uncooked rice
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 can tomato soup
½ can water
2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper

Mix meat, rice and seasonings. Shape into small balls and drop them into tomato soup to which the water, onion and green pepper have been added. Cook very slowly for 40 minutes. Serve with tomato sauce poured over them.

A few slivers of leftover meat are easily used in an attractive salad served in shells to make a substantial luncheon dish. Add eggs, cottage cheese and vegetables if you are somewhat shy of meat itself.

Here are two real economy dishes which you'll like for the cooler weather:

Breaded Oxtails.
(Serves 4)
2 oxtails
2 sprigs parsley, chopped
2 sprigs thyme
1 bay leaf
Salt and pepper
Dash of cayenne
1 egg, beaten
1 cup sifted dry bread crumbs

Wash oxtails and cut into 4-inch lengths. Cover with boiling water. Add parsley, thyme, bay leaves, salt, pepper and cayenne. Simmer tails until tender, about 2 to 3 hours. Let cool in stock. Drain meat, dip in egg and roll in crumbs. Fry in deep, hot fat (370 degrees) until brown.

Ham-Sweet Potato Puffs.
(Serves 5)
1 cup ground, cooked ham
2 cups mashed sweet potatoes
2 eggs, beaten
⅓ cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt

Combine ham, sweet potatoes and egg. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Add to ham mixture. Drop by spoonfuls onto a hot greased griddle. Brown on each side.

One or more of the following may be added for variety if you want to tease the palate: Sliced radishes, chopped green pepper, diced cucumbers, cut celery, sliced stuffed olives, tomato sections, sliced pickle, sieved hard-cooked eggs, rolled anchovies, minced onion rings, garlic salt, celery salt, celery seed, or a light sprinkle of thyme, curry powder or chili powder.

Here are some tempting variations for a cole slaw type of salad:

Plain Cole Slaw: 4 cups finely shredded cabbage, 1 tablespoon celery seed, 1 cup cooked salad dressing. Optional additions: 1 tablespoon either dill seed or caraway seed or mustard seed.

Carrot Slaw: 2 cups grated or shaved carrots, 2 cups cabbage, 1 teaspoon minced onion, 1 cup boiled salad dressing.

Slaw Deluxe: 3 cups shredded cabbage, 1 cup diced banana, ½ cup chopped peanuts, 2 tablespoons catsup and 1 cup boiled salad dressing.

Pineapple Slaw: 2 cups shredded cabbage, 1 cup cut, drained pineapple, ¼ cup boiled salad dressing, 1 tablespoon celery seed and dash of paprika.

Fire Insurance Prompted By Disastrous 1666 Blaze

In 1666 a tiny wooden house in London burned to the ground and set off the whole city of tinder box houses. With two-thirds of the city in ruins, Nicholas Barbon conceived the idea of an insurance company to protect against loss from fire.

The insurance companies proved a good idea with a mixed blessing. People paid money to an insurance company for fire protection and so-called "fire brigades" were chosen to protect the insured buildings.

As fire insurance became more popular, the number of fire insurance companies increased but each company protected only the buildings it insured. If the brigade, according to Franklin institute, reached the burning house only to find that it was not insured by their company, they often stood back and watched the house burn while awaiting the arrival of the proper brigade. It was not until 1825, when the London brigades began to unite, that the city became adequately protected.

In 1696 the first legislative effort at fire protection for Philadelphia was made. Each householder was required to keep a bucket and a swab 12 to 14 feet long.

Crossing between intersections pedestrians in this country in 1947 killed 3,300 and injured 51,000. Don't jaywalk!

New Hay Fever Drugs Rated by Physicians

Three new drugs available for relief of the thousands of victims of hay fever and other allergic conditions have been tested and compared by three Northwestern university doctors who reported their findings to Illinois State Medical society.

They emphasized that the three drugs—benadryl, pyribenzamine and neoantergan—are not the same and that their values differ against various symptoms and that their benefit is only temporary. They do not cure the allergy, but merely relieve the symptoms.

Of these three drugs, pyribenzamine most consistently improved the symptoms of seasonal hay fever. It produced symptomatic benefit in 210 of 254 patients. Benadryl helped 52 per cent, while neoantergan relieved 65 per cent. Hives and atopic dermatitis were relieved in 80 per cent of cases treated with pyribenzamine and benadryl. Sniffles were improved in 83 of 130 patients by pyribenzamine.

All of these drugs gave poor results in asthma. Both the incidence and degree of relief were small. The three new drugs are known as antihistaminic drugs. Since 1910 medical science has believed that a substance called histamine is principally responsible for allergies.

Locate Home of Tomato

Middle and South America have been identified as the original home of the tomato by B. Y. Morrison in "New Crops for the New World." Tracing the origin of the tomato has been difficult. Throughout the years seeds and uneaten portions have been scattered casually over large areas of the hemisphere as the fruit was eaten out of hand. Now, however, crop experts have located the home of the tomato in the Mexican meseta and the coastal and higher Andean areas of South America. Centuries before the white man dared to eat the "love apple" which he believed to be poisonous, the Mayas were cultivating and enjoying the tomato. The tomato is only one crop which has migrated from Latin to North America and other parts of the globe. The rich variable soils of these Caribbean nations have made Middle America a world cradle of popular crops.

She later lived at Highlanding and Goodridge, coming to this city in 1944, where she has resided since.

Quality Frozen Figs

Figs are high in calories; are excellent sources of sugar, iron and calcium; and have long been recommended for their laxative properties. They are relatively low in acids and astringency, and the flavor is mild and delicate. For those who like the fresh fig flavor, they are one of the choice frozen fruits. Frozen figs and rich cream are a delicacy. It has been found by University of Georgia that figs which have begun to shrivel withstand freezing better and have firmer texture when defrosted than figs which were plump and in succulent stage of maturity when processed.

COUNCIL APPROVES BUILDING PERMITS AT SESSION TUESDAY

ably with those of the Ottertail Power company and Northern States Power company.

Calling attention to the dust nuisance in the downtown district, the delegation also asked if it would not be possible to flush the streets more frequently now that the city has acquired a new flusher. The council promised to give both requests careful consideration.

Karl Gerstner told the council that the Junior Chamber of Commerce had entered into a contract for an elaborate fireworks display in this city July 4 in connection with the Jaycee Sports Carnival, and asked the council to underwrite the $1,000 cost of the project. Speaking as a member of the board of the Civic and Commerce association, Henry K. Arneson stated that projects already undertaken by that group would not permit it to share in the cost of the fireworks. The matter was referred to the council finance committee for study.

A large delegation was present from the south end of the east side to complain of floodwater conditions in the Markley av. S. area, pointing out that the situation is worse this year than in the past. City Engineer Douglas Stewart stated that an expensive engineering project would be necessary to relieve the situation.

On its low bid of $1,644.80, the Greenberg Sheet Metal Works of Grand Forks was awarded the contract to repair the leaky front and rear portion of the Auditorium roof.

The council accepted the offer of the American-LaFrance Foamite Co. to install on an experimental basis a new electric fire siren to replace the present air siren which Fire Chief Roy Langevin said is 41 years old. If it proves satisfactory, the council will call for bids on the equipment, which will cost approximately $575.

City Engineer Stewart submitted general plans for improving eight acres of the undeveloped 40-acre addition to Greenwood cemetery at an estimated initial cost of about $4,000. The council voted to approve the recommendations.

The council confirmed the appointment by the fire department of Ole Ness as first assistant chief, succeeding the late Harry Roberts.

Also approved were recommendations of the Carnegie library board that the library staff be given the same $15-a-month cost-of-living salary increase recently given other city employes.

Benefits of Grass Silage

Grass silage reduces the weather hazards in preserving roughage of highest feeding and nutritive quality. In most cases a cheaper feed is secured from grass silage than corn silage—reducing the cost of milk production. Legume silage also reduces the necessity of feeding high protein concentrates. Another advantage of silage is the reduction of fire hazards. A complete grassland system, coupled with a sound fertilization program, uses labor to better advantage, maintains and improves soil fertility, prevents erosion and produces milk of highest quality and sales appeal, measured in terms of color and desirable flavor.

Star Spangled Banner

The original title of the Star Spangled Banner was "The Defense of Fort McHenry." It was written in 1814 by Francis Scott Key, a lawyer of Frederick, Md., who as a visitor on board a British vessel in Baltimore had witnessed the British bombardment of Fort McHenry. The words, sung to the air of "Anacreon in Heaven," at once gained popularity as a national lyric. It was not officially made the national anthem until more than 100 years after it was written. On March 3, 1931, approval was given an act designated "the composition consisting of the words and music known as 'The Star Spangled Banner' as the national anthem of the United States of America." When the national anthem is played, all those present should stand and face toward the music; civilian men should stand at attention, removing their hats. Men in uniform should salute at the first note of the anthem, retaining this position until the last note is sounded.

'Limbless' Vet Is Good Farmer

Loss of Arms and Legs No Deterrent to This Ex-Soldier.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA. — World War II's only "basket case" started out a year ago to prove to himself that arms and legs are not essential to a farmer.

Fred Hensel, whose arms and legs were blown off by the Japs on Okinawa, admits that the battle on his farm at nearby Mt. Pinson is not won. But his neighbors won't.

Neighbors Acclaim.

"I wouldn't have believed anyone, especially anyone with no farming experience, could do what he has," said his nearest neighbor. "He's got us coming to him for advice now. That boy goes ahead and does the things we only talk about doing."

What worries Fred is not the problem of tilling his soil with artificial legs and hooks for hands and arms. It is how to get his farm operating in the black.

Jefferson county farm agent points to Hensel's rich field of alfalfa as probably the best in the county. Fred cultivated this himself with a tractor specially equipped to be handled with hooks instead of hands. He also plans to harvest the hay soon with new machinery recently purchased, which is mainly the reason his farm is still in the red.

Friends Help Out.

Hensel and his pretty wife, Jewell, came south last year looking for a dream farm while he was still a patient at an army hospital at Battle Creek, Mich.

With the donations from thousands of his friends, his pension check and his own savings, he bought the 143-acre chicken farm. They rebuilt the house into a model home.

Alfalfa is just part of his crop that he works with the help of his wife's brother, Glenn Carty. He also has corn, oats, lespedeza, vegetables, 40 head of cattle and 1,600 chickens. He plans to concentrate more on chickens when "the market gets right."

Bronzed and 30 pounds heavier, Hensel says he thrives on a full day's work, from sunup to sunset. And he says he has no intention of giving up his favorite sports, hunting and fishing.

Right now he is spending his spare time equipping a new shotgun to fit his armless body for the fall squirrel and quail seasons.

Facts About Brass

Torrington, Conn., is the home of many firsts in the brass industry. The first brass kettles were made by Israel Coe there in 1834. Brass rods were first drawn in 1873 by Coe at Torrington. Hiram W. Hayden invented and patented a process of brass spinning in 1851. The process was tried at Torrington.

How the Zulus Work

Men of the Zulu tribes cut and set the poles for their houses while the women weave the mat coverings. The men carve the wood utensils but the women make clay pots.

Made Artistic Tiles

For hundreds of years the manufacturing of ceramic tile was a great art in Persia, and when the Arabs conquered that country in the seventh century one of the things which impressed them most was the tile ornamentation of its temples. The Arabs soon made tiles almost the symbol of their civilization. It is believed that they used Persian workmen to manufacture the tiles for the tomb and mosque of Mohammed at Medina. When they conquered Asia Minor, they sent again to Persia and brought its finest artists in tile to decorate the mosques of the new domain. They also introduced the art of fine tile making to Tunisia, Algeria, Morocco and finally Spain.

Keeping Out Heat

Lowering shades will help keep a room cool. White shades will reduce heat and dark ones increase it, since dark colors absorb more heat and radiate it within the room. Awnings are more effective than shades for this purpose, especially if they are of a light color.

STASSEN OUT IN FRONT

Prior to the Wisconsin primary Harold Stassen was looked upon by the Republican King makers as just another provincial who liked to run for President. Now, with sweeping victories in both Wisconsin and Nebraska to his credit, he stands at the head of the list of possibilities for the endorsement of the convention in June.

As the leading contender for the nomination he will go into that convention as the man to beat, and the private machine of every other candidate will be conspiring against him. Because he is looked upon as the most liberal of all the Republican candidates, and by the old guard as "too liberal," he will go into the convention with little support from the national party organization. His strength will be in his personal following, and it is a good bet now that he will take Philadelphia as he has taken Wisconsin and Nebraska, by his own personal efforts and ability.

AN ABSURD SYSTEM

Maybe it is because of our personal interest in the presidential campaign that we have suddenly become aware of the absurdities in our system of electing chief executives. At any rate we pride ourselves on our democratic processes and yet select the men to hold the most important office of our country in a most devious and undemocratic manner.

Here in Minnesota, and in most of the states, we permit a few Wisconsins and Nebraskas to virtually select our party presidential candidates for us. (No offence intended to the excellent people of these neighbor and neighborly states. Right now we like them a lot). Is there any good reason why we shouldn't have a primary election here in Minnesota and encourage the candidates to talk to the people rather than to the political bosses? And having expressed our preferences in a primary, why shouldn't we vote directly for the candidate we want in the general election rather than for a list of electors? Let's have some more election reform and make our presidential elections more interesting.

Whatever may have been the facts a dozen years ago, the Wisconsin and Nebraska primaries serve definite notice on the world that the north-central states are not isolationist. In both states Stassen and Dewey far outdistanced all opponents, and both Stassen and Dewey have been outspoken advocates of a strong foreign policy. In Nebraska Taft had the suport of Senator Butler, a standpat non-interventionist, but Taft ran a poor third. That is one thing that is encouraging in the present confused international situation; regardless of which party names the next President our country is going to be pretty much united on the question of foreign policy. The Wisconsin and Nebraska primaries have proven this.

Serious consideration is being given to the idea that the communist party should be outlawed, and if that would put an end to the subversive activities of those who would overthrow our government then we would be glad to see such a step taken. We can see no good reason for believing however that we can solve this problem in such a simple manner. The majority of citizens who classify themselves as communists probably are a well meaning lot who rather enjoy the distinction of being a little queer. Those we have known are nice people who wouldn't harm anyone. As far as this type of communist is concerned the only effect of outlawing communism would be to make him feel like a martyr. And the dangerous type of communist would not be reached. He would merely shift his activities to the protection of some less infamous society and continue in every way to try to destroy our institutions. These people are a menace and in self defense we must eradicate them. As never before we must be vigilant, for these people are conducting a war against us now. But we cannot control them merely by passing a law.

Two Billion Egg Loss

Five per cent of the eggs produced in the United States, or two billion eggs, annually are smashed, cracked or otherwise damaged between the time they leave the farm and reach the breakfast table. This means a loss to both farmers and dealers and ultimately higher prices to the consumers. The U. S. department of agriculture has set up a research project in order to develop a new type of case or crate that will cut down handling losses. The study also will cover types of flats and fillers for egg cases as well as railroad handling methods. It has been estimated that if all egg loss could be prevented the consumer would secure his eggs at least five cents a dozen cheaper than he does now due to loss in transit.

Reverse the Order

More than 100 years ago Europe furnished American breeders with a foundation stock of draft horses needed then for newly invented reapers and huge drays. Until World War II, interested American farmers continued the importation of purebred Percherons. Now, with Europe ravaged of horse power needed for reconstruction, American breeders can look forward to returning Europe's courtesy and finding a lively export market for good young stock.

SOFTBALL LEAGUE ORGANIZED HERE MONDAY EVENING

Fred Wengeler Elected Head of Loop Succeeding Karl Gerstner, Resigned

The City Softball Association held its annual meeting Monday night and, with the election of a staff of officers and the naming of a tentative league roster, completed preliminary plans for the coming season of play. The meeting, held in the Council room of the Auditorium, was called to order by Karl Gerstner, last year's president, who declined the nomination for another year as league president.

The results of the election found Fred Wengeler named president of the league; Herman Kjos re-elected vice-president; Glenn Carlson, treasurer; Walter Larson, secretary; and Elmer Poole and Russell Olson, directors. A vote of appreciation was given to the retiring slate of officers for the efforts and the success they had in promoting the softball program.

Team managers present at the meeting, and who signified their intentions of having a team available for play, were Gordy Reierson of the Oens; Glenn Carlson of the Poppler's Furniture; Ardell Robinson of the Northern Chevrolet; Henry Hanson of Viking; Arne Hill of Middle River; and Jimmy Engelstad of Rocksbury. It is hoped that the league can be arranged on an eight-team basis and president Wengeler stated that any sponsor or team manager wishing to enter the league should notify one of the league officers, or call at the Sportsman's Store and register for entry.

A meeting of the league officers and the prospective team managers will be held on Monday night, April 19th, and at that time it is expected that a league roster will be completed so that the playing schedule can be arranged.

COACHES SELECT ALL-CONFERENCE BASKETBALL TEAM

Mentors Place Marlow Davidson on 1st Team of North Valley Loop

The North Valley Conference basketball coaches — Warren Johnson of Crookston, Harold Sullivan of East Grand Forks, Don Hall of Grand Forks, Roy Reslock of Devils Lake, George Heen of Grafton, and Bob Nick of Thief River Falls—in attendance at the annual conference meeting held in Grand Forks Saturday, announced their all-conference basketball selections.

Marlow Davidson, the Prowlers' popular all-round play-maker and captain, was honored by being selected for a first team guard position. Other first team selections were husky Lloyd Hallada of Grand Forks and rangy Pete Falstad of Devils Lake at the forwards; Crookston's six-foot, five-inch Don Drake at center; and East Grand Forks' Jerry Keller at the other guard position. Hallada, Falstad, Davidson, and Keller are seniors, while Drake is a junior and eligible for another year of play.

Named to the second team were East Grand Forks' Earl Gangeness and Crookston's left-handed Jimmy Anderson at the forwards; Harley Wagner, co-captain with Al Williamson of next year's Prowlers, at center; and Deby Emerson of Grand Forks and Gene Burns of Grafton at the guards.

The players on the first team will be awarded miniature gold basketballs; while the second team choices will be given silver basketballs.

The conference committee announced that the annual track and field meet will be held on the University of North Dakota field on May 7th, and if weather prohibits the running of the meet that day the tournament will be held on May 8th.

Arrangements are being completed for the conference golf tournament, which is scheduled to be played over the Lincoln Park course in Grand Forks.

Representatives from each of the member teams in the Northern Minnesota baseball league were in attendance at the league meeting held in Red Lake Falls on Thursday night. Various matters were brought up for discussion and action, the most important being the acceptance of the playing schedule drafted by Gus Mundinger, Jesse DuChamp, and Warren Johnson, the schedule committee.

The season will open on Sunday, May 16th, and the first round will conclude on June 27th. The second round of play will commence on July 11th and will end on August 22nd.

The problem of securing capable umpires for the league games was thoroughly discussed, and the league secretary was authorized to get in touch with the Northwest Umpires Association and get their recommendation on setting up an umpire's association for the league.

Representing the local club at the meeting were Clarence Hallstrom, president, Clarence Rasmussen, manager, and Al Christofferson, director.

With the prospects that the local diamond, which will be rebuilt, will not be ready for the early-season games, the league tournament committee announced a schedule which will have the local team "on the road" for the first three games.

The locals, and they will be called "Thieves" this year, will open the season by playing the Plummer Red Sox at Plummer on May 16th. On May 23rd they will play at Erskine; and on the 30th they will be at Oklee. The first home game is slated for June 6th, with Winger playing here.

The schedule:

May 16th, at Plummer.
May 23rd, at Erskine.
May 30th, at Oklee.
June 6th, Winger here.
June 13th, at Crookston.
June 20th, Red Lake Falls here.
June 27th, St. Hilaire here.
July 11th, Plummer here.
July 18th, Erskine here.
July 25th, Oklee here.
Aug. 1st, at Winger.
Aug. 8th, Crookston here.
Aug. 15th, at Red Lake Falls.
Aug. 22nd, at St. Hilaire.

Girls Asked to Register for Softball Loop Play

The city recreation board today requested all local girls interested in playing league softball this spring and summer notify Quentin Jones, recreation supervisor. Ole Engelstad, board member, stated that equipment would be furnished by the board, and that the east side playground will be the scene of the games.

Easy Come, Easy Go

The senior hockey Thieves held their annual banquet on Saturday night and, following the steak supper which was served by the Soo Cafe to the boys and their guests, the club's business manager read and explained the year's financial statement. And that statement involved some big figures.

The income from the season's eighteen home games amounted to $7,712.90. That's a sizable income, but the outgo was nearly as great. For instance, the Internal Revenue department collected $1,217.76 in taxes; the Arena assessed the club $645.76 in rentals; the amount paid to visiting teams as guarantees was $1,528.72; referees received $427.50; players insurance accounted for $172.13; traveling expenses for the out-of-town games cost $537.50; hockey sticks came to $557.65; and new uniforms, skates, and equipment cost $961.58. So you see it cost considerable money to operate a team in the States-Dominion hockey league, especially in the manner in which the Thieves were moving this year.

But Saturday night's gathering wasn't all business for the boys had some fun when Jack McKee, the referee from Winnipeg who was a guest at the banquet, acted as toastmaster in presenting novelty gifts to various members of the team. Goalie Greek Swanson received a blind man's white cane; Tony Dorn was given a toy telephone, so that he woudn't have to spend so much time skating to the side-lines to converse with his wife; Lloyd Johnson received an insulated pillow for use when he spends time in the penalty box; Bob Bell, to remedy his aches and pains, was given a box of veterinary medicine; coach Connie Stanbridge was handed a pair of crutches with skates attached; Russ Embury received a toy wheelbarrow, the better to carry the club's troubles; and Mouse Efteland was presented with a pair of turkey poults.

Conference Coaching Changes

It was good news for the Prowler football team when they learned that Wayne Johnson had made his decision to remain here for another year. But other teams in the North Valley conference weren't so fortunate for Crookston and Grafton will have new athletic coaches next year. Warren Johnson, the popular Crookston Pirates football and basketball coach, has resigned to accept a position in the St. Paul school system. And George Heen and Lorne Miller, football and basketball mentors at Grafton, won't be coaching the Spoilers next season; Jim Maxwell, a former Grafton and North Dakota A. C. star, has been hired to take over the coaching duties.

Room for More Teams

The City Softball Association held its annual meeting on Monday night and, if the weather moderates so that the playing field can be re-built, the league should be able to begin its schedule the latter part of May.

Present at Monday night's meeting were the managers of six teams; but the league officials hope that several more teams will avail themselves of the opportunity of joining the league. So far the league make-up will have Oen's, Poppler's, Northern Chevrolet, Middle River, Rocksbury, and Viking on its roster; but there are enough boys anxious to play softball so that another couple of teams can be organized. A six-team league is too small.

Anyone wishing to enter a team, or interested in organizing a team, should call on Fred Wengeler at the Sportsman's Store, and Fred, the Associations' president, will assist the applicant.

A Fine Choice

The city baseball club officers completed a fine stroke of business when they persuaded Clarence Rasmussen to take over the managership of the team. Ras, a veteran player and one of the best infielders in the league, has had much baseball experience and, with the help of the club's business organization, he should be able to put an active and aggressive team on the field. And let's hope that he can convince Harold Stroble to remain here, for with the Little Professor on the mound, the locals would be in the running for the league championship.

Very Definite

The team representing the Elks Club in the women's bowling league—consisting of Bea Embury, Lavaun Clinton, Fran Williamson, Doris Langevin, and Irene Hanson—were definitely bowling in championship caliber on Wednesday night when they scored a two straight triumph over the Narverud's Cleaners. In their second and concluding game, the Elks piled up a fine 783-pin actual total, and in that game Doris Langevin picked up three splits.

In fairness to the Narverud's though, it must be explained that they appeared to be off form. And a "slump" was to be expected, for the Cleaners came up with a startling three-straight win on Monday night to earn the second half championship and the right to participate in the finals.

Elks Club Bowlers Win Women's City League Title Wednesday Night

Winning by a two straight margin, the Elks Club won the Women's City League bowling championship on Wednesday night by defeating the Narverud Cleaners in a best-of-three championship playoff. The Elks Club, first half winners, rolled games of 712 and 793 while the Narverud Cleaners, upset winners of the season's second half, had games of 671 and 691.

The Women's City League had a tumultuous conclusion to its second half season on Monday night when the Narverud Cleaners, sweeping their three-game series with the L. B. Hartz Stores, won first place, vaulting past both the Hartz team and the Elks Club. The Elks Club, tied for first place with the Hartz team before Monday night's final games, dropped a pair of games to the Pharmacy to finish in second place.

LOCAL TRACK MEN WILL ENTER FIRST MEET APRIL 30TH

Nine Lettermen Form Nucleus of Coach Jones' Squad for This Season

Prowler track coach Quentin Jones, with the first meet less than three weeks away, has been increasing the tempo of the practice drills of the blue-and-gold track squad. The locals will move into their first competition of the season when they participate in the Beaver Relays at Bemidji on April 30th; and on May 1st the squad will enter the Sioux Relays at Grand Forks.

Captain Dick Davidson, the Prowlers' capable 440-yard performer, leads the track squad that has nine lettermen as its nucleus. The team lost a number of pointgetters by graduation, including Les Vigness, the regional and district sprint champion, and Johnny Hanson, the sparking high hurdler and anchor man on the relay tema. Last year those two boys would account for four or five first place positions, and that meant twenty-five or thirty points added to the Prowler point total in a meet.

And in addition to the track losses by graduation, coach Jones squad lost a fine prospect when Morris "Mouse" Higinbotham moved away, and when Swede Lund decided to forego track this spring.

The Prowler track schedule:

April 30th, Beaver Relays at Bemidji.
May 1st, Sioux Relays at Grand Forks.
May 7th, North Valley Conference meet at Grand Forks.
May 14th, 31st District meet at Grand Forks.
May 21st, 8th Regional meet at Bemidji.

TRAFFIC IN MARCH CAUSES 24 DEATHS

85 Lose Lives in State in First 3 Months of '48

March traffic deaths in Minnesota, with 24 people killed, held motor vehicle and pedestrian fatalities to the lowest mark for any month since the record low of 16 in February, 1946, and next to the lowest for any month since the end of World War II.

With 31 fatalities in January, 30 in February and 24 in March Minnesota also set another postwar traffic safety record for the first quarter of the year, the state highway department reported today. The 85 motorists and pedestrian fatalities compare with 130 for the same period in 1947 and 93 in 1946, J. E. P. Darrell, head of the department's traffic safety division, said. In 1945, the last year of the war and its restrictions on driving, only 74 deaths were recorded for the 3 month period.

The state's outstanding March safety record was partially nullified in terms of human lives saved, however, by the fact that seven people were killed in four accidents during the first weekend in April.

Of the March traffic deaths, eight were pedestrians. Ten of the motorists killed died as a result of collisions with other vehicles, and six as a result of running off the road. In the latter six cases all but one death apparently were results of speed too great for driving conditions, and in this one instance the driver was blinded by oncoming cars.

POLITICAL ROUNDUP

By Arthur Naftalin

Harold Stassen's smashing victory in Wisconsin's Presidential primary naturally sent soaring the hopes of his supporters that he will emerge from the national GOP convention with the nomination. It established once ag in the fact that Stassen cannot be regarded lightly in considering Republican possibilities. The chief obstacle to his nomination is the enmity he has aroused among the leading organizational Republicans, but, if he can demonstrate sufficient popular support in the primaries, the powers-that-be may have no other alternative than to agree to his nomination.

This column has consistently maintained, over a period of many months, that Stassen's chances of getting the nomination are very good. Perhaps the time is approaching for a prediction that he will enter the national GOP convention as the No. 1 favorite. This prediction is not necessarily favorable to Stassen's position on national and international affairs, because some observers believe that one source of his strength is the somewhat ambiguous manner in which he presents his views, so that he is able to attract both progessive and conservative support.

Republican leaders are increasingly jubilant over the growing consternation within Democratic ranks over the Presidency. The Democrats are deeply fearful that President Truman can not be re-elected, and yet events and circumstances make the selection of another Party nominee extremely difficult, if not impossible. For the Democrats, the only brightening phase of the picture is the noticable slumping of support and enthusiasm for Henry Wallace's third party candidacy.

The drop in Wallace sentiment is related to the fact that, as time passes, the role that the Communist Party is playing in his campaign is becoming increasingly clearer. Wallace's speeches and statements have paralleled the Communist line at every turn, even to the point of justifying the Communist group in Czechoslovakia. In Minnesota movement is reflected in the increasing strength of the "right wing" activities within the Democratic-Farmer-Labor Party.

It is still very early in the season for activity in the Congressional districts. In the third district, however, Roy Wier, the DFL candidate in 1946, has been given the Central Labor Union's against Republican George MacKinnon. This does not necessarily mean that Wier will automatically take the DFL nomination, because there is much spirited interest in the contest, and he may be faced by one or more other candidates in the primary. Others mentioned are the Rev. John G. Simmons, Lutheran minister; Glenn Thompson, co-operative leader, and George Murk, head of the Minneapolis AFL musicians union.

Much excitement has been created in the April 30 precinct caucuses of the DFL Party. The "right wing" has been organizing DFL Volunteer committees over the state in an effort to prevent the Third Party faction from taking over the Party. The "right wing" is planning a big pre-caucus rally the night of April 23 with its supporters meeting in homes all over the state to listen to an address by Mayor Hubert H. Humphrey of Minneapolis.

Another event of widespread interest in progressive and labor circles is the scheduled appearance in Minneapolis of Walter Reuther, the fiery international President of the United Automobile Workers. He will speak in Minneapolis Thursday, April 22, and in St. Paul on Friday, and on Saturday, in Duluth at noon, and in Hibbing in th evening. Reuther has won great prominence in labor movement for his successful work in defeating Communist-line leadership within the UAW.

Within the Minnesota CIO, there is much ferment these days as the "right wing", majority moves ahead with its program of removing from office all persons who do not conform with CIO national and state policy. The central issue is Wallace's Third Party. National CIO policy opposes the Third Party, and this has meant the removal and defeat of a number of state leaders in both the CIO and CIO's Political Action Committee. It has also resulted in a new policy for Minnesota Labor, the CIO's state newspaper. The newspaper, under a new editor, no longer follows the Communist line. It now supports national and state CIO policy.

Now It's Neckties Made of Milk!
Fellow in Andy Botkin's Tavern was boasting about a trick necktie he was wearing made out of a by-product of milk. "Took 33 pounds of milk to make this tie," he says.
Bill Webster was unimpressed. "Personally," he says, "I'd rather have the milk to drink. Just as I wouldn't change one glass of good American beer for a necktie made from thirty barrels of it!"
Yes, modern science being what it is—seems like you can make "anything out of anything" these days. But in the case of milk, well I guess drinking it is still a whole lot better than just wearing it.
Of course there are lots of other ways of abusing goods and beverages—like a fellow who doesn't appreciate good beer enough to drink it slowly and in moderation.
But from where I sit, most people who enjoy a wholesome beverage like beer or ale are moderate—because beer itself is a beverage of moderation.

Grygla School Slate

The writing on the slate this week is done by the Fifth grade.

Experiments

When experiments are done all the children of the upper grades look on. The sixth grade science can be done with home made apparatus.

Sheldon and Caroll Clausen are making tin can telephones which are strung from the teacher's room and from outside the window downstairs into the school room. The boys were trying out string and wire Monday. If results are good they will demonstrate the next day.

Carroll Clausen with his father's help rigged up an electro-Magnet on a small derrick which lifted and dropped nails and tacks when the key was turned. May Killingson, 5.

Wood as Conductor

Carroll Clausen and Sheldon Peterson proved that wood was a better conductor of sound than air. A long stick was held with one end at Sheldon's ear. Carroll lightly scratched on the stick's other end. Betty stood the same distance as the stick away from Carroll. She could not hear the faint scratching but Sheldon could. Then others tried the experiment. Douglas Homeland, 5.

Water Glass Music

The sixth grade found that a musical scale could be played on the rims of eight glasses filled with different amounts of water. From the full glass to the nearly empty glass could be played do, re, mi, fa, sol la, ti, do. The boys tried blowing on the glasses but got no sound. When test tubes were filled with different amounts of water the boys could make tunes blowing upon them. First thing Mrs. Jensen knows the upper grade room will have a jug band. Arles Berg, 5.

Music

The upper grade children have had fun singing these last two weeks, even if they have not learned part singing yet. Mrs. Halmrast has come two hours each week.

Arles Berg and Carol Ann Sletten have brought their ukelele and guitar and planned programs for all to sing while waiting for the rest of the children to return from noon rest, and recess periods. Music is a lot of fun. Marie Klaven, 5.

Weekly Election

Each week the old proctor presides in the election of a new proctor. This gives good practice in presenting motions when nominations are closed, and nominating candidates and voting for them. The children have learned to second motions, never second nominations.

LeRoy Austad presided at the election this week. Two nominations were made. A motion to close nominations was made, seconded and passed. Robert Johnson was chosen proctor. He chose for his cabinet: Sheldon Peterson, Audrey Austad, and Arles Berg. These cabinet members have authority in the wash rooms ranks and lunch rooms. Audrey Austad, 5.

Here, for instance, are two elephants of the Dailey Brothers circus which wintered in Gonzales, Tex., and is ready for a tour of the country this summer.

BARGAIN RATES FOR WAR FREIGHT

In suits now pending before the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Federal Government contends that the nation's railways overcharged it for wartime transportation services. Government attorneys estimate the alleged overcharges at between 2 and 3 billion dollars.

The public—especially the farmer, rancher, merchant and manufacturer—has a tremendous stake in the outcome of the so-called Reparation Cases. Should the Government be awarded reparations in substantial amounts, very much higher railway transportation costs would be inevitable.

Edwin C. Matthias, Vice President and General Counsel of Great Northern Railway, recently discussed the Reparation Cases before Western Minnesota businessmen in Willmar, Minn.

"Railroad rates paid by the Government during the war were in no instances higher, and in nearly every case were substantially lower, than those paid by private or commercial shippers," said Mr. Matthias. "It actually got its rates at a bargain.

"Freight charges for transportation of wartime supplies under Government bills of lading over Class I lines totaled approximately 5½ billion dollars for the period 1942 through 1945. During that time the railways paid the Government nearly 3 billions, 669 millions in taxes.

"The Government now wants to collect another 2 to 3 billions in the form of reparations. If it is successful, it will have obtained from the railways approximately 62½ million dollars more than the carriers received for hauling wartime freight under Government bills of lading.

"Land Grant rates saved the Government approximately 240 million dollars a year during the war, and Army and Navy officers testified before Congressional committees that other rate reductions voluntarily given by the railways saved the Government an additional 150 millions a year.

"Should reparations awards in substantial amounts be made, there are only two sources from which the money could be obtained to pay them—from shippers through heavy increases in rates, or from the Government to pay the Government.

"No one thinks that the money could be borrowed from the United States without creating a clamor from the politicians for Government operation of the railroads. Does the public want another extravagant experiment of that kind? It is our belief that the public does not want to take what might prove to be the first step toward the socialization of basic American industries as such industries are now being socialized in England!"

These Chips are Wooden Magnets
The Home of Budweiser refuses to abandon the use of beechwood chips traditional in fine brewing. They work wonders during the ageing period. The carefully washed chips are placed in the lower section of the tanks, exposing many surfaces. They attract yeast cells, just as a magnet draws metal objects. Thus, the quietly circulating beer is in contact with more yeast in a long, cold ageing period for perfection. This is one of many steps that make ours the costliest brewing process known. Costliest, yes, but it brings you—Budweiser!

FEWER DIE, MORE INJURED IN 1947 TRAFFIC MISHAPS

Pedestrians Killed in 1947 Number 10,940, Insurance Firm Reports

Traffic accidents took the lives of 32,000 Americans in 1947, according to figures released today by The Travelers Insurance Companies.

While last year's highway death toll was less than the 33,900 fatalities recorded in 1946, the 1947 total of persons injured was substantially greater. More than 1,365,000 were injured by automobiles last year, while in 1946, 1,300,000 injuries were counted.

The accident figures are contained in a booklet entitled "The Fifth Commandment," fourteenth in an annual series of traffic safety publications issued by the companies.

More pedestrians were killed last year than in 1946, reversing the downward trend in the over-all death total. Calling this "perhaps the most significant single fact in the 1947 traffic record," the booklet points out that 10,940 pedestrian deaths last year even exceeds the 1941 total in that category. In 1941, an all-time high of 40,000 persons—pedestrians, passengers and drivers—were killed.

The report, based on official records from every state, contains tables comparing accident figures for last year with the 1946 summaries. In a forword, Jesse W. Randall, president of The Travelers, explains the booklet's title as the outgrowth of talks with prominent churchmen. "All agreed," Mr. Randall reports, "that the fifth of the fundomental commandments, 'Thou shalt not kill', applies to death on the highways. The Fifth Commandment mean that nothing on earth can be so important that a man's life should be risked for it, unless in the risking of life the man becomes better equipped for eternity."

WHOM DOES IT PAY TO ADVERTISE

Winona.—Pretty generally accepted is the slogan that it pays to advertise. But among the Republican-Herald staff the question now is, whom does it pay? A long envelope opened in the forth $200 in assorted greenbacks with a note bidding them to "Find owner of this $200 money. Come years ago a man from Ettrick, Wis., lost it between Centerville and stock yards. Thank you." An ad was run, a claim was made, the records were checked, and $200 of the $230 lost by W. G. Richardson, Galesville, Wis., October 27, 1942, was returned to him. And visions of a news-staff party faded into satisfaction at Mr. Richardson's genuine joy.

Bake Tulip Bulbs

During the war tulip growers in Holland were required to plant half of their land to food. Because of their small food allowance, most of the tulip bulbs were eaten by the Dutch. In most cases the Dutch cooked and ate the bulbs in much the way we do baked potatoes.

BIG SHOT COMBINATION...Number one father-and-son combination rifle team in the U.S. in 1948 were Harry J. Grimesey (left) and son Robert, 17, of Janesville, Wis. Grimesey, senior, a supervisor in the Parker Pen company plant in Janesville, recently set a national record of 199 for the prone and kneel positions. Bob is an Eagle scout as well as a champion marksman.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Senator Joseph H. Ball

With the European Recovery Program and tax reduction enacted, only two really big controversial issues remain now to be acted on at this session of Congress—the military preparedness program, involving selective service, universal military training and a bigger air force, and the issue of price controls, rationing and allocation of materials.

The drive to reimpose controls on the American economy was quiescent while ERP was being debated, but is being stepped up now and will really put on steam probably with another special presidential message to Congress, as soon as several billions of additional military expenditures are authorized.

The lull in pressure for controls during debate on ERP was deliberate. If domestic economic controls had been tied in with that six billion dollar spending program, it would have had much tougher sledding. But as soon as ERP was passed, New Deal columnists began beating the drums again for controls. The other day, the President's Council of Economic Advisors again urged "selective, stand-by" controls. The pressure will really be turned on once the military program is through Congress.

This pattern was set with President Truman's message last fall to the Special Session when he tied foreign aid and controls together, and has never been abandoned by the Administration, as some of us knew very well. There are two main groups pushing for controls. one is a group of sincere, if perhaps misguided liberals, who believe that some wisely administered controls are essential to offset the inflationary impact of this huge spending program.

The other group leading the drive for controls includes Americans for Democratic Action, the C. I. O. and the other left organizations going clear over to the communists. Their purpose is different. Although they do not so label themselves publicly, they are mostly socialists and planned economy advocates. They believe that a free, competitive economy will not work, and they want the Government to control production and distribution permanently.

I shall oppose controls in peace time, first because they are totalitarian, concentrating total economic power in government bureaus; and second because experience demonstrates that without the almost unaminmous support that only all-out war develops for them, controls will not work, and merely intensify shortages and push prices higher.

What sort of preparedness program will finally pass, in addition to the eleven billions in the budget, is anybody's guess. At present, the Armed Services committees are still trying to get accurate cost estimates from the services on various programs and alternatives. The objective will be to develop most rapidly and with least expenditure the greatest strength possible.

Most members believe selective service is necessary to secure enough men to bring our forces up to strength, and there is general agreement on strengthening the Air Force.

MOTHER NATURE PROVES VERSATILITY

April 1 the editor of the Good Thunder Herald enjoyed a crisp, juicy apple that had just been picked. No foolin'. A well-laden branch broke from a tree before picking had been completed, and was covered with a blanket of snow before it froze. This spring the apples were in prime condition. The Frykholms at Warren brought into their home last fall garden soil into which tomato seed had fallen, and had a nice big ripe tomato for Easter. Succeeding in producing lemons, Anton L. Swenson branched out, and is now exhibiting at Willmar a cotton plant about 20 inches tall.

Federal Agency Calls Meeting on Migratory Waterfowl Situation

Sportsmen of Minnesota have been invited to join with officials of conservation departments of six states in an informal discussion of the current migratory waterfowl situation and allied subjects. The meeting will be held Fiday, April 23, in the Wedgewood Room of the Hotel Curtis, Minneapolis, starting at 10 a.m.

State conservation officials from Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Iowa, Wisconsin, and possibly Missouri will take part in the discussion, according to D. H. Janzen, regional director, Fish and Wildlife Service, Minneapolis. The meeting is one in a series of nation-wide public meetings conducted by the service for the purpose of presenting first-hand information on the current migratory situation.

The Minneapolis discussion will be led by Dr. Clarence Cottam, assistant to Albert M. Day, Fish and Wildlife Service director.

Participants will be greeted by Minnesota conservation commissioner Chester S. Wilson and the department's representatives will be headed by Frank D. Blair, director of the division of game and fish, and Taylor W. Huston, supervisor of game.

Among the topics slated for discussion are techniques of surveying the waterfowl wintering and breeding grounds, and the Federal Refuge Program.

Decorative micarta, a new material for table-tops, counter-tops, walls and other applications where burning and staining are to be surmounted is now on the market. It is also suitable where chemicals would mar ordinary materials or places that might be stained from shoe heels.

YOUTH MUST BE SERVED

From Betty Ann, 7, to Mike, 12, four youngsters in the Michael Zurich family won early spring marble championships in Minneapolis part tournaments. Down at Northfield five members of the Roe clan gathered for a spring reunion on the steps of one of the St. Olaf College buildings, where there has been 48 years of uninterrupted attendance by one or more members of the Roe family. Thirty-one have attended, 17 have graduated with degrees, and five are now enrolled.

Returns Home From Sweden

by Howard D. Anderson

Thirty seven years ago Louis Anderson joined his brother John on John's 2nd trip to America. Late this fall Louis found it again possible to return to the land of his birth. He sailed on the Gripsholm on December 5th and docked in Gottenberg on December 15th.

A brother and two sisters besides a number of other relatives and friends awaited him. His brother lives on the home place and during Mr. Anderson's stay there, he slept in his fathers room.

The first days of his visit were days of adjustment. On Christmas morning he attended the traditional Julotta.

Two weeks were spent in Stockholm with a nephew. It was at a reception there that he visited Gov. and Mrs. Luther Youngdahl.

They look to America as a haven but from which they are barred by existing regulations. Rationing is very extensive and like the American people, they are quite heavily taxed. They too are plagued with benefit drives for the more needy people of Europe. During the recent war the country was over run by refugees from the enemy held neighbors. The government is Socialistic by creed, but disturbed by communist infiltration.

He was in company with several from the near northwest. Those from close to home were Mr. and Mrs. Gunderson of the Wannaska community. They all came back on the new Swedish liner Stockholm, which docked in New York on Easter Sunday.

Monks on Guernsey Island

Guernsey island, used as a base for pirates who preyed on shipping in the English channel, was given to the monks of Mount St. Michel about 960 A. D. to fortify against sea rovers and to improve conditions. They were to teach the art of agriculture to the natives who had been dependent upon fishing for their livelihood. These Breton and Norman monks crossed the two mainland breeds, Norman Brindle Froment du Lean, to produce Guernsey cattle. Isolated on the island from importation of other cattle, the monks, by patience, knowledge and selection, created a superior animal.

PONTIAC

GM HYDRA-MATIC DRIVE

For all "one-car" families

For the family which has but one motor car—Pontiac is an extremely wise choice.

First, it is big and beautiful. You can drive it anywhere, any time, with the certain knowledge that it will be admired. It also gives you the comfort you want, and need. It is safe, too—because it has big, sturdy brakes—and remarkable balance on turns and curves. It provides the performance luxury of GM Hydra-Matic Drive*. It is quick and nimble, easy to steer and park—a feature especially appreciated by women. And it is very economical—just as economical, in fact, as any car you can buy.

It is a rare car, indeed, which can offer all these qualities. And because Pontiac does offer them, it is becoming the choice of more and more people every day.

*GM Hydra-Matic Drive, Bumper Guards and White Sidewall Tires optional on all models at additional cost.

VIKING

Relatives and friends filled the Mission Covenant church last Thursday afternoon, April 8, to pay their last respects to Albert Allie Tornell, who passed away at Minneapolis, Saturday morning, April 3, at the age of 63 years.

Mr. Tarnell was born at Pilot Mound, Iowa on June 25, 1884.

Mr. Tarnell became employed by the Farmers Cooperative Company of Viking on March 23, 1911. He first served as clerk and later as manager and had now completed 37 years of faithful service there. He has been an active member of the local Mission Covenant church which he joined April 1, 1921. He has served as president treasurer for a number of years and was a deacon at the time of his death. He has also been interested in the civic affairs of the community and was serving as councilman of the town board at the present time.

Rev. C. Norman Ericson officiated at the services and spoke of the intimate fellowship that had been theirs.

The pall bearers were eight of his brothers-in-law, John Erickson, Malcolm Tangquist, Henry Sustad, Aleck Anderson, Alton Sackett, Oscar Anderson, Clarence Tangquist and David Drotts.

Use Plywood in Homes

Government tests have demonstrated plywood walls to be far more rigid, and thus safer, than walls of the conventional material while at the same time the speed with which these large panels are applied effects savings in labor and time. The dri-built type of construction, which utilizes the advantages of fir plywood, rapidly is becoming the accepted method for the building of many small and large homes.

The extra feed obtained from the improved pastures and longer season is equivalent to 37 millions bushels of corn and is worth nearly 30 million dollars when corn is valued at 80 cents per bushel.

Average Vet Young

Use Fireproof Insulation

Minneral wool insulation cannot burn because it is made of rock, smelter slag, sand and other mineral products.

Food Exports

Exports of all foods from the United States, if loaded on boxcars, would make an unbroken train long enough to reach three times across the Atlantic.

TOWNSHIP FORUMS HELP SAVE PIGS

How many will get to market?

Swine raisers are being urged to "get together" this year on methods of preventing another baby pig blitz like the one that caused disastrous losses in the spring of 1947.

"Township forums" are the latest type of attack on the pig loss problem. Neighbors get together and discuss the problems in a joint meeting with their local veterinarians, extension men, feed dealers and others who have a stake in pork production. All these authorities are giving wholehearted support to these joint efforts to bring the 1948 litters to profitable market weight.

Not all pig losses can be avoided. But an open exchange of ideas can prevent a repetition of last year's errors and center attention on avoidable losses.

Veterinary authorities agree that an all-round program of sound nutrition and management, strict sanitation and disease control is necessary to halt the appalling yearly waste of feed and loss of meat through baby pig deaths.

Brood sows need complete rations throughout the gestation period and while the pigs are nursing. Clean, comfortable quarters are important, both to the sows and the pigs. Well-built farrowing pens and brooder pens assure a better start, and the pigs should have a complete ration from 10 days on. Breeding stock should be tested for brucellosis. Hog cholera vaccination of young swine, around weaning time, is good insurance. In certain erysipelas areas, vaccination against this hazard is also wise practice.

The Art From England

Ceramic tile was used in the United States even before the Revolution, but it has been manufactured here in large quantities for only the past 70 years. An English immigrant, Samuel Keys, was first to realize the great possibilities in tile making in this country and began experimenting with tile in 1867. Four years later he produced floor tiles which were favorably recognized. Then, in 1876, a tile manufacturing plant was opened in Pittsburgh, with Keys as superintendent. As tile became increasingly popular in homes and commercial buildings, other plants were founded in Ohio, New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania. After the last war, California also became an important tile manufacturing center.

Square House Cost Less

The more nearly square a house, the less it will cost. A two-story house costs less than a one-story of the same square footage of livable area because foundations will be smaller and less roof area is required.

Shortage of Ore Seen

It has been estimated that the high-grade ore deposits of the Lake Superior area will be exhausted within 20 to 25 years, based upon probable annual requirements of from 60 to 70 million tons of iron ore from that area. Average normal yearly consumption of iron ore from all areas should be around 90 million tons. Some increased shipments of iron ore from the northeastern states, South America, Canada and Labrador doubtless will slightly ease the demands upon the Lake Superior district over the next few years.

NEW STATE CREAM REGULATIONS TAKE EFFECT APRIL 19

Provisions of State Regulations Explained by Land O'Lakes Man

With the new Minnesota state cream regulations going into effect April 19, B. M. Zakariasen, chief chemist and director of fields service, Land O' Lakes Creameries, Inc., today stressed the necessity of uniformity in grading methods and of quality field work in creameries and on the farms.

Zakariasen was chairman of the committee appointed by E. A. Trovatten, commissioner of the department of agriculture, dairy and food, to make recommendations for the new cream grading regulations. Wisconsin, North Dakota and South Dakota are considering similar regulations.

The best wey to comply with the regulations, Zakariasen said, is for creameries to get together in groups and hire quality fieldmen to make tests and to work with producers on their farms.

"If each creamery were to hire its own fieldmen," he said, "there would be variations in methods of grading and in carrying out the quality program in general."

Zakariasen said Land O' Lakes is offering the facilities of its field service division to members and non-members alike in complying with the new regulations. For creameries getting together to hire fieldmen, Zakariasen said Land O' Lakes will train the men and supervise them in their work.

The new cream regulations require that a pint sample of cream be taken off the bottom of the original container for testing. Previously only two ounces of cream were taken for the sample, and there were no standards on how the sample should be taken.

Sediment tests must be made of each producer's cream at least once a month. If a pint sample from the bottom of a random can shows a sediment in excess of that indicated on pad No. 3 on the official chart adopted by the commissioner, the remaining cans in the delivery must be tested and all showing a similar sediment excess will be rejected. Thereafter, sediment tests must be made of all cans of cream in each delivery of the producers until all of them show a sediment of 2½ milligrams or less.

Tags placed on unlawful cream cans cannot be removed while the rejected cream is in the can, and the cream cannot be sold for human consumption.

All purchasers and receivers of cream are required under the new regulations to report to the commissioner within 48 hours the name and address of each producer who has had three successive deliveries of unlawful cream.

Plans for this summer's camps were made and a building project discussed by the Lake of the Woods Luther League Bible Camp Association as it met for its recent annual spring meeting at Trinity Church, Thief River Falls. The meeting further determined that several of the camp buildings will be wired for R. E. A. for this summer's use, and some new waterfront equipment will be purchased. May 17, 18, and 19 were the dates set as annual Camp Work Week.

Be Careful in Using 2-4-D in Treating Flax, County Agent Advises

Purchasing of new sprayers by individuals and by neighbors cooperatively has become a common practice. Before purchasing a sprayer, farmers are urged by Pennington County Agent Frank Hobbs to give serious consideration to the type of equipment to use, either a sprayer or a duster. Farmers may contact the county agent for further information and recomendations on equipment needed for applying 2-4-D acid.

The use of 2-4-D on flax is recommended providing not over one-fourth pound of 2-4-D acid is used per acre. Crystal and Minerva are susceptible to injury by the use of 2-4-D in yields, percentage of oil, and quality of oil. B5128 is susceptible to yield injury only. Redwing, Sheyenne, Royal and Kota and Dakota are most tolerant to 2-4-D.

I am not unhindful of the contribution pharmacists are making to better health in our communities."

HOISTED BY THEIR OWN PETARDS

Under the heading Justice of the Peace no name was printed on the Plymouth township ballot, so J. Frederick Diegel thought he'd kid the tellers by writing in his own name. That was the only vote cast, and he found himself elected township JP. The mayor of Sleepy Eye claimed he was in a hurry to get to church. Whatever the reason the police found his car parked across an alley and next morning C. C. Hansen said "Good morning, Judge," just like any other violator, and laid his buck on the line.

NEIGHBORLINESS STILL FLOURISHES

Every once in awhile Minnesota gets national acclaim for some incident typical of the warm neighborly spirit that prevails in the upper midwest. Come now two items in point. Herbert Fritz, by reason of surgical complications, was unable to complete the fall chores on his farm in Rolling Green township near Fairmont; this spring a dozen neighbors hand picked and stored 200 bushels of ground corn. April 1 nearly 200 neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Snyder and presented them with a brand new 1948 4-door Plymouth sedan in appreciation of their outstanding community contribution during Mr. Snyder's 20 years as secretary of the Albert Lea YMCA.

FIREBUGS!!

We know there are very few bugs of this kind in our communities, but there are fellows who set fires. We all do, this time of the year. My fire and your fire can be just as hot as that of the firebug, and, if out of control, can do as much damage.

YOUR company loses from several hundred to several thousand dollars every year because of destruction of telephone poles thru careless burning. With just a little care, not one cent would need to be lost. A little back firing or just a little spade work will do the trick.

Under the new Co-op arrangement we have become YOUR company. Every telephone user will become a stock holder. Please help save YOUR telephone poles and YOUR DOLLARS.

WISCONSIN VOTE IS HAILED AS BIG STASSEN BOOST

Frank Discussion of Issues Credited with Success in Primary

Harold Stassen's sweeping victory in the Wisconsin primary, first crucial test of strength in the race for the Republican nomination for President, was being hailed as an achievement of the first magnitude throughout the country this week as newspaper editors and political observers sought to analyze reasons for the victory and explore its possible effects.

Newspaper writers and political leaders generally agreed that Stassen's feat in capturing 19 of Wisconsin's delegates would give him a big boost on the way to the White House. Not a few writers saw prospect of an upsurge for Stassen that soon would place him in the lead in popular support. That Governor Dewey should fail to get a single delegate and the strongly supported General MacArthur should garner in only 8 delegates brought expressions of surprise from many editors.

Editors generally were examining reasons back of Stassen's striking victory this week and were coming to the conclusion, familiar to most Minnesotans who witnessed his campaigns in this state, that much of his success could be attributed to the practice he has followed of discussing issues frankly with the people. The question and answer periods, in which Stassen gave his views on all questions propounded, was credited by many of the editors with a major share of his success.

More than 90 per cent of all automobile accidents in 1947 involved cars with no apparent mechanical defects. Drive carefully!

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

When Baby Begins to Crawl

When a baby is three or four months old parents delight in propping him up with pillows. At six months he can sit alone and his parents become very proud. At nine months he can stand while he holds on to things and his daddy and mother spend a lot of time bragging.

But, along about ten and eleven months baby is no longer a fixed object; he can crawl and perhaps walk behind a heavy object as he pushes it in front of him. More than that, he no longer is satisfied to do anything but travel.

Now the play pen becomes a prison. For some babies even the sight of the play pen brings on loud wails. Others tire of it quickly. Very often the usefulness of the play pen can be increased if the baby is given more complex things to play with.

A large fruit juice can with clothes pins to be put in it is a fine toy which delights the child who is nearly a year old. Old jar washers also can be stored in things. A low wooden box to stand in and to climb over will keep the year-old happy for a long while. Large flat blocks which fit together to make a simple train, cardboard discs which can be slipped over a peg, pots with lids to be fitted, all provide fascinating entertainment.

Sometimes mother can make an effort to prepare vegetables or to do her mending near the play pen so baby gets a feeling of companionship. No youngster will want to stay in his play pen forever, so it is best to plan things which will keep him busy outside the pen. Has he a kiddie-car? Perhaps a set of small steps to climb? A little chair or stool to carry about with him? All of these will help to cut down his undirected random activity which leads so often to trouble.

A parent with initiative can use the play pen for a few months after the baby becomes active, and farsighted parents will provide equipment for play outside the pen.

COMMISSION ASKS CHANGES IN STATE JUDICIAL SYSTEM

State Constitutional Commission Submits Its Recommendations

A revamping and modernizing of Minnesota's judicial system—affecting all courts of the state—was recommended in a preliminary report released recently by the Minnesota Constitutional Commission.

Now being submitted to judges and lawyers throughout the state for comment, the tentative draft is the first of several revisional studies being undertaken by the commission.

Minnesota Associate Supreme Court Justice Leroy E. Matson, who heads the eight-man judiciary study committee, pointed out that the revision "presents no arbitrary or revolutionary changes, but provides for a more coorinated and interrelated judicial branch of government."

Changes proposed in the report include the provision that all jurists be trained lawyers, the elimination of justices of the peace and fee-paid municipal court judges, and power to enlarge the supreme court from seven to eleven members.

Other recommendations provide that clerks of supreme and district courts be appointed and not elected as they presently are. Judges would be automatically retired at the age of 75. Probate judges would be given wider authority.

"Not since 1857, when our constitution was adopted, have Minnesota citizens been given a more favorable opportunity for improving the administration of justice," Judge Matson declared in his report. He said the proposal would provide an "evolutionary plan elastic enough to provide for gradual changes through legislative action, yet preserving the independence of the judiciary.

ENTHUSIASTIC. . . Retired Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright added his lots of support to the MacArthur-for-president drive. Speaking glowingly of his former army superior, Wainwright said, "Gen. Douglas MacArthur is the foremost candidate for President of the United States."

SEVERAL CASES IN MUNICIPAL COURT

Two Are Charged with Violating Liquor Law

Again this week a considerable grist of business was disposed of in municipal court, the cases involving violations of the traffic and liquor laws.

Taken into custody on complaints dating back to February 16, Ray Maidment and Henry Olson, Rocksbury were brought into court Monday on charges of selling liquor without a license. Maidment waived a preliminary hearing and was bound over to district court under $500 bond, while Olson demanded a hearing which was set for Friday.

Hans Newman of this city was fined $10 for speeding on Main Ave. The state highway patrol brought in E. Kenneth Grandant of Goodridge and Ralph E. Long on careless driving charges, each being fined $5 and costs.

The patrol Monday also brought in Donald H. Marquis of Goodridge on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. He paid a fine of $75 and costs.

Detour from Wadena to Staples Opened Apr. 12

Highway 10 from Staples to Wadena will be closed for reconstruction on Monday, April 12th. Detour from Staples to Wadena is via T. H. No. 71 and T. H. No. 3 which will carry a 5 ton per axle restriction, the highway department announced Saturday. The only unrestricted route from this territory to the Twin Cities now is T. H. No. 59 to Detroit Lakes; T. H. No. 10 to Moorhead; T. H. No. 52 and No. 59 to Elbow Lake; T. H. No. 79 to Evansville; T. H. No. 52 to St. Cloud, and T. H. No. 10 on into the Cities.

Three and a half million rural women in the United States, Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico are taking part in home demonstration work, the phase of the agricultural extension service program which deals with the home.

STATE ROAD FUNDS COMING TO COUNTY

Pennington County Will Get Total of $60,349

The State of Minnesota this week divided approximately $7,635,000 in state collected funds among its 87 counties for highway improvements off the state trunk highway system. The allotments included $1,234,916 from the state road and bridge fund allocated for work on state aid roads, and $6,400,000 alloted as the counties share of state gasoline tax collections for work on county aid roads, state aid parkways, and federal aid secondary improvements on county highways.

Pennington county will receive grants of $12,349 for state aid roads and $48,000 for county aid and federal aid secondary highways, or a total of $60,349. Red Lake county will receive the same amounts, while Marshall county will get $12,349 for state aid roads and $96,000 for county a.. roads.

The Pennington county allotment for county aid roads is $9,000 less than in 1947, County Auditor A. M. Senstad stated.

The state board of allotment comprises Julius A. Schmahl, state treasurer, Stafford King, state auditor; and M. J. Hoffman, commissioner of highways.

The state aid road fund is made up of the regular $1,200,000 annual appropriation from gas tax receipts plus carryover balances and miscellaneous receipts and the county aid road fund revenue constites the balances of the one-third of the net gas tax receipts after deduction of the state aid road fund, the special allotments and $25,00 to operate the county division of the state highway department all of which are provided for by law.

RECORD FLO ENGULF TOWN ON RED RIVER

River Valley District Also Is Hard Hit by High Stage of Water

The village of Oslo in Marshall county and nearly a dozen towns in Northeastern North Dakota have been hard hit during the past week by floods originating in the swollen Red river and its tributaries. Among the North Dakota towns that have been flooded are Grafton, Drayton, Forest River, Minto, and Cavalier, in addition to Grand Forks and East Grand Forks, Minnesota, where the crest of the waters appeared to have passed.

Virtually all buildings in Grafton were standing in water from a few inches up to five feet in depth, while at Oslo the water from the Red river covered the first floor of most structures. Many residents of the Thief River Falls community journeyed to the flooded areas during the past week to inspect conditions, reported to be the most serious in a half-century.

The Soo Wheat Line, after being hampered by snow blockades in North Dakota during much of the past winter, now has its train service tied up as a result of twenty or more washouts on the line between Oslo and Adams, N. D., the biggest one being west of Forest River, where a quarter-mile section of the roadbed has been washed out.

Crews are at work repairing the damage, and Division Superintendent E. A. Hameraki expressed the hope that operations west from Thief River Falls could be resumed by the latter part of next week. In the meantime, it is planned to start operating today between Kenmare and Adams. Normal service is being maintained on the Fordville-Drake line, Mr. Hameraki stated.

With the gates open in the power dam, the ice went out of the river pool in this city last Saturday, and many citizens gathered at the dam last weekend to observe the spectacular effect as the churning waters passed thru the dam.

The flood situation in the River Valley area has been even worse this spring than in the past, reaching the season's peak Sunday and dropping about six inches by Monday, according to County Engineer J. A. Erickson. He reported that water covered most of the roads in that area, as well as covering the main floors in the River Valley store and creamery.

BIG AUDIENCE HEARS TAYLOR TALK SATURDAY

Wallace's Running Mate Blames Wall Street for Promoting War Talk

That Henry A. Wallace, third party aspirant for the presidency, has numerous supporters in this section of the state was indicated by the large gathering in the Thief River Falls Auditorium Saturday afternoon that enthusiastically applauded an address by Senator Glen Taylor of Idaho, Wallace's running mate and candidate for the vice presidency.

Paul A. Harris, former state chairman of the Farmer-Labor association presided over the meeting, while Taylor was introduced by Gordon M. Olson. The audience contributed more than $500 to a collection taken in the course of the afternoon.

Taylor declared that the present Congress is the greatest calamity that ever befell this country, with the possible exception of President Harry Truman. He said that Wall street interests have taken over the government, and, along with military leaders, are out to conquer the world, and are to be blamed for promoting war against Russia.

The speaker made light of the Communist menace, stating that anyone you disagree with is given the label of Communist. He said the United States is headed along the same road down which Hitler led the German people, and added that he isn't at all certain the American people will be allowed to vote next November.

Following his speech Senator Taylor, a former band leader, joined with his wife and small son in the rendition of a song.

The program opened with songs by Bernard Asbel, who provided his own accompaniment on the guitar. Other speakers included James Youngdale, secretary of the agricultural committee for Wallace, who outlined the campaign to win the Minnesota DFL delegation to the national convention for the Wallace Third party convention; and Bert Mehling of the state committee for Wallace who made the solicitation for funds.

COUNCIL URGED TO QUALIFY FOR AIRPORT GRANT

State Funds Available If One-third of Cost of Projects Is Paid by City

Colonel Ernest B. Miller, deputy director of the Minnesota department of aeronautics, conferred in Thief River Falls Wednesday afternoon with a group of city officials and officers of the local Civil Air Patrol association regarding projected improvements to the municipal airport.

Arrangements for the conference were made by Ernest J. Barzen, head of the Civil Air Patrol, who was present together with G. A. Frahm, CAP secretary, Mayor Harry E. Simons, Council President Alfred Bredeson, Alderman Orrin Hall, and City Engineer Douglas Stewart.

It was explained that $12,500 in allotments of state funds is available for use on condition that the city supply one-third of any funds expended on improvement projects.

There was general agreement that the most urgent project consists of seeding the airport runways and ditches to prevent further erosion. It was pointed out that the cost of this work, due to the decline in the price of seed, would be materially less this year than a year ago when bids for seeding were rejected on the ground that they were too high.

Other proposed projects which were suggested for execution this year if feasible, include installation of sanitary facilities at the airport, installation of a 100-foot circle marker for airport identification, placing of a coating of oil on the ground around the hangars and construction of a new ditch at the south edge of the airport.

Barzen and Frahm also discussed the proposed improvement plan at an adjourned meeting of the city council Monday evening, and it was indicated that action on the matter would be taken at an early session.

Strait of Dover Still Proves Swimmer's Skill

Challenge springs eternal at the English channel's Strait of Dover, recently conquered by a swimmer for the first time since 1938.

The challenge is found not only in the channel waters, but also in the air above and even in the earth under the strait, holds National Geographic society. A land bridge joined the British isles and the continent of Europe until worn away in the Ice Age perhaps 10,000 years ago, geologists believe.

In the realm of swimming, the treacherous 20-mile strait has been successfully negotiated 28 times. Ten women share the honor with 14 men, one of the men having crossed once in each direction. The first swimmer crossed in 1875.

Where the swirling stream of the North sea meets the ebb and flow of the channel, cross currents, double tides and whirlpools are created. Slack tide is unknown; gales, fog and rough water prevail much of the year.

Men in ships have challenged the channel, in peace and in war, for centuries. Romans and Normans invaded Britain from the continent, while Spaniards, Germans and others were thwarted.

Home Builders Retain Houses for Lifetime

The fact that nearly 75 per cent of home builders occupy their houses for life indicates that home builders should take the time to plan homes carefully and also take a personal interest in construction details.

Among the details important to the lifetime enjoyment of a house is good plumbing and heating equipment. Quality materials and good workmanship are cheaper in the long run and are the best assurance of low maintenance cost during the life of the house.

The difference between a quality installation and a skimped installation is in the materials, in the experience of the contractor who takes the responsibility for the entire installation, and the skill of the journeymen employed by the contractor who make the installation.

A quality plumbing installation has piping of adequate size to deliver the proper quantity of water at all fixtures, irrespective of the demands for water made in the building.

A quality heating system is draftless, durable, economical to operate and sufficiently flexible not to overheat in mild weather yet capable of providing an abundance of heat in severe weather. Preferably it should offer the advantages of radiant heat either by means of radiators, radiant baseboards, panels or convectors.

DO READERS MAKE NEWS, OR VICE VERSA

Without readers there wouldn't be newspapers, so when readers help make the news they are doubly valuable. At Slayton 82-year-old Ernest Kuehl has subscribed to the Murray County Herald for the 51st year. A subscriber to the Lafayette Ledger paid a year in advance, as all good readers should, with a pound and a half of pennies saved out of spare change over a period of only a few months—200 of 'em. Hutchinson Leader is now in its 68th year and Nels Henriksen has been a paid-up subscribr for 65 of those years. Can anyone produce a challenger of this record?

Scientists Find Prehistoric Zoo

Fossils 60 Million Years Old Are Discovered In New Mexico.

NEW YORK. — A prehistoric zoo has been unearthed in New Mexico. First came fossils of the earliest dinosaurs. Then alligator-like creatures.

According to a new report from an expedition of the American Museum of Natural History, more than 40 other kinds of animals that lived about 60 million years ago—just about the start of the age of mammals to which man belongs, have been dug up near Landrith, N. M.

Included in these new finds are the fossils of the lemur, believed to be a relative or a forerunner of man. This animal, which still lives in the world, particularly Madagascar, is not the so-called "missing link."

The lemur, a small animal about a foot high, resembled a monkey, but had a sharp, fox-like face. Dr. George Simpson, head of the expedition, reported that fossils of several lemurs had been turned up.

He described the new finds as "the richest single deposit of early mammal bones ever found in the Southwest and perhaps of this age in the world."

Many Queer Ones.

Simpson's preliminary report, released by Wayne M. Faunce, vice-director of the museum, said the new discoveries include the fossils of extinct species of snails, fishes, lizards, snakes, turtles, alligators and squirrel-like rodents, the flesh eating creodents, the four-toed horse, called eohippus, and the prize catch of all—complete skeletons of the meniscotherium.

The meniscotherium long has been a "mystery animal," and the new discoveries are expected to clear up many unanswered questions about this creature.

The new discovery, according to the report from Simpson, has made it possible definitely to identify the meniscotherium as a small mammal.

The creature had a head only four or five inches long. It stood about a foot high. It had five toes on each foot, and each toe had a separate hoof.

The meniscotherium, a plant eater, didn't last long, the scientists say. Paleontologically speaking, it was a weakling and became extinct quickly.

In Triassic Period.

Faunce said the skeletons were of creatures that belonged to the Theropoda order of dinosaurs in the Triassic period and that heretofore these were known to have existed only from bone fragments.

He added that information is as yet incomplete because recent desert storms had destroyed communications from the site of the discovery.

First reports, Faunce said, indicated the creatures had very long hind legs on which they ran and short forelegs which they used to grasp their prey.

Two-Hour Surgical Operation Saves Life of 'Blue Baby'

BALTIMORE. — A "blue baby" operation was performed successfully at Johns Hopkins hospital on 18-month-old Billy Corn of Gaston, Ind.

When the baby was wheeled into the operating room, his lips, ears and fingertips were blue. When the surgery was completed almost two hours later, they were pink.

Billy, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Corn, kept vigil outside the operating room, was placed in an oxygen tent, the usual precautionary procedure for a 48-hour post-operative period.

The delicate operation was performed by Dr. Alfred Blalock who, with Dr. Helen Taussig, developed the technique to correct a malformation of the heart shutting off a proper flow of oxygen to the bloodstream.

Two Drunken Drivers Pay $75 Fines During Week

Two men paid fines of $75 and costs each when brought before Judge H. O. Chommie in municipal court during the past week by the highway patrol and city police.

The men were Charles W. Madsen of Newfolden, arrested by the police April 15 on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor; and Harry Karvonen of Oklee, arrested on a similar charge by the highway patrol April 18.

Harold E. Halvorson of Route 2, City, paid a fine of $10 and costs when charged by the patrol with driving in the wrong lane on Highway 59 in this city Monday. The patrol also brought in Bennie G. Howard of Goodridge on a charge of careless driving on Highway 59 April 17. He was fined $10 and costs.

Warm Weather Finally Makes Appearance Here

Long-awaited warm spring days finally arrived in this locality last week-end, taking most of the remaining snow-drifts in shaded spots and giving the grass a greenish tint. High temperatures recorded at Station KTRF included 64 Sunday, 56 Monday, 68 Tuesday and 69 Wednesday, with a low reading of 47 this morning. Rainfall amounting to .19 inch arrived early today.

Railway Trainmen Asked to Oppose Third Party

In a statement issued today, Lester J. Covey, legislative representative for A. F. Whitney, President of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, called upon all members of his organization to take a stand against the national third party movement.

In his statement which was sent to all BRT leaders throughout the state, Covey declared that the third party will serve only to split the liberal vote in Minnesota and bring about the defeat of liberal candidates for Congress and state offices.

He strongly urged BRT members to take an active part in Democratic-Farmer-Labor Party caucuses and conventions in order to help defeat the threats which have been made to capture the DFL Party for the third party forces.

After Better Horses

There are fewer horses on American farms now than at any time in the past 75 years. At least 12 state agricultural experiment stations and the U. S. department of agriculture now are trying to develop horses better adapted to farm use. One result is that draft horses are of smaller size. Percheron and Belgium mares are being crossed with Arabian, Thoroughbred and Morgan stallions. Although smaller, these horses are being selected for strength and endurance.

Oil Resistant Compound

For use on any electrical circuit coming in contact with oil, an oil-resistant compound made of neoprene rubber with special synthetics has been developed. It is distributed in the form of tape.

PASS THE CASTOR OIL

Beckoning for our attention this week are the pharmacists, who are staging their annual National Pharmacy Week. Special weeks of this kind leave us cold but we are glad this one comes now because it reminds us of something nice we should have said about the pharmacists a couple of weeks ago. It had to do with a speech that was made at their state convention, the speaker being quoted as follows:

> "Restrictive legislation is no substitute for public approval and acceptance. We must remember that such laws work both ways. Druggists say pharmacists alone must be permitted to sell vitamins or castor oil. But who sells it to a customer in an average drug store? Usually a non-registered clerk or the soda boy. The impression the customer receives is obvious. Just how long do you think the public is going to approve or comply with a law if we do not enforce it upon ourselves?"

The thing we like about this is the idea of a couple of hundred druggists getting a dose of castor oil from one of their own speakers at their own convention. It speaks well for the leadership of the state organization, and for the membership that supports good leaders.

It is the kind of straight-from-the-shoulder talk that we all need, but that our own organizations too often fail to give us. Most of us are members of some kind of a trade organization or union, and a part of the satisfaction we get out of membership is the assurance that among our own kind we will find sympathy. There will always be someone to feel sorry for us and weep because the world does not properly appreciate our great contribution to society.

We think it would be an excellent idea if at every gathering of the memebrs of a business man's or farmers organization or labor union the programs would include one speaker whose assignment it would be to tell his listeners what is wrong with them rather than what is wrong with the other fellow.

Be it said to the credit of the pharmacists of Minnesota, in recent years as far as we know they have not asked for one piece of legislation that could not be justified as in the public interest. Few other groups could say as much.

A round of cheers to the Woman's Club for sponsoring the crippled children's clinic, and to those who contributed to the success of the clinic by their services. It is a splendid piece of work, making available to handicapped children of this area the best of medical attention. It probably is not generally known to what a large extent free service enters into the state's health program for crippled children. The state's Gillette Hospital, for instance, has no hired medical staff. Youngsters receive the best of medical care and treatment by physicians and surgeons who serve without compensation. These doctors also conduct clinics thruout the state, such as the one held here Saturday, for not much more than their expenses. It is a health program conducted in the interests of physically handicapped boys and girls, and to all of the volunteers who make this program possible, the sincere thanks of the community.

In one field of activity we are getting back on a pre-war basis faster than we want to. In 1941 motorists produced a total of 626 traffic deaths in Minnesota but with the war production went into a slump. In 1943 the total dropped to 274. From that low however we have recovered steadily and the figure for last year was 570 and still mounting. Under the circumstances maybe we should all cooperate to the fullest extent with the officials who are trying to enforce safety rules and traffic regulations. Have you had your brakes clecked lately and how are your lights?

Looking Backward

1928—TWENTY YEARS AGO

The dry cleaning plant of the Kleanall company was destroyed by fire with a loss of $2,500.—Rev. O. J. Lundell is leaving with a brother from Seattle for a visit in Sweden.—Mr. and Mrs. Ole Finberg, of this city celebrated their golden wedding.—Morris Bye was installed as exalted ruler of the local Elks lodge, an interesting observer being Harry E. Ives, first to hold that office in Thief River Falls.—A five-inch snowfall arrived in the city April 18.—Mrs. Paul Harris and daughter Eleanor returned from a visit in Chicago.

1938—TEN YEARS AGO

Lars Backe, former mayor, city clerk and judge of probate, died April 20 at the age of 81. He had first come to Thief River Falls in 1888.—The arena management committee, headed by Alex M. Campbell, this week turned in to the city treasury $1,000 representing the net profit from the winter's operations.—Dr. Baldwin Borreson was elected president of the local Rotary club to succeed Tom Mehegan.

The philosophers seem to have a point when they tell us that the world today is too much concerned about facts rather than the truth.

It's about time for Minnesota banks to start a campaign to have the 17th of May designated as a holiday.

They're saying of Governor Dewey that his show is slipping.

With strikes of teachers and students bodies being reported in various towns around the state the lot of a school board member is frequently not a happy one.

Having a couple of state highway patrolmen stationed in Thief River Falls isn't doing any harm when it comes to traffic law enforcement.

We seldom hear of shotgun weddings these days, but, says the Ada Index, many of them are the result of beau and error.

Water no doubt is a useful commodity, but folks in many parts of Northwestern Minnesota will agree that there can be to much of a good thing.

Remember way back when New York's Flatiron building was considered an outstanding example of skyscraper construction?

Opportunity knocks once, but, says Billy Noonan, many neighbors have a different system.

Random thought—We admire the skill of candy bar makers in wrapping their product so that it looks twice its actual size.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor the Times:

On behalf of the Teen Canteen and the teen-agers of Thief River Falls, I wish to write this article to thank the various Civic organizations of this city for their generous contributions, which has made our club possible.

We wish to thank especially the Elks, Eagles, and the Jay-Cees for helping to pay our rent, and other miscellaneous needs. This has been greatly appreciated by all of us, although I must admit, we have never come out and said so until now.

As most of you know, the Canteen is managed mostly by the teen-agers who come down there. I believe we have done quite well, but of course, we could not have done anything without your help and backing.

Our Canteen has aided the city by cutting down on juvenile delinquency, and has helped us by learning how to meet other kids, and teaching them the act of being sociable.

You may say that you never had any place like our Canteen when you were younger, and you're not so bad; you must remember that there were not so many places for you to go as there are now.

So I ask you now—Please continue to back us! We need you—we, the teen-agers, must have your guidance.

You are welcome to inspect our Canteen at any time so come down, we'll show you around and give you a good time—I promise you!

Respectfully yours,
Phyllis Steen,
President Teen-age Canteen

Vegetable Discoloring

Preservation of fresh appearance and condition of leafy vegetables during shipment is claimed for a recently patented method of packing. Discoloration of the butts and ribs of the outer leaves of lettuce can be prevented by spraying or dipping with aqueous solutions of sodium thiosulphate, sodium hyposulphite, sodium metabisulphite and the corresponding water-soluble salts of potassium, magnesium and calcium.

El Camino Real

El Camino Real in Missouri was one of the oldest highways west of the Mississippi river. In the year 1541 De Soto and his Spanish adventurers used this old trail on foraging raids and hunting expeditions. Long before De Soto knew the trail, it was well established by the American Indians. Along this road the Indians carried their trade between tribes or war parties moved against each other.

Streptomycin Drug Used In Tuberculous Sinuses

Streptomycin, the recently discovered bacteria fighter derived from a mould found in the soil, has proved effective when used in the treatment of draining tuberculous sinuses, according to a report to American Medical association.

Streptomycin has successfully attacked diseases not affected by either penicillin or the sulfonamides. It apparently checks the growth of germs rather than destroying them, and resistant strains of germs often develop if treatment is prolonged. Many investigators have concluded that it is most valuable in cases where temporary suppression of infection will give the patient's natural defenses a chance to rally and gain the ascendancy over the disease.

In 12 cases reported, 15 per cent of the 60 sinuses closed within one to four weeks, and after 12 weeks of streptomycin treatment 80 per cent had closed. After 20 weeks, all but one sinus had closed. In 11 out of the 12 cases the patients' appetites also improved, and they gained an average of 15 pounds.

Building Up the Soil

By using available fertilizers more efficiently, farmers can stretch the supply and build up their soil, according to Middle West Soil Improvement committee. This means combining the use of plant food with other known soil-building measures. Good crop rotation, liming, contour farming where needed, use of deep-rooted legumes to open up the soil and return of crop residues and manure are all measures that will maintain fertility.

Flying Like a Bird

Flying equipment which can be strapped to an individual has won a patent for the Connecticut inventor. Application for the helicopter flying apparatus was filed in 1943. It enables the wearer to fly from 125 to 350 miles at 100 to 200 miles per hour. Landing can be made with or without a parachute.

Bird-Catching Spider

A species of the genus Mygale, large, hairy spiders found in tropical countries, especially in the Amazon valley, have been called "bird-catching spiders." While they appear to live chiefly on insects they can and do kill small birds. Their body may reach a length of two inches and the span is as much as seven inches.

STATES-DOMINION RECORDS LISTED

16 Players Score Three Goals or More in One Game, Records Reveal

League statistician Bill Julison released figures last week showing that sixteen States-Dominion hockey league players are entitled to the miniature silver derby that the A. H. A. awards to players scoring the "hat trick", three or more goals in one game.

Thirty-three times during the season a player scored three or more goals in a league game, but only sixteen players figured in the scoring for several of the players accomplished the feat two or more times. Hallock's Armand Ayotte, Emerson's "Moose" Dionne, and Grand Forks' Cliff Purpur, were the first place winners, each having performed the "hat trick" four times during the year.

Grand Forks' Milton "Prince" Johnson recorded the trick three times during the season; and the following players were credited with two "hats" each, Babe Paulsen and Bill Zippel of the local Thieves, Russ Johnson of Grand Forks, Ben Commeault, Nap Commeault, and Louise LaRocque of Hallock. Bob Grina, Bob Dorsher, and Tom Devine of Grand Forks, Lloyd Johnson and "Mouse" Efteland of the Thieves, and Fern St. Goddard of Emerson turned the trick once during the season.

Babe Paulsen, Armand Ayotte, and Fern St. Goddard embellished their scoring records by being the only players to score five goals in a game. Paulsen racked up his five tallies against the Emerson Canadians, while Ayotte and St. Goddard had their scoring sprees at the expense of the Grand Forks Amerks.

Babe Paulsen, with 37 goals and 23 assists, and Bill Zippel, with 32 goals and 23 assists, finished one-two in the individual scoring for the Thieves during the year, Lloyd Johnson, with 18 goals and 10 assists, earned third place with 28 points; while veteran Bob Bell had 15 goals and 12 assists for 27 points.

The Thieves individual scoring record:

	G.	A.	Pts.
Babe Paulsen	37	23	60
Bill Zippel	32	23	55
Lloyd Johnson	18	10	28
Bob Bell	15	12	27

Mouse Efteland	14	10	24
Tony Dorn	8	8	16
Bud Brossoit	6	6	12
Connie Stanbridge	4	7	11
Pug Lund	1	4	5
Bob Baker	3	1	4

History of Asia Minor Shows Many Civilizations

Asia Minor, where many ancient civilizations rose and fell, was the home of the Hittite Empire which created an established civilization 13 centuries before Christ. The Turks are linked racially with the Hittites. They are said to belong to those Central Asiatic tribes which migrated westward from the Altai mountains.

Before settling in Asia Minor, toward the end of the sixth century A. D., the Sky Turks, as they called themselves (Gok Turkler) because they came from the high country, are known to have created an empire which extended from the Caspian sea to the sea of Japan.

Through the centuries which followed many Turkish tribesmen migrated into Asia Minor, there to take up their abode. Long accustomed to rule, they gradually dominated the earlier inhabitants.

The idea that the Turks came into Asia Minor in one great invading wave is wrong. It is more correct to say that their permanent establishment in their present homeland was achieved by a slow process of infiltration or penetration of peoples.

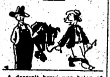
RETURN OF A CARRIER... Nicest thing about pictures of warships is that they invariably have interesting scenic backgrounds. Here, the lower New York skyline serves as a backdrop for the aircraft carrier Leyte as she passes the Brooklyn bridge. The Leyte was docked at Brooklyn navy yard for overhauling after returning from a tour of duty in the Mediterranean.

Financial Finagling

Pat had opened his first bank account and had taken to paying most of his bills by check. One day the bank sent him a statement together with a packet of cancelled checks. Of the statement Pat made neither head nor tail but the returned checks pleased him greatly.

"Mike," he said to a friend. "It's a smart bank I am doing business with now. Oi paid all me bills wid checks and be jabbers if the bank wasn't slick enough to get every check back for me."

UNFAIR COMPETITION



A decrepit horse was being offered to the highest bidder. An old farmer watched as a young man in riding breeches bid for the animal. When the sale was completed, he turned to the young fellow. "Tell me," he said, "what on earth are you going to do with that nag?"

"Oh," replied the cocky young sportsman, "I'm going to race him."

The farmer took a second look at the animal. "Well, you'll win," he said.

Save the Pans!

Edgar, a veteran of many battles, had never had a fight like this one! His wife was beating him over the head with a saucepan. His mother-in-law, hearing the racket, dashed into the room.

"Unhand that bum, daughter!" she bellowed.

Edgar thought he must be delirious. What mother-in-law — especially his — ever took the side of a son-in-law in a family row? But he soon awoke to the cold grim truth when the old lady continued:

"If you want to hit him, use the old saucepans! I won't have you knocking all the enamel off my new ones!"

Telling Him Off

Easy - going, indifferently educated Sam Jenkins married a school teacher, a precise, extremely erudite woman of decided opinions and it was soon evident they would not hit it off very well together.

"I guess," commented one friend of the unfortunate Sam, "that you are overcome by your wife's powers of diction."

"Not at all, not at all," rejoined Sam. "What's got me licked is her almighty power of contradiction."

Gold in The Forests

Georgia farmers marketed more than 13 million dollars worth of forest products in 1946, according to reports compiled by the state extension service. More than 60,000 farmers were contacted by the state's various county agents during the year in a forest fire control program, the report continues, and 13,000 Four-H club members carried out forestry projects. Georgia farmers also planted more than eight million seedlings during the year.

Clipping Permitted

Clipping in football brings a penalty, but in pastures it means better grazing for cows, say dairy specialists.

Teacher Slips Up

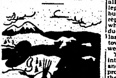
A certain well-known statesman, who operates a farm as a hobby, being queried recently about underpaid teachers, admitted that he had never encountered but one teacher who might conceivably have been paid as much or more than she was worth.

One day this statesman went to a certain farm, he said, to purchase a bushel of buckwheat for sowing. The farmer was absent, so his wife waited on the caller. She took a peck measure, filled it and emptied it twice in the statesman's bag, and then proceeded to tie up the purchase.

"Pardon me," the visitor said, "but don't you know it takes four pecks to make a bushel?"

"Does it?" rejoined the woman. "I never had any experience in measuring grain before I was married, I always taught school."

NOTHING WORTH SEEING



An artist who wanted a home among the Taconic hills of Vermont was talking the matter over with a farmer who allowed that he had a house for sale.

"I must have a good view," said the artist. "Is there a good view?"

"Well," drawled the farmer, "from the front porch yuh kin see Ed Snow's barn, but beyond that there ain't nothin' but a bunch of mountains."

Demand for Nickel

Until about 50 years ago there was little demand for nickel except for nickel plating, for nickel coins and for nickel silver to make articles for domestic use and as a base for silver-plated ware. Since that time, and especially since 1921, hundreds of additional uses have been discovered for this metal, largely through scientific research.

Plenty of Interest

With the favorable weather of the past few days, manager Clarence Rasmussen has been able to have the city team candidates engage in preliminary workouts. The practice sessions have been held on the East Side park, but manager Rass hopes to have the club out on the Fair Grounds by the latter part of the week. The limited space at the East Side park has confined the practice drills to warm-up throwing and light batting practice. Defensive drills for the infielders will have to be held up until the squad moves out to the Fair Grounds, or until the East Side diamond has been "skinned".

Judging by the players that have reported for practice, it appears that the team will have just enough veterans to provide the "leaven" for the youngsters on the club. Shaping up for infield positions are Stan Cockren at first base; Babe Paulsen at second base; Blackie Stephens or Bob Baker at shortstop; manager Ramussen, Bud Brossoit, or Al Thompson at third base. Among the boys striving for the outfield positions are Owen Korsmo, Bob Carlson, and Phil LeGault.

In spite of the fact that Jimmy Anderson, former Luther college catcher who caught several games for the locals last year, has stated that he didn't think that he would be available this year because his railroad work would be taking him out of town quite often, the catching job should be adequately filled by Merle Carlson and Swede Lund. Lund, who hoved up from the junior team late last year, will be certain to be in the lineup some place, for the team needs his hitting ability.

Pitching is Problem

But to get capable and efficient pitching will be manager Rasmussen's most difficult task. To date it appears that the pitching will be an unknown factor until the season gets under way, for the team will have to rely on such strong-armed young fellows as Don Perkins, Al Thompson and Virg Evenstad. These boys, all graduates of the local junior legion team, have possibilities but they lack experience. It is reported that Ray Tehennepe, who beat the locals in a 1 to 0 duel while pitching for Oklee last year, is to be employed in town this year. Well he'll be welcome.

Yes, if youthfulness, baseball interest, capable management, and business organization will produce a successful team, then the locals will be a success, for they have these things this year.

All-City Bowling Team

Now that the bowling season has just about come to an end and all the champions have been decided—all that remains to be done is the awarding of the trophies at the annual banquet—it's proper to the list the bowlers have, perhaps, merited all-city selection.

As the pilot you would have left-handed; and Jesse DuChamp of the Plummer team would be ideal in second place; Berdeen Nornes, who bowled consistenly, if not spectacularly, all year, in third place; rolling in fourth spot would be John "Snort" Langseth, who's effortless delivery has kept in the top-rank of the city's bowlers for years; and at the anchor position you would have Wally Duchamp. And as spares for that team you could choose "Ham" Bergland, Ambrose Wysoski, Ed. Karwand, and Efil Dostal. Fact is, Bergland, Wysoski, Karwand and Dostal are capable of out-striking the "first-stringers", but they lack the consistency of the other boys.

Will be Chasing Oen's.

The city softball league completed its organization last Monday and the league, as last year, will be an eight team circuit; and the prospects are that the other seven teams—Poppler's Furniture, Northern Chevrolet, Eagles, Hudson Motors, Bridgeman's, Middle River, and Viking—will be chasing the Oen's team. Whether or not they'll catch the city champion is doubtful.

The season is to start on May 17th, with the Oen's, and their raise-ball expert Milt Reierson, playing the Rocksbury team who will, it is expected, be playing for Bill LaFave's Bridgeman's company. It is rumored that pitcher Milt Reierson has been troubled with a sacro-iliac condition and that the back ailment may handicap his pitching. Oen's, with Milt's trouble in mind, signed Oberg, the former St. Hilaire player, to their roster.

The boys don't wish Milt any bad luck, but I'll wager that the other teams will do a lot of bunting when Milt is on the mound. Fielding bunts is just the right "medicine" for a lame back.

Deer and Elk Dangerous

Bambi, the deer, and Elmer, the elk, can be dangerous neighbors for Farmer Jones' cattle and sheep—no matter how friendly they are. The danger, described in a committee report at the convention of American Veterinary Medical association, lies in the fact that deer and elk are natural carriers of a tiny parasite called "fascioloides magna." In deer and elk, the parasite does little harm and rarely causes noticeable illness. In cattle and sheep, it causes the disease "liver fluke." The committee asked for alertness where sheep range over territory occupied by deer or elk.

Bleaching by Freezing

When white laundry is permitted to freeze, it seems to undergo a bleaching action. This effect probably is due to formation of ozone or hydrogen peroxide, which are more stable at lower temperatures. Both of these are good bleaches.

HIGHWAY WORKERS WIN SAFETY HONOR

65 in Crookston Area to Get Awards May 5

Safe driver awards to 1,432 state highway department maintenance employees who have operated motorized equipment over the state's 11,220-mile trunk highway system throughout the past year without a preventable accident, are being presented at a series of district safety meetings being held during the closing weeks of April and first week in May throughout Minnesota's 16 highway maintenance districts.

Most recipients of awards are "repeaters," having several years of accident-free records, and 298 have had perfect records for 15 years or more.

The annual district safety meetings and safe driver awards are a part of a highway department program begun in 1931 to protect both the driving public and the employees themselves against accidents involving the operation of road equipment.

In addition to the award presentations, each district program will include talks on the state employee's responsibility to the public by the district engineer and district maintenance engineer; a competitive quiz on safety rules; highway safety motion pictures, and an outline of goals to still further improve the record by J. E. P. Darrell, head of the department's traffic safety division. C. L. Motl, chief maintenance engineer of the department, will present the awards.

The schedule for the 16 district safety meetings includes Crookston May 5 at 1:30 p. m. when 65 employees will receive safe driver awards.

WHERE THREE'S NOT A CROWD

Bear Creek.—One of the smallest duly constructed schools in the land must be the one in this Winona county hamlet attended by three pupils and one teacher. Two girls 6 and 12, and a boy 10, stick out a long day of study, singing, and even napping, every day the teacher's car doesn't stall, which it rarely does. Mrs. Rebecca Barrier drives 10 miles from Elba to shepherd her little flock, picks up and delivers two of them, does the janitor work, and even provides the cot for the 6-year-old's rest.

Know Your Cotton Laws

Sale of cotton goods was forbidden in England in 1700 because it competed with native wool. Long before this, in India, about 5,000 years ago, cloth began to be made of cotton. Ancient ruins of Peru, show that the people who lived in the Andes made cotton cloth even before it was manufactured in India. The Pueblo Indians, in what is now New Mexico grew cotton and made blankets of it. U. S. produces half of the cotton of the world. The invention of the cotton gin by Eli Whitney in 1793 made U. S. the leading cotton country of the world.

THROWING NO STONES...This is a transparent example of how attractive living in a farm home can be. The Pine Manor farm home of Milo Miller near Goshen, Ind., has five large picture windows, including this one in the utility room which overlooks the farm yard. Glass is of two-pane construction enclosing dehydrated air space for insulation, eliminating drafts and frosting of window in winter.

POLITICAL ROUNDUP

By Arthur Naftalin

As April 30, the day set for the Democratic-Farmer-Labor Party's precinct caucuses approaches, the full importance of the struggle now going on for control of the Party is beginning to become clear. This is no usual clash between two factions. This is a fight that will determine whether a Democratic state party, as part of the national Democratic organization, will remain in Minnesota or whether a third party group will be able to capture the DFL name for its own use.

Under state election law, only one political party may use the name of that party or any part of it. Thus, if the Third Party group captures the DFL, the Democratic Party in Minnesota will have to select a new name and file its Presidential electors by petition. This, obviously, will create a most confused situation and give the Third Party group an advantage that is not generally appreciated.

The Minnesota Third Party managers make no effort to conceal their plans to abandon the Democratic Party once they have captured the state DFL organization. "If we win control of the DFL state convention," Orville Olson, Third Party manager, declared, "the delegates we elect will be sent to the third party national convention at Philadelphia July 24-25 to help nominate Henry Wallace for president and Glen Taylor for vice president." They will thus snub the Democratic convention which is set for Philadelphia on July 17.

Despite the fact that the regular Democrat-Farmer-Laborites unquestionably outnumber the Third Party supporters by many times, there is some real chance that the Wallace people will win the state DFL convention. This has to do with the mathematics of convention control. To control the convention, the Third Party group needs 202 convention votes. It is counting on taking over all Hennepin county's 74 votes, at least a portion of Ramsey and St. Louis counties, and a number of outlying counties. There are always some counties unrepresented in a state convention, thus something less than an actual majority is necessary. Also, by the time the convention ends, there is always a dropping away of attendance, with the result that a hard core of 150 votes can control affairs at the crucial windup.

The regular Democrat-Farmer-Laborites charge that the Third Party move to capture the DFL is a brazen attempt to make a Communist-front organization out of the party. The Hennepin County DFL Volunteer Committee openly charges the left-wing controlled county central group with concealing the precinct caucuses from the right-wing participants. Here again, they point out, the mathematics of control favor the well-diciplined left-wing ranks. Needing only 210 out of the county's 419 precincts for control of Henepin, the left-wing, so the regulars contend, can concentrate their strength on taking 100 precincts, and, then, pick up the additional county votes by simple dummying in the credentials in those precincts from which there are no returns.

The regular DFL'ers charge that victory for what they call the Communist-line forces will mean that the DFL Party will become nothing more nor less than a Communist-front group. In a 16-page pamphlet issued by the Hennepin regulars, they charge that a left-wing victory will destroy the DFL. "Our promising candidates for state and national office," the pamphlet says, "simply will not run on the ticket of a party that supports the pro-Soviet line that our United States is corrupt and vicious and that the Soviet Union is the spearhead of a great new world order."

The regulars see, however, a constructive possibility in the situation. "If we win," they say, "we will be rid, at long last, of the Communists and their fellow-travelers. This splinter group will pack its carpet-bags and leave our party to work in its own third party. We will have a fighting chance to stem the reactionary tide, to elect a United States Senator, several Congressmen and many state legislators."

All this serves only to puzzle the average voter. The man-in-the-street cannot understand how it is possible for a group that is seeking the destruction of a party to come into that party and takfle it over. He cannot understand how it is possible for a minority group within the party to muster so much strength as to constitute such a threat. The explanation is, of course, the hard discipline of the left-wing which as it has in so many European struggles, fractionates and confuses the majority until the left-wing forces move into control.

UNFETTERED BY CHAIN OF YEARS

Neither blocked roads, bad foot, nor accumulated years could keep Eyvind Schjeldrup of Plummer from the first birthday party of his grand-daughter Anita Joy, McIntosh. In contrast to the oxcarts he knew in the early days, a plane whisked the 84-year-old pioneer from home to party and back again. At 90 Mrs. A. H. Horton flew from St. Paul to Phoenix, Ariz. to visit a daughter and two grand-daughters. A cablegram from Hawaii, a phone call from Austria, visitors from several eastern states, and presents from practically everywhere marked the 92nd birthday of Dr. Christopher Graham, Rochester, who read his mail, visited with callers, milked a cow, and watched the sunset.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Homer Does Some "Back-Seat Sewing!"

Homer Bentley's missus was working on her new sewing machine, when Homer comes in, draws up a chair, and starts talking: "Don't you think you're running too fast?" he says. "Slow down! Watch out! Be careful!"

When the missus finally turns with murder in her eyes, Homer says goodnaturedly: "I thought you might like a little help, dear—like you help me drive the car."

The missus can't help but burst out laughing—and they settle what might have been a quarrel over a friendly glass of beer. The missus agrees to give up back-seat driving and nagging Homer about ashes on the rug. Homer agrees to quit criticising Sarah's taste for flowery hats and parsley salad.

From where I sit, the key to getting on together is meeting every issue half way—and overlooking any petty differences in tastes—whether these tastes apply to beer or flowery-looking hats!

NEWFOLDEN

Shirley Tandberg Weds

St. John's Lutheran Church, Chicago, was the scene of a pretty wedding when Shirley Ann Tandberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rolf Tandberg, of this place became the bride of Carl Woodward of Chicago on Saturday afternoon, March 27 at 3.00 o'clock. Rev. John Caldwell, pastor of the church read the marriage vows and Mrs. Caldwell sang "Because" and "Oh Promise Me".

The bride was attired in a grey sharkskin suit with grey and white accessories and wore a corsage of orchids. She was attended by a close friend, LuVerne Greiser, who was attired in a Glen-plaid suit and brown accessories and wore a corsage of white carnations.

The groom wore a grey suit and was attended by his friend, Jack Shine.

A lovely reception was given at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Walter Tinkham for about 50 guests. She was assisted by Mrs. Joe Ralston, another sister of the bride. Many lovely gifts were received.

They left shortly after the wedding for Los Angeles, California, where they plan to make their home.

The bride is a graduate of Newfolden high school, class of 1943, and has been employed in Chicago for some time. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Woodward, of Herod, Illinois, and is in the insurance business. Friends of this community extend their congratulations and best wishes to the young couple.

Legion Treats Auxiliary

Emil Dyrud Injured

Emil Dyrud had a narrow escape from serious injuries last Wednesday morning at his farm home 8 miles west of town.

Mr. Dyrud was filling gasoline into the engine of his electric light plant. He filled the tank too full and the gas ran over onto the basement floor. Mrs. Dyrud was heating water on a kerosene stove in the basement and this ignited the gas fumes. In a few seconds the entire basement was a sheet of flames. Mr. Dyrud managed to put the cap on the gas can, then picked up the flaming can and carried it outside. He then ran back into the basement and smothered the flames with a rug. Through his quick action in getting the gasoline can outside before it exploded, and in smothering the remaining flames in the basement, he probably saved his house from burning up. As it was, no damage was done to his property, but he was severely burned on his right hand and wrist. He was taken immediately to Thief River Falls, where he received medical treatment. He was very badly burned, and it will take many weeks before the hand heals. He returned home that afternoon with his hand heavily bandaged. Although he may have to wear those bandages for a long time, and his hand may always be stiff, Emil considers himself one of the luckiest men in this community, and is thankful that he got off as easy as he did.

Stokke and Son Sell Out

A deal was terminated last week whereby Hjalmer Stokke and son, Percy sold their entire business, consisting of the Newfolden Auto Co., Chevrolet garage, Allis-Chalmers Tractor and Implement business and the Minnesota Machinery Agency, to Clifford Hedeen and D. I. Johnson of Thief River Falls.

The Stokkes have operated the Newfolden Auto Co. since 1934, when it was purchased by them from Alfred Johnson and Henry Bue. During this time they have enjoyed a good business, and have built up a fine reputation for honest dealing. At this time they have not decided just where they will go or what they will do in the future. Their many friends hope that they will decide to remain in this community.

The new owners, who took over the management on Monday, are not exactly strangers in this community. Mr. Hedeen has a contracting business in Thief River Falls and has done several jobs in Newfolden. He had the contract to dig for our storm sewers a year ago, and has also excavated basements here. Mr. Johnson was formerly employed in the auto and tractor parts and tire department of the Montgomery Ward store in Thief River Falls and is acquainted with many of our citizens.

We welcome the new owners into our village and hope that they will enjoy their share of the patronage of this community.

Put DDT in Doghouse

Federal entomologists suggest that DDT be put in the doghouse, as well as in quarters of other pets that roam afield and bring home fleas and ticks or that are likely to attract flies, mosquitoes or bedbugs. Such treatment does not guarantee complete protection but is well worth while in reducing the chance for annoyances or infection. One special value of DDT is that it remains effective for weeks.

To be Big, don't belittle Little Things

Fine brewing is such a big project that it's the little things that count against you—if you don't watch them. Little grains of broken barley . . . little metal particles . . . little changes in temperature . . . seemingly little changes in timing or cleaning. Guarding against a multitude of such "little things" 24 hours a day contributes toward making ours the most expensive brewing process known in America. It produces results of such quality that Budweiser has become something more than beer—a tradition in hospitality.

Revenue Collector Outlines '48 Tax Law

Elmer F. Kelm, collector of internal revenue, St. Paul stated today that his office is preparing to mail to all employers in Minnesota a new circular containing instructions for the withholding of income tax on wages paid employees according to the new rates of tax as passed by Congress on April 2, 1948. It is expected that these new circulars will be mailed to all employers during the last week in April.

The new wage bracket tables contained in this circular reduce the amount of income tax to be withheld on wage payments about 12%. The reduction is contained in increased exemptions, as well as the rate of tax to be withheld.

The new withholding rates become effective with the first payment of salary or wages on or after May 1, 1948. The date the wages are paid is the governing factor, not the date such wages were earned. In other words, any wages paid on or after May 1 are subject to the new withholding rates, regardless of when such wages were earned. The old rates must be applied to wages paid prior to May 1, 1948.

Under the withholding rates in effect up to May 1, tax is withheld at the rate of 17 and 19 per cent. Under the new law tax will be withheld at the rate of 15 percent. This will simplify the procedure in the computation of the tax to be withheld on certain wage payments, such as bonuses, commissions, overtime and similar payments which are made in addition to the regular pay of the employee.

Under the present law the employer must compute tax on such wage payments by aggregating the bonus or commission with the regular wage payment for the payroll period, then compute the tax on the sum of the two as though they constituted a single wage payment for the payroll period.

This same procedure may be followed under the new law, but the employer has the option of computing tax on the supplemental wage payment by using a flat rate of 15% without allowance for exemptions and without reference to any regular payment of wages provided, of course, that tax has been withheld on the employee's regular wages.

The new law also provides additional exemptions for employees where an employee or his wife (or her husband) attain the age of 65 by the end of the year. Additional exemption is also allowed if the employee or his wife (or her husband) becomes blind. These new exemptions work this way:

An employee who is over 65 and whose wife is also over 65 may at present, under the old law, claim two exemptions, one for himself and one for his wife for the purpose of the withholding tax. With the first payment of wages on or after May 1 this employee may claim four exemptions, two for himself and two for his wife because they are both over 65 years of age.

If this employee's wife is also blind he could claim five exemptions, two for himself and three for his wife. A new employee's withholding exemption certificate, Form W-4, should be completed and filed by such an employee with his employer. All other employees, who are not affected by the new exemptions for individuals over 65 or those who are blind, need not file new certificates.

Supplies of the new Circular WT and the new Employee's Withholding Exemption Certificates, Form W-4, will be available for distribution to employers from the office of the Collector of Internal Revenue, St. Paul, Minnesota, on and after May 1.

Trout Fishing to Open in Minnesota May 1st; Walleyed Pike May 15

In another 10 days the bonnie month of May is here once more, the halfway house between the ice castle of winter and the open playhouse of summer.

May brings many things to delight the eye and quicken the spirit. Ten thousand ice-locked lakes are open once more, and in countless homes the tackle box is the center of attention as eager disciples of Izaak Walton overhaul their tangled equipment. The rod and reel are oiled, new hooks and lures are purchased and everything is put in readiness for the opening day.

Beginning May 1, the speckled beauties that leap and play in Minnesota's racing streams will be darting after the shiny lure of the trout fisherman. On May 15 the season for walleyed pike, crappies, sunfish and rockbass opens, followed a month later by the northern pike and pickerel. Bass get another five-day respite with the season on both the large and small-mouth varieties opening on June 20.

4,239 MOTORISTS LOSE LICENSES IN 1ST THREE MONTHS

Drivers Lose Permits at Average of 46 Each Day to Date in '48

Driver violations cost 4,239 motorists in Minnesota the loss of their drivers licenses during the first three months of this year, as compared with 3,935 during the first quarter of 1947. Drivers license suspensions total 3,388 and out-right revocations 851 since Jan. 1.

This is a combined average of over 46 drivers a day—most of whom tossed away their rights to drive for the doubtful satisfaction of endangering the welfare of themselves and others by violating traffic safety regulations.

During the same quarter-year the drivers license division of the state highway department reports having given 7,677 driving tests and examinations, as compared with only 338 in the first quarter of 1947. The marked increase was due to 7,364 driving tests given this year under the new state law requiring examinations for all new license applicants. Of this latter figure 3,933 or more than half, failed on their first tests, but most applicants pass after further study of driving practices.

Drunken driving led the three-months list of causes for license revocations, with 722 for the quarter, while 52 more drinking drivers lost their licenses by being committed as inebriates. Speeding was next, with 30 revocations, hit and run driving resulted in 25, and careless driving 24.

Of the three-months suspensions, traffic practices which endangered lives on roads and streets accounted for: 309 for speeding, 158 for careless driving, 31 for running through stop signs or signals, and 21 for driving away after an accident. Violations of the safety responsibility act were responsible for 1,942 suspensions, failure to take required driving tests for 611, and inability to show financial responsibility for 183.

Three hundred and fifteen of the quarter's revocations and 1,082 of the suspensions occurred during the month of March. Drunken driving and inebriacy revocations in March numbered 294, while suspensions for speeding, careless driving, running through signs or signals, and driving away after an accident added up to 212 motorists who won't be enjoying themselves behind the wheel during the nicest days of Spring.

FISHING LICENSES BARGAIN IN STATE

Only 8 States Charge as Little as One Dollar

When Minnesota residents lay a dollar on the line for their annual angling license, they're getting just about the best fishing buy in the country, along with their neighbors from Wisconsin.

A check of license fees in 47 states (District of Columbia requires no license) discloses that only eight states issue fishing permits to residents for $1.00—Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Kansas, South Dakota, Kentucky, Louisianna, and Alabama. Of these, Minnesota and Wisconsin, of course, offer by far the best fishing.

This is the rock bottom fee in the country with the lone exception of North Dakota, which sells resident licenses for $.50 each.

Eleven states charge residents $2.00—just twice as much. Eleven other states charge more than $2.00, ranging all the way up to a high of $5.00 per license in the state of Washington. Non-residents, too, get a break in Minnesota waters. The North Star state is one of 11 charging $3.00 for non-resident licenses.

Iron Caused to Rust

Rust is defined as a red or orange-yellow coating which is formed on the surface of iron when exposed to air and moisture. When so exposed, iron is attacked by oxygen, forming iron oxide, which is rust. As oxygen and moisture cause iron to rust, it is necessary to have these two conditions present before this chemical change can occur.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD
Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

Trying Days for Baby

Now that spring is almost here, many mothers are eagerly looking forward to the bright days when baby can be put outside in his playpen to enjoy the sunshine.

A baby who is now just old enough to be put out in the pen probably was born early last summer and so was really too young to be put on display outside very much last year. Now, however, he is fair game for anyone and everyone.

Unfortunately, babies of playpen age, usually between six months and a year old, are quite skittish, particularly around strangers. A baby is likely to wail loudly if a stranger or a slight acquaintance tries to should attempt to pick up a baby of this age, he will be rewarded for his efforts with kicking and screaming.

This is a distressing thing for the adult, and quite embarassing for the mother. These babies are not spoiled, or perverse; they are perfectly normal children who are going through a rather brief period which lies between the friendliness of the three month-old baby and the friendliness of the year-old baby.

The best way to avoid being distressed or embarrassed is to handle the baby as if he were a strange dog. Ordinarily we do not pick up strange dogs, we wait with deep respect until the dog makes the first friendly overture. A baby is certainly entitled to as much respect. Walk over to him quietly, without talking, and stand perfectly still. More than likely junior will give you a good long "once-over." Then, in most cases, he will crawl over to make friends.

Even then you should be quite cautious and reserved until he encourages more active play. Eventually you can gain his complete confidence.

A mother should feel free to tell people that baby is somewhat skittish and to suggest that they act as outlined before. After all, babies have every right in the world to as much self-dignity as anyone else, and a blustering adult mauling one around does not encourage dignity.

Cobalt Deficiency Loss
Cobalt deficiency, which occurs widely in New Hampshire and other states, for many years has caused heavy losses to the livestock industry. The New Hampshire station identified the cause and showed that the slow starvation of sheep and cattle due to cobalt deficiency can be overcome quickly by administering small amounts of cobalt. As a result, most of the feed manufacturers serving the region now include two or three grams of cobalt sulfate per ton of feed.

Forests of Africa
Forests in some parts of Africa are so thick that most animals cannot live in them. They are inhabited by reptiles, monkeys and birds. Curiously enough, while the birds of Africa are among the world's most beautiful, few of them sing.

First steel plows in general use were invented by John Deere in about 1837.

DAIRYMEN ASKED TO BACK NATIONAL ADVERTISING PLAN

John Brandt Tells of Campaign Being Waged by American Dairy Assn.

A call for dairy farmers to rally behind the program of the American Dairy Association was issued today by John Brandt, president of Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc., who said that the dairy industry faces a big job of rehabilitating itself before the consuming public.

He urged farmers to support the deductions of 1 cent per pound of butterfat during June as a contribution toward the association's advertising program.

"The constant agitation of the oleomargerine manufacturers against the present tax on colored oleomargerine," he said, "has stirred up national interest to the point where consumers have developed an antagonistic attitude toward the dairy industry in the belief they are being taxed on a food product they may wish to buy.

"Regardless of the outcome of the legislation now being considered, the dairy industry has a big job before it in the rehabilitation of its place in the good graces of the consuming public.

"That will require constant, consistent and well-planned advertising."

Mr. Brandt said that the American Dairy Association is the agency of service that can be depended upon to do the job on behalf of the dairy farmers. The Association, he pointed out, receives contributions to its advertising campaign from producers through their marketing outlets regardless of their affiliation or whether they are cooperative or private institutions.

"The money is then used," he said, "in the general promotion of the use of dairy products through advertising and merchandising assistance. It is not used to promote the brand distribution of any one organization."

"The Land O'Lakes Creameries and other distributors of dairy products supplement the general program of ADA by promoting their individual brands."

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Senator Joseph H. Ball

You will be hearing quite a bit in coming weeks about S.866, the Taft-Ellender-Wagner bill, which is now pending in the senate and probably will be passed next week. The bill is 98 pages long divided into eight titles, and deals with a technical, complicated subject. It isn't possible in this space to summarize all its provisions, but here are the most important ones:

1. In order to assist local public agencies to assemble and clear land in slum and blighted areas, put in streets and public utilities and prepare the area for redevelopment into low-rent residential housing by either public agencies or private enterprise, S.866 autorizes federal loans to local public agencies at the rate of $200,000,000 a year for five years, or a maximum of one billion dollars. In addition federal grants of $100,000,000 a year to local public agencies for five years, or a total of 500 million, are authorized to pay up to two-thirds of the cost of such land acquisition and preparation for redevelopment. The cost of buying and clearing large parcels of land in big cities will be so high that low-rental housing projects would not be possible unless the costs were written down by some grants or subsidies.

2. The U. S. Housing Act of 1937 authorizes federal contributions or subsidies, to low rental public housing and slum clearing projects up to $28,000,000 a year and it was under this Act that many such projects were built. S.866 provides for increasing the total of federal contributions at the rate of $32,000,000 a year for five years to a total of 188 millions annually after July 1, 1952. Families of veterans or servicemen would have preference as tenants for the first five years, federal contributions would be assured for 40 instead of the present 60 years, and the maximum contribution would be increased from 3.5 to 4.5 per cent of total project costs. S.866 also increases the maximum cost per room from $1,000 to $1,250 and to $1,500 in large cities, with the Administrator authorized to hike it another $250 per room.

Eligibility requirements of local public housing agencies are tightened up by S.866 to require: (1) a showing of need not met by private construction, (2) a gap of 20 per-cent between the lowest private rental housing available in substantial amounts and the highest rents to be charged in the project, (3) approval by the local governing body, and (4) that each tenant family, other than veterans, has occupied slum or sub-standard housing. This is the most controversial title in S.866.

3. S.866 extends Title VI of the National Housing Act, under which wartime rental projects were insured for a year, to March 31, 1949 and increases the total mortages which may be insured by one billion 600 million dollars, with a requirement that one billion dollars, of the additional amount go to insure loans for low rental housing in which veterans are assured preference. The present maximum of $1,800 per room would be changed to $8,100 per family unit.

4. S.866 liberalizes the provisions for FHA insurance for Title I loans (for alterations or repairs to housing) and Title II loans for new housing costing less than $7,000 per family unit.

5. S.866 authorizes federal research to cut housing costs, and surveys of national housing needs and rural housing problems.

6. Finally, S.866 authorizes the RFC to loan up to 50 millions to prefabricators and creates a new government corporation to act as a secondary market for real estate loans where needed for two years.

Remodeling, modernization, repair, painting, reroofing, interior decorating, landscaping . . . are types of work which may be financed with Title I Loans. No down payments are necessary—regular monthly payments retire the loan. Household equipment of an attached nature also comes under Title I Loans.

New home construction, the purchase of existing structures, or refinancing present mortgages come under Title II Loans. Monthly payment covers interest, retirement of principal and taxes. Payments may be spread over a period as great as 15 years. It's easier to build or buy when you finance the easy FHA way.

An auto-wise Detroit editor writes, "Hudson . . . will still be in a sellers' market after the buyers' market returns!" A Cleveland motor-car writer, "The public is in for a thrill!" From a San Francisco auto editor's column, "Hudson has really hit the jackpot!"

And so it goes—right around the nation! Men who have "seen everything" in automobiles go for the New Hudson.

It is the only American-built motor car you step down into when entering, not up on! This new development brings you sensational advantages—among them, newly streamlined beauty that would otherwise be impractical.

This new kind of motor car is only five feet from ground to top, yet by stepping down, you get more head room and roomier seats than in any other mass-produced car built today—and there's good road clearance, too!

Because you step down, Hudson's new, all steel Monobilt body-and-frame* completely encircles you, even outside the rear wheels, with a rugged, box-steel foundation frame—and this brings you a new measure of added safety.

You ride within this frame—cradled between axles—not on top of a frame as in the past. Hudson's new, lower center of gravity and rugged basic structure give this car delightful roadability—a hug-the-road way of going, especially on curves, that is so safe, so serene, so smooth, it is unlike anything you've known before!

CLEANUP W[illegible] OPENS IN CIT[illegible] MONDAY, MA[illegible]

City Health Officer and Governor Youngdahl Ask Cooperation of Public

Dr. O. F. Mellby, city health officer, today reminded local citizens that the week beginning next Sunday, May 2, has been designated as Cleanup Week in Thief River Falls as well as thruout Minnesota.

He urged that all property owners in the city clean up their premises and put them in sanitary condition during the coming week. Later in the month he will make inspection of the city as required by state law and will report to the council on his findings.

Commenting on Cleanup Week, Governor Luther W. Youngdahl this week issued the following statement:

"The time and effort devoted to the thorough cleaning of cities, villages, parks, playgrounds and other areas is an investment in the protection of the health of every citizen. It is also an obligation that we must accept in preserving the natural beauty of the commonwealth.

"This special week should, therefore, be given wide publicity so that the participation of all citizens can be enlisted. Let each one do his full share towards this necessary clean-up and the task will be speedily and effectively accomplished.

"I call upon all local officials, publications and civic organizations to give Clean-up Week their careful attention and to develop plans for action which will insure the success of this important project, affecting the health and welfare of all."

He asked the cooperation of local employers in releasing members of the company so that they may attend the camp.

Among the major projects is the development of the present archery range on the terrace at the west end of the tourist park. Plans call for leveling off the ground and installation along the edge of the big ditch adjoining of ornamental plantings consisting of spruce trees interspersed with Savin juniper and Mugho pine.

The Mugho pine to be planted there will be removed from the Third st. parkway, where they constitute a traffic hazard, permission to move them having been obtained from the roadside development division of the state highway department, which will replace them with Savin juniper, a low-growing evergreen.

In addition to the plantings on the archery range, picnic tables, benches and fireplaces will be installed there. The Boy Scout park at the east end of the Third st. bridge also is being redesigned by the highway department, which will furnish additional trees and shrubs for planting, with the necessary labor to be supplied by the park board.

Mr. Barzen stated that sanitary facilities and water fountains at the Tindolph park bath house were opened to the public this week. He added that sidewalks will be built along both sides of the bath house leading down to the play area and up to the property line on Crocker av.

The board also plans to give the play court in Tindolph park a bitulithic treatment this summer. In order to give more time for the ground to settle, no shrubbery will be planted around the bath house until next year, it was announced.

Another project designed to improve access to the swimming pool for pedestrians and bicyclists will involve the graveling of the alley between Crocker and Tindolph avs. opening on to Taft st. Cars and trucks bound for Tindolph park will not be permitted to use the alley.

Mr. Barzen also stated that the park board has arranged to maintain the ball grounds on the east side playground and at the fair grounds during the coming playing season.

Control Measures Urged To Halt Cry of 'Mad Dog'

For many centuries the cry, "mad dog," has brought with it a feeling of terror. Now there is little excuse for the continued existence of a disease that causes so much anxiety, suffering and expense as rabies, says Dr. Paul D. Beamer, University of Illinois.

Measures for controlling and eventually eradicating rabies are known and are comparatively easy to carry out. England, Ireland, Norway, Sweden, Australia, Denmark and Holland are free of rabies. Yet in the United States thousands of dollars' worth of farm stock and many valuable dogs are destroyed each year as the result of animals being bitten by infected dogs. The deadly virus causes about 10,000 cases of rabies in animals and humans in the nation every year.

All warm-blooded animals are susceptible to rabies. But dogs, because of their biting habits and their close association with other animals and with humans, are the most common disseminators of the disease. The ultimate suppression and control of rabies in both man and animals therefore is dependent upon adoption of measures that will effectively check the disease in dogs. Such measures require the cooperation of all dog owners, public health and livestock sanitary officials, police officers, veterinarians, physicians and the public in general, Beamer said.

Soybeans Retain Oil

Research by the U. S. department of agriculture on the oil content of soybeans in storage shows that no oil is lost from beans during their storage prior to processing, contrary to the commonly held belief that such oil content diminishes during storage. Research into both food and industrial uses of soybeans was undertaken for protection of farmers who would be subject to lower returns if their stored beans were purchased on the assumption that oil content had lessened during storage. There also was developed a paste containing pigments and driers so mixed that farmers can prepare a paint at relatively low cost by merely adding soybean oil to it. Another new process separates soybean oil into two fractions, each of which is better than the whole oil for certain purposes.

Miss Christine Clausen, Former Local Resident, Passes Away in Denmark

Word has been received by Christ Clausen of Grygla that his sister, Miss Christine Clausen of Vinderup, Denmark passed away at Holstebro hospital, Holstebro, Denmark, on April 17. Miss Clausen had been ill for three months. She was 70 years old.

Miss Clausen will well be remembered by her many friends at Thief River Falls for her kindness and good humor.

She came to America in 1909. In 1912 she went to Thief River Falls and later started a dry cleaning establishment of her own.

She went back to Denmark to be with her aged mother in 1930. Her mother passed away three years later.

In 1946, Christ Clausen visited his sister for five months at her home in Denmark and found her in failing health.

She was a member of Trinity Lutheran Church.

She leaves to mourn her passing four brothers in the United States, Jim at Oslo; Christ of Grygla; Peter of Oelrich, S. D.; and Thorvald of Sacramento, California and one sister, Johanna Horton of Seward, Alaska, also two sisters in Denmark, Dorothy Nelson and Matilda Galle, and a number of nephews and nieces in the United States, Alaska, and Denmark.

Railroad Radio Seat

A new type of "radio seat" has been developed for use in railroad cars. The speaker of the radio is installed behind cushioned upholstery at ear level in the backs of reclining seats in coaches. The speaker is wired to a central receiving unit which has outlets for four different programs. The passenger can make his choice by a finger flick of a dial placed on the arm of his seat, and the volume of reception is regulated so that it is said to be completely inaudible to the person sitting in the adjoining seat, enabling two persons sitting side by side to tune in different programs without any interference.

Winter Storage of Beans

Beans must be ripe, thoroughly cured and dried before they can be stored. They must be kept in a dry place, and temperature has very little to do with their keeping qualities. As long as the air is dry beans will keep equally as well in a temperature of 70 degrees as in 40 degrees, although the bean weevil will work in beans stored at the high temperatures. The problem is one of ridding the stored beans of all vestiges of the bean weevil. Continuous cold weather will kill the bean weevil. Carbon bisulfide gas may be used to rid the beans of weevils. Use an ounce to two per bushel of beans in a closed container. This gas is explosive so must be handled with care.

First Cars Were Fair Targets for Farmers

When the motor car first made its appearance on the open roads some decades ago farmers in many sections of the country viewed their advent with bitterness and carried on an intensive fight to protect their families and farm stock from accidents and to make it rough riding for "those heathen."

As a result, there was organized the Farmers' Anti-Automobile society whose guiding principles can't help but seem weird today—even to farmers. That the society didn't get very far in having the communities accept these principles is beside the point. The fact is the society wanted—

"The driver of a car to quickly take it apart and hide it in the nearby bushes if a horse should become stubborn and refuse to pass the car on the road."

"Ten-dollar fines should be imposed for every mile a driver went over the speed limit—and the speed limit should be kept secret."

"Drivers should stop and send up a rocket every mile at night—and should proceed only after waiting 10 minutes, and then only after shooting off Roman candles."

Faithful society members were asked to spend Sundays chasing automobiles, shooting at drivers and generally making it discouraging for auto touring.

Special Rail Freight

There are many kinds of freight and express cars designed to handle particular commodities. Among them are special refrigerator cars for transportation of dry ice, depressed-center freight cars and well hole flat cars for transporting transformers and other large machines and units of equipment; special gondola cars designed for carrying air-activated cement containers. There are drop-end gondolas, bottom-dump gondolas, twin hopper cars, quadruple hopper cars and side-discharge hopper cars, for carrying coal, coke, ores and other heavy bulk commodities; covered hopper cars for handling cement, carbon black, phosphate and ore concentrates; cars for carrying iron ore and other ores and many others for liquid gas, chemicals, helium and other products.

Believe It or Not

When an Oregon elm tree was planted upside down, its roots developed branches growing in the air, and its limbs buried in the ground sent out roots. And in California, a lodgepole pine 18 inches in diameter and 40 feet high grew through a block of granite 20 feet square.

D. and in 1910 to Hickory township, where he farmed until October, 1947, when he came to this city. He was united in marriage to Minnie Florence on Jul 15, 1902 at Oklee. Editorials.....

Harold Stassen has now definitely advanced to the top of the list of contenders for the Republican nomination for President and his victory has been predicted by so conservative an observer as Business Week. If he continues to steal the show in remaining state conventions and holds his present lead in the popularity polls there isn't going to be much question about the results of the convention. And if he does win he will come the closest of any President we have had in a long time to being selected by popular demand rather than by a political machine. He has appealed directly to the people in the most vigorous campaign for election the country has ever seen, and his victory would be a personal rather than a party triumph. He is excellently qualified to give the country good leadership in a period when party considerations must be submerged to the need for national unity.

IT'S CLEAN-UP TIME

You know how those snoopy neighbors of yours talk every time they get a chance. Well one way to keep them quiet is to get your yard in good condition first for Clean-up Week. And if you do a good job on your share of the alley the chances are that they'll take care of theirs too. Doc. Mellby says it isn't necessary to wait until Monday to get started.

Speaking of clean-up, it's a caution how much time and money we spend just for keeping clean. An average housewife with a flock of kids to mind practically doesn't do anything else but wash the children, wash clothes, wash dishes, clean the house and keep herself pretty. Community sanitation and beautification are big items of public expense. In our own community we are in the process of investing a lot of money to improve our water supply—in the interests of sanitation and health. Individually we pay out a lot of money to provide sanitary facilities for our homes. Add it all up and the cost is tremendous. It is what we want however, regardless of cost.

Because we have so great a personal interest in sanitation we set up certain standards of cleanliness for the community we live in, and we delegate powers to certain officials to enforce these standards. That is why, at least once a year, these officials prod us to action. If we don't respond properly to the general prodding then they are supposed to give us individual attention. That none of us like but so it must be.

From time to time our standards of community cleanliness change and we are now in the process of one of these interesting changes. The Woman's Club of our city is starting a crusade against rats and in favor of improved methods of handling garbage. We wish the good ladies success in their undertaking. Probably they will broaden their program and wage a war on all forms of vermin, including flies and cockroaches. It is now a proven fact that eradication is possible, and the continued presence of such vermin in any home, store or community is evidence of bad housekeeping. With the women of the city taking up arms in the war on filth we predict good results for the entire sanitation program.

WHAT NEXT, JOE?

Now that the battle for Italy has ended and the smoke is clearing away it is possible to get a better understanding of how this particular skirmish was fought. We have known right along what kind of ammunition our side was using and that our offers of food, territory and military support were important factors in the victory. It is only now that the struggle has ended that we can follow the tactics of the opposition. We know now for instance that the trouble in Berlin was created in an effort to discredit us with the Italians, and that if our little detachment in Berlin had backed away from the Russians the Italian election might not have been so favorable to us.

Joe Stalin has learned a couple of things in Europe. He has learned that he cannot extend his iron curtain over more territory without opposition. He knows that we are ready to call his bluff. He knows that western Europe is organizing to check his further advance either by force or by subversive action, and that western Europe, with our assistance, will grow steadily stronger. These are the reasons why observers predict changes in Russian policy, either in the form of immediate military aggression or by a more sincere approach to the problem of establishing and maintaining a permanent peace. To this point Russian foreign policy has not been brilliantly successful.

HOUSE REPEALS U. S. OLEO TAXES

Repeal Measure Faces Opposition in Senate

Repeal of federal taxes on oleomargarine was approved overwhelmingly by the house of representatives Wednesday.

The bill now goes to the senate, where its proponents were optimistic and even opponents conceded the measure a 50-50 chance of passage.

The house vote was 260 to 106. Party lines were ignored as representatives of cottonseed sections teamed up with members from industrial and metropolitan areas to snow under the opposition offered by spokesmen from dairy districts.

Every amendment offered by the opponents in their long fight to tone down the bill was defeated.

The final vote came only after the house had squabbled for three hours over what shape a package of oleo should take and the proposed amendments.

The federal taxes which the bill passed yesterday would repeal are:

Ten cents a pound on colored oleo; ¼ cent a pound on uncolored; $600 a year tax on manufacturers; $480 on wholesalers of colored oleo; $200 on wholesalers of the uncolored oleo, and $6 on retailers of uncolored.

The bill faces opposition in the senate just as bitter as it encountered in the house, but it will have behind it the steamroller force of its better than two-to-one victory in the house.

BEMIDJI MAN PAYS FINE FOR OFFENSE

Arrest Results from Alertness of 2 Boys

Alertness of two local boys led to the arrest by the highway patrol late Tuesday evening of Ernest J. Girard of Bemidji, charged with hit-run driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

While driving into the city from the east on Highway 59, Girard had run in to the first island on the parkway, knocking down a sign. The episode was witnessed by Morris Owen Jr. and Maynard Wedul, who marked down the license number of the car before it left the scene, and reported the matter to the police.

Brought into municipal court Wednesday morning, Girard was fined $78.50 on the drunken driving charge and $28.50 on the hit-run count.

Had Broken Neck 7 Months Before He Knew About It

PHOENIX, ARIZ.—B. C. Fox, 50, Arizona's director of fur conservation, learned that he's been running around with a broken neck for seven months.

Fox was injured last January during a beaver-trapping expedition. He spent three weeks in hospitals, and then returned to work trapping and transplanting beavers throughout the state.

But he suffered from headaches and "blackouts." When friends finally persuaded him to take a checkup, X-rays showed his neck had been broken.

Fox hopes to be back at beaver trapping next week after technicians have made a metal neck brace.

"Stairway to the Stars" is Theme of Junior-Senior Prom

The Junior-Senior prom, held in the Lincoln high school gymnasium on Saturday evening, carried out its general theme "Stairway to the Stars" by having blue and white crepe paper streamers suspended from the ceiling. From these streamers hung gilded stars.

The main attraction was the stairway leading to a gigantic star. Music was furnished thruout the evening by the Kampus Kings orchestra from the University of North Dakota.

A program was given including a coronet solo by Marvin Hage; piano duet by Darlene Solheim and Kathryn Vorachek; song "Stairway to the Stars" by Darlene Israelson, and as she sang Greta Paulson and James Arras danced. Jerry Rasmussen acted as master of ceremonies. A buffet lunch was served by the sophomore girls.

Nazi Secret Weapons Begun In War Now Being Made Here

POINT MUGU, CALIF.—Seven German scientists are completing for America the Nazi secret weapons they began as wartime projects for Adolf Hitler, it was disclosed.

A naval spokesman at the Point Mugu guided missile test center, who would not permit use of his name, made the disclosure in denying that the Nazi experts were given priority over American war veterans at an Oxnard, Calif., housing project.

The German scientists, working under voluntary contracts with the U. S. government, were reported to have applied for U. S. citizenship. Their work at present is limited to completing German weapons unfinished at the end of the war.

Four Persons Leap Safely Out of Burning Airplane

BERLIN, GERMANY.—Four persons aboard a United States army transport plane parachuted into the Soviet zone of Germany when the plane, en route from Berlin to Paris, caught fire.

Six others aboard the plane remained in their places as it crash landed near Sangerhausen, Thuringia. None of the plane's occupants was injured, and all were taken by a Russian rescue squad to nearby Eisleben.

Mrs. H. J. Thorkelson, wife of a United States military government civilian employee, was rescued by the Russians from a tree in which she landed after bailing out of the plane.

Truck exports amounted to 200,000 units in 1947, or 21 per cent of the total production of the truck industry.

"Methuselah of Europe"

The site of the modern city of Cadiz, Spain, was an island when Phoenician merchants sailed their high-powered craft from Tyre about 1100 B. C. to establish this "Methuselah of Europe." A causeway later was filled in to create a peninsula. The period in which Cadiz served as a link with the Spanish colonies in the Americas formed only one episode in its long and dramatic history. Hannibal outfitted a fleet there. The Romans granted citizenship to the residents. Vandals, Visigoths and Moslems each ruled the city for a time. In a daring raid in 1587, Sir Francis Drake "singed the King of Spain's beard" by burning all the ships in the harbor.

The voting machine was first used in a New York City election in 1892.

An underprivileged home has been defined as one that has but one deck of playing cards.

An automobile finance company tells us that this year you can buy a new car for 602 bushels of wheat, while in 1940 it cost 1,383 bushels.

Now is the time to get that rakish feeling. Cleanup Week is set for May 3 to 8.

In view of the situation in Minneapolis, that town can expect trouble in finding an able school head to succeed Supt. Goslin.

1928—TWENTY YEARS AGO

An epidemic of a mild form of influenza is prevalent in the city, 421 pupils being absent from school one day.—The J. P. Curtis drug store, located on LaBree av. at Second st. the past 21 years was moved to the Curtis block on Third st.—Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Yotter left for Jacksonville, Florida to attend the national convention of the Order of Railway Conductors.—A. R. Kohn and Edward Filerman, former local automobile dealers, established an automobile finance company in Minneapolis.

1938—TEN YEARS AGO

Margaret McKechnie and Margaret Jacobson were named co-valedictorians of the Lincoln high school senior class, while Robert Smith was named salutatorian.—Mrs. Mary V. Shaw was reelected chairman of the Pennington county chapter of the American Red Cross, and was named delegate to the national convention of the Red Cross in San Francisco, opening May 2.—Senator Victor E. Lawson of Willmar was the principal speaker at a Swedish Tercentenary banquet and program in Trinity church.—Harold E. Stassen, seeking the Republican nomination for governor, addressed 100 party workers at a banquet in the Evelyn hotel.

No Game For the Poor

The laws in the old world were enacted for the comfort of a privileged class, and it was hardly to be expected that the poor would obey without complaint, laws which protected the wild creatures from the fowling pieces and snares of the poor, in order that there might be sport for the nobility.

Overseas Phone Call

The first overseas telephone call ever made from an automobile was put through from St. Louis to a telephone in Honolulu nearly 5,000 miles away, with radio carrying the calls from the car to a central office, from which it went by land wires to San Francisco, by radio to Honolulu, and again by wire to the person called.

Poisoned by Fire

Smoking in bed is an increasing cause of fire fatalities, National Board of Fire Underwriters warns. Usually the smoker dies not from burns but from poisoning by the toxic gases, chiefly carbon monoxide and hydrogen cyanide, produced by every fire.

Linen Contradictions

Irish linen makes the sheerest of all handkerchief fabrics, yet linen woven into firehose has the strength to withstand many pounds of water pressure. Irish linen is a high fashion fabric, featured by leading style creators in New York and Paris. Linen is a work-a-day fiber, specified for tarpaulins and heavy ducks which must have the maximum of strength. Linen is older than recorded history, yet linen is headline news today. Pick up any magazine or newspaper and you will read about new table linens, new linen fashions, new arrivals of Irish linens from Belfast. Linen absorbs moisture faster than any other textile. It also loses moisture through evaporation very quickly.

LOCAL TRACK MEN ENTER TWO MEETS FRIDAY, SATURDAY

Lincoln Athletes Enter Bemidji Beaver Relays, Sioux Meet at G. Forks

Captain Dick Davidson, the 31st district's record-holder in the 440-yard run, will lead the Prowler track and field squad into double-barreled competition this week-end. On Friday, Coach Quentin Jones will send the twenty-five man Prowler squad into its first meet of the year when the sixth annual Beaver Relays will be held on the B. S. T. C. field at Bemidji; and on Saturday the blue-and-gold will run in the Sioux Relays at Grand Forks. The Prowlers are the defending team champions in the latter event, having edged out the powerful Grand Forks Maroons in last year's record shattering tournament.

Lack of favorable weather has prevented coach Jones from sending the local squad through strict time trials and hindered the conditioning process, but the competing schools have been under similar handicaps. Expected to run in the two mile relay will Alan Cabot, Wes Olson, Erv Skaar, and Al Engelstad. Norman Panek, Dick Davidson, Jack Winter, and Joe Bradley are the tentative one-mile relay candidates. And the half mile relay will perhaps have Ralph Engelstad, Dick Davidson, Norm Panek, and Johnny Erickson on the roster.

The weight events will find the Prowlers depending upon Bob Larson, Harley Wagner, Palmer Ronholm, and Brian Walker. Running the hurdles will be A Williamson, Keith Rosengren, Bucky Arneson, and Marlow Davidson. Morris Higinbotham's transfer out of town has put a "crimp" into the Prowlers point-getting ability in the jumping events. Last year, as a sophomore, Higinbotham set district marks in the high jump and pole vault. be A. Williamson, Keith Rosengren are expected to take up some of the "slack" occasioned by Higinbotham's departure by gaining points in the high jump event.

Local Women's Bowling Teams Split Even in 2 Detroit Lakes Matches

The Narverud Cleaners and the Fashion Shop teams of the Women's City League scored a win and a loss in a pair of matches bowled against teams at Detroit Lakes last week. The Narveruds, after losing their first game, rolled scores of 759 and 710 to win the odd game of their match with Detroit Lakes' Jean Page team. Jane Buen, with a 444 total, was the high scorer for the Cleaners.

In spite of a fine 473-pin total bowled by Kathryn Kay, the Fashion Shop team dropped a two-out-three decision to the Mission Orange team. The Fashion Shop lost the first two games by wide margins, but in the third game they bowled a nifty 836-pin total.

Mayor and City Engineer Talk at Rotary Meeting

Members of the Rotary club at their luncheon meeting Tuesday noon heard a discussion by Mayor Harry E. Simons and City Engineer Douglas Stewart of some of the numerous public improvement projects to be initiated in Thief River Falls during the spring and summer months.

Renewal of Patents

Patents may be renewed only by act of congress, a thing practically unheard of. Patenting of an improvement does not extend the life of a patent. At the end of 17 years after grant of a patent, the invention passes into public domain and may be made, used or sold by anyone, incorporating every feature disclosed in the patent. Sixty-five to 75 per cent of the functional components of the modern motor vehicle have originated with independent inventors and are made complete by independent smaller manufacturers.

Trout and Suckers

On Saturday, May 1st, the hook-and-line season for brook and brown trout, and the spearing season for rough fish (and that means suckers up here) will open, and judging by the comments and conversation, quite a number of the local anglers are anxious to get out along the ditches and streams.

The trout fishermen will be forced to travel quite a way from town in order to get to the spring-fed streams that contain trout. Oscar Ellingson and Joel Nyquist intend to fish in the vicinity of Kelliher, giving Hoover creek a workout. Marshall Davidson will perhaps be along the Nesset creek south of Clearbrook, and Al Berge and Martin Gulbranson have as their favorite streams the Schermerhorn and Bad Boy creeks east of Mahnomen. Some of local trout fishermen may fish the Kabekona stream south of Bemidji, or the Straight river south of Park Rapids, but it is expected that those highly-advertised streams will be heavily fished over the week-end.

But the fellows will be having just as much fun, and without traveling so far, will be the boys that will be along the ditches and small streams spearing suckers and redhorse. Ordinarily a May 1st opening is pretty late for the sucker run, but this year that date should be ideal. There have been many dozens of the fish noticed in the pool below the dam the past few days. The boys should be careful, though, that they don't use a spot-light, the wardens are pretty strict on enforcing that provision.

"Cotton" Langevin and Bud Schuster, two of the city's sucker-spearing authorities, will be heading out towards the Kratka bridge on Saturday or Sunday, and they claim that they'll be coming back with the biggest mess of fish. Fire chief Roy Langevin and Gaynor Eide, and the rest of the Fire House boys, who have long claimed the city championship, contend that if any fish-spearing lessons are to be given, they'll give them.

That Was a Team.

On exhibit down in Gunder Grovum's Club is a picture of the baseball team that represented Thief River Falls in 1914. And the fans whose memories can recall those days will verify the fact that the locals had quite a ball team. On that picture are such players as Christy Christianson, Harry Prugh, Dutch Haufmeister, Leon Ince, Nelly Nelson, Chesty Halbert, Ed Kiefenheim, Jimmy Goff, Leo Fahey, Roy Lambert, Rainy Wallbaum, and manager Jim Manning.

Southpaw Chesty Halbert and right-hander Eddie Kiefenheim shared the pitching duties, with Haufmeister doing the catching, and they provided the local club with one of the finest batteries in the northwest. If Chesty and Eddie were in their prime now, manager Rasmussen wouldn't have any worries about the pitching for this season's club.

Incidentally, the local club had a fine workout at the Fair Grounds on Sunday afternoon, with a large number of candidates on hand. The lack of experienced pitching, though, appears evident, and the manager requests that all players having hurling experience report for the team practice sessions.

Headed for School.

Wes Hovie and Marvin "Ninsk" Carlson, fullback and right halfback, respectively, of the Prowler football team of 1945 which had a five wins, no losses, and one tie record, have returned home after receiving their navy discharges. Wes and Ninsk with Les Vigness and Phil Beadle, gave the Prowlers a "ten second" backfield in 1945, and they were instrumental in the lop-sided wins that the locals recorded: 45 to 0 over Warroad, 23 to 0 over Grand Forks Central, 40 to 0 over Crafton, 41 to 0 over Crookston; and 38 to 0 over East Grand Forks. The only blemish being a 6 to 6 tie with Bemidji, and the Prowlers should have won that game.

According to their present plans, Hovie and Carlson are preparing to enter North Dakota University. Wes weighs about 178 pounds and, with his compact build, that's heavy enough for right halfback and backer-up duties. Wes was without a doubt, one of the finest defensive backs the Prowlers ever had, and he wasn't any slouch at carrying the ball, either.

Wes and Ninsk will do some college coach a lot of good.

Rural School Teachers of Pennington County to Meet in City May 8

All teachers in the Pennington county rural school system are urged to attend a meeting at the public library Saturday, May 8, at 2 o'clock, Mrs. A. C. Matheson, county superintendent, stated today.

A national representative of the Junior Red Cross will be present to demonstrate work being done by that organization. Sectional playdays and other school projects also will be discussed.

At the close of the afternoon a social hour will be enjoyed.

ARCHERY TOURNEY HELD AT WARROAD

Thief River Falls Group Competes in Tournament

Twenty carloads of Archers and their families met at Bemis Hill, 12 miles south of Warroad on Sunday, April 25, for the first Northwest tournament. Representatives were present from Strandquist, Karlstad, Thief River Falls, and Warroad.

An interesting and difficult seven-target field course had been set up, and after it had been shot twice, Floyd Canfield of Thief River Falls was winner, with Bill Green of Warroad second, and Dale Jensen of Thief River Falls third.

Mrs. Alice Borry of Thief River Falls scored ahead of the whole field in the running deer novelty shoot, while Loran Lord of Thief River Falls was judged the winner of the blind target novelty shoot.

Pennington Sportsmens Club Will Meet Tuesday

The Pennington County Sportsmens club will hold its May session next Tuesday evening, May 4, in the Civic and Commerce rooms, Henry Storhaug, secretary stated today, adding that the program will include the showing of motion pictures dealing with safety by Sheriff Arthur Rambeck. Lunch will be served.

Detour Is Put into Use on Section of T. H. 102

Highway 102 from the junction with T. H. 75 to the junction with T. H. 32 was closed April 28 because of road construction, Lee R. Boyd of Crookston, district maintenance engineer, stated today. PATROL TRAFFIC ARRESTS DOUBLE; 1,396 FOR MARCH

6,443 Offenses Noted and Corrected on Trunk Routes During Month

Arrests for traffic law violations on state trunk highways in March more than doubled those for any previous month in 1948, it was disclosed by a monthly report of the highway patrol division of the state highway department, released today.

Patrol warning tickets, verbal warnings and motorists tagged for operating vehicles with illegal or unsafe equipment also showed a heavy March increase over preceding months.

Highway Patrol arrests for traffic law violations last month brought 1,396 drivers into court and cost them fines totaling $20,565. In addition, the patrol issued 1,751 tags for driving with unsafe or illegal equipment, 720 warning tickets and 2,031 verbal warnings.

Arrests for driving violations included 83 for drunken driving, 108 for careless driving, 122 for running through a stop sign, 123 for speeding and 57 for improper passing or driving in the wrong lane.

Driving with hazardously improper equipment or improper registration brought 388 motorists into court and 92 were arrested for driving without a driver's license. Of the first-offense warning tickets, 148 were failure to come to a complete stop at a stop sign, 131 for speeds exceeding posted maximums, 88 for improper passing or driving over the centerline, and 308 for driving with drivers permits which had expired or failing to have a proper drivers license in possession.

Improper parking brought the largest number of verbal warnings, 421, and driving with improper lights was second among the bad driving practices with 291. Sixty-nine pedestrians also were stopped by Highway patrolmen during March and warned against soliciting rides or improper walking.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Sam's Hens Wear Spectacles!

Yes, it's a fact! Sam's brood of two dozen hens are wearing spectacles—which he bought from a mail-order house in Capitol City.

Sam says it works (and big poultry raisers say so, too). The hens see each other through soft colored glasses, and instead of fighting and picking at each other, they go around placidly, gain weight, and lay more eggs.

Makes me almost wish we could have rose-colored glasses for human beings, too. So that instead of quarreling and criticizing, like we do so much of the time, we'd live and let live in contentment.

From where I sit, the human race wastes a powerful lot of time in wrangling over minor issues ... whether a man should drink beer or cider ... whether a woman should wear slacks or skirts ... instead of seeing each other through "spectacles" of tolerance that enable us to live-and-let-live like Sam's brood of chickens.

POLITICAL ROUNDUP

By Arthur Naftalin

Mayor Hubert H. Humphrey's announcement of his candidacy for the United States Senate assures Minnesota of one of the nation's red-hot political campaigns in 1948. Supporters of Senator Joseph H. Ball regard his re-election as vital to the conservative program for which he has become a national spokesman, and many national organizations will be prepared to assist Ball in his campaign. Similarly, national liberal and labor leaders will be determined to give Humphrey as much help as possible, because they see in him a potential leader for the nation's progressive forces.

It is seldom that a political contest provides the clear-cut clash of issues such as will be involved in the Humphrey-Ball campaign. Ball is a forthright exponent of the theory that democracy cannot survive if our governments intervenes to control and regulate the economy. He believes that governmental intervention leads inevitably to regimentation and totalitarianism. Humphrey, on the other hand, believes that the complexity of modern life demands that government play a positive role in the regulation of our economy so as to prevent a breakdown that will destroy democracy.

Humphrey's announcement was timed in advance of the Democratic-Farmer-Labor Party's precinct caucuses, which will be held this Friday. The left-wing Henry Wallace Third Party group is out to capture the DFL, if it can, through the caucuses. Humphrey's announcement was aimed to bolster the right-wing's determination to prevent the left-wing from making any inroads into the DFL. Friday's caucuses should provide plenty of fireworks in many parts of the state.

In Hennepin county, the clash between the regular DFL and the Third Party group has resulted in the summoning of two separate sets of caucuses, and there will be two separate county conventions on Friday, May 14. The steering committee for the state convention disqualified the left-wing in Hennepin because of its open declaration for the Third Party, and ordered that a legal county convention be set up under Lester J. Covey, the ranking regular county officer in Hennepin. At the state convention in Brainard on June 12 there will most likely be two delegations from Hennepin and perhaps from several other counties in the state.

It will be up to the credentials committee and the convention itself to decide these contests, and what is decided about them will determine whether the DFL remains within the national Democratic Party or whether it will be captured by the Wallace move.

In recent weeks, the confusion within the DFL organization has begun to clear up. It is now apparent that a DFL participant must choose between being a regular Democrat or supporting the Third Party. The action of the steering committee makes it impossible for a DFL'er to remain neutral in the fight.

News reports out of Ohio indicate clearly that Harold Stassen has Senator Robert A. Taft deeply worried. Stassen's prospects continue to improve since the Wisconsin and Nebraska victories. There is talk now of a coalition to head off Stassen, and this might prove to be Stassen's greatest worry. His early successes may prove to have been too successful, resulting in a sudden merging of the forces of other candidates, thus crystallizing opposition because Stassen had displayed too much strength.

Monks as Miners

Near a certain monastery in Tibet, where gold is worked by the monks, large gold nuggets are immediately replaced in the earth when found. According to Encyclopaedia Britannica, people there reputedly believe that the large nuggets germinate in time and produce the small lumps for which they are privileged to search.

HEALTH HINTS for LIVESTOCK

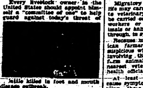
A SERIOUS MENACE ACROSS THE BORDER

Every livestock owner in the United States should appoint himself a "committee of one" to help guard against today's threat of foot-and-mouth disease from across the Mexican border.



Cattle killed in foot and mouth disease outbreak.

As long as a single infected cow remains in Mexico, herds in this country will never be secure. Many thousands of Mexican cattle now carry the infection, and the campaign to check the outbreak in that country is far from being completed.

In spite of the quarantine of the outbreak area and the United States' ban on livestock imports from Mexico, there is danger that the plague may somehow leap across the border.

Migratory birds or other wildlife may carry the virus, according to veterinary authorities. It may be carried on the clothing of farm workers or other persons. Animals or animal products may get through in spite of all precautions.

Because of these risks, American farmers are urged to be suspicious when symptoms appear involving the mouth or feet of farm animals, and to call the nearest veterinarian or livestock health official at once.

At least four other diseases cause symptoms so closely resembling those of foot-and-mouth disease that only a veterinarian can tell them apart. Instant action in identifying the true cause of trouble is the greatest safeguard, because foot-and-mouth disease spreads like wildfire. It has been known to jump from one herd to 20 herds in two days.

Foot-and-mouth disease, even when it is not fatal, destroys the economic value of an animal. It affects not only cattle but also swine, sheep and goats.

"Added Financial Benefits"

JAMES H. HOLTHAUS, who owns 500 acres and farms an additional 250 near Buffalo, Minn., is one of 100,000 farmers who sell through Land O'Lakes—because, he says, "I get added financial benefits that way."

An owner-patron of the Buffalo Cooperative Producers Association, he has 64 head of cattle, milks 35 cows.

"By selling through Land O'Lakes," he points out, "we farmers share in benefits of marketing as well as manufacturing operations. My ownership share in my creamery and marketing organization means a lot to me—because I feel I'm working for myself."

Millions of people throughout America made BUDWEISER their lifelong choice after making this 5-day test.

The distinctive taste of BUDWEISER—without a trace of sweetness—wins and holds the sophisticated palate.

That traditional tang is created by the most expensive, time-taking brewing process known in America. It calls for premium-priced barley malt, hops, rice, pure culture yeast, filtered water—and nothing else.

Sharks have only rods in the retinas of their eyes, whose visual acuity is only a fraction of that of human eyes.

BRUCELLOSIS PERILS PIGS, COWS, PEOPLE

Brucellosis has become one of the half dozen most serious disease problems for America's livestock raisers. Primarily, the disease is a threat to cattle and swine—but it can be passed on to human beings, too. A great many veterinarians and workers with livestock come down with undulant fever every year, due to contact with brucellosis-carrier animals.

Goats, as well as cattle and swine can carry brucellosis.

Just lately, a new complication has entered the picture. Swine, cattle and goats are affected by three different types of brucellosis—and the disease has been regarded as not transmissible from one species to another. Now, however, the goat type has been found in swine—and the swine type in the udders of cows.

Brucellosis of both cattle and swine does its greatest damage in causing abortions, stillbirths, breeding failures, and sickly young. Also, it causes a decrease in milk output and a general ailing condition.

The control of brucellosis is still largely an individual herd problem to be worked out between the local veterinarian and the herd owner. First, the extent of the disease in the herd must be determined. Then a herd history as regards brucellosis must be established.

The final control program depends on such factors as: the number of reactors in the herd; the age of the animals; activity of the infection; importance of maintaining production and breeding lines; control and proper isolation of newly purchased animals.

The control program may involve both proper vaccination and blood testing. State and federal laws relating to indemnity for cattle reacting to brucellosis should also be thoroughly understood by the herd owner.

Crowned With Bay Leaves

Bay leaves, now used in pot roasts and pickles, were once used to crown the heads of ancient kings and heroes. The sweet bay tree of southern Europe is the true laurel of the Romans, the Daphne of the Greeks, the victor's laurel and poet's laurel of romance.

Port That Coffee Built

The Brazilian city of Santos is the port that coffee built. As the world's foremost coffee shipping point, Santos handles about three quarters of Brazil's export crop which last year totaled more than 15 million bags. Bags of coffee flow down to Santos from the plateau, 2,700 feet higher than the city, in an almost continuous stream. Sixteen loading belts can stow 12,000 coffee bags in ship holds in an hour.

STATE RECOVERS WARTIME LOSSES IN POPULATION

State Agency Reports Farm Income More Than Doubled in Six Years

Minnesota has more than recovered its wartime population losses, the state department of business research and development said in a report.

The department estimated the state's population on July 1, 1947, at 2,894,322. When the last federal census was taken in 1940, the total was 2,797,000. In July, 1944, the low point during the war, the figure was 2,598,000.

The report also showed:

Despite recent poulation gains, the report said, Minnesota is growing more slowly than the rest of the nation. Rural counties suffered the greatest population loss during the war and counties with the larger cities are gaining most on the upswing.

The report said the state's manufacturing employment increased 79.5 per cent between 1940 and 1947. The report added that Minnesota has kept wartime industrial gains to a greater extent than the other states.

Greatest postwar growth was shown by printing, publishing, stone, clay and glass industries. These are the lines which experienced worst manpower losses during the war. Textile and apparel industries also have advanced substantially.

Manufacturing employment increases came about through expansion of plants already in the state; in only a few cases have industries employing large numbers moved in from other states.

In acreage of planted crops in 1947, Minnesota followed Texas, Kansas, Iowa, North Dakota, Illinois and Nebraska, in that order. Between 1940 and 1946 farm income in Minnesota rose from $420,927,000 to $1,107,905,000. The 18,750,000 acres of crops harvested in 1947 amounted to 5.5 per cent of the national total.

To improve its present position, the department recommended for Minnesota greater efforts to develop natural resources, greater emphasis on community planning and development, and especially, full use of human resources.

"For too long," the report said, "Minnesota has been exporting the best of her young men and women to other areas . . . It should be recognized that if we are really determined to move forward, it is necessary for us to give them employment in our own industries within the state."

Thumbprint Check Plan Is Adopted by 10,000 Firms in State to Date

Over 10,000 merchants and bankers in Minnesota are cooperating to eliminate check forgeries from this state by adopting the Thumbprint Endorsement Plan, John Carlander, president of the Minnesota Bankers association, announced today.

Under this plan, any stranger who wishes to cash a check will be asked to place his right thumbprint on the back of the check beside his signature.

"The Minnesota Bankers association has offered to furnish small, neat cards announcing this simple requirement to banks for distribution to merchants," said Robert E. Pye, secretary of the Association, "but the response has been so great we have been unable to keep up with it. However, we hope to have all orders filled by the latter part of this week."

Marked Gain in Family Insurance Is Reported

New evidence of the extent to which life insurance ownership has been spread towards complete family protection is contained in a survey conducted by University of Michigan.

There's now an average of 2.2 life insurance policyholders per families which are insured, the survey shows, and nearly half of all families have two or more policyholders. The word family here means "spending unit."

One-tenth of all U. S. families have three insured persons, 8 per cent have four and 7 per cent have five or more policyholders. Eliminating the family units which have no life insurance policyholders, three-fifths of all insured families were found to have two or more policyholders, one-third have three or more, one-fifth have four or more and very nearly one-tenth have five or more.

Only 22 per cent of U. S. families were found to have no life insurance and these were in large part families with incomes below $2,000 annually. Half of the families with incomes of less than $1,000 owned some life insurance and almost three-fourths of the families earning $1,000 to $1,999 had at least one life insurance policyholder. The percentage insured rose as the income increased, the families earning $3,000 to $3,999 showing 91 per cent with life insurance and the $5,000 to $7,499 group showing 93 per cent with life insurance.

Plastics From Pine Bark

A wax-like material from the bark of pine trees, which promises to become one of the most important substances in plastics manufacture, has been reported by Prof. H. Von Euler of Sweden. At the International Chemical congress in London he stated that this bark product called phlobaphene is a new and cheap softening agent or plasticizer.

Manufacture of phlobaphene from the bark which cannot now be used by the lumber and pulpwood industries not only would solve a major waste problem, but also would give the plastics industry a new material. The plasticizers from bark are suitable for replacing plasticizers from castor oil and alkyd products, as well as the phthalic acid derivatives, made from coal. Up to 30 per cent of synthetic resins produced consists of the plasticizers. Thus the volume of the bark materials needed will be large.

Gasoline Waste

Of each gallon of gasoline consumed by an automobile engine, one quart produces useful work, one produces heat absorbed by the cooling system and the other two produce heat lost in the exhaust.

Increase in Crime Rate Noted in Rural Sections

While the crime rate has dropped in cities of America the first half of this year, an increase of 7.5 per cent over last year in rural sections is reported by Federal Bureau of Investigation.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, reported to the department of justice that crime figures revealed a 7.5 per cent rise in crime in the rural sections for the first half of the year.

During the same period, however, there was a decline of 2.3 per cent in crime in cities as compared with the first six months of 1946.

Hoover observed that although there was a drop in urban areas, the figures were still more than 12 per cent above those of the first half of 1941, a prewar period.

Breaking down the report into various classifications, the FBI noted in the first half of 1947 that burglary increased by 17.1 per cent in rural areas and 2.1 per cent in urban regions, compared with the first six months of last year.

Rural larcenies rose 12.9 per cent in comparison to 1.1 per cent in the cities.

Aggravated assaults increased on an average of 2 per cent in both rural and urban communities.

Pays to Operate Moderately

Equipment used at moderate rates of operation always will last longer, give less trouble and save in energy consumption. Operate your refrigerator more at lower settings of the cold control. Do more cooking with the lower heats on burners. Don't try to hurry the washing by overloading the machine. Turn off light and heating appliances immediately when through using them. Fire your furnace moderately and maintain an even temperature in the house. Be conscious of moderation and avoid the dash-and-tear way of doing things.

The Older the Less

The most important change with advancing years in a dairy cow is a slight decrease in the percentage of butterfat. The variation, although of no great consequence, is noticeable nevertheless. A cow which shows an average test of 5 per cent fat as a young animal will decline to about 4.5 per cent if she continues to produce until 14 years of age.

HEALTH HINTS for LIVESTOCK

CHOLERA SEASON ALL YEAR 'ROUND

Hog cholera knows no season. Precautions must be observed, all year 'round, if American farmers hope to check the ravages of this deadly virus disease of swine.

Veterinary authorities report that complete losses of large droves of swine, due to hog cholera, have occurred in the middle of the winter as well as during the hottest summer months.

[illegible] and clean pasture aren't proof against cholera.

Also, there seems to be no scientific evidence to support the old superstition that the feeding of new corn is somehow related to outbreaks of cholera.

The only thing seasonal about hog cholera, according to these authorities, is the proper time for the first vaccination of young pigs. Vaccination at or around weaning time, for each new crop of pigs, is the surest and most effective protection against devastating losses from this fast-killing virus.

As an added safeguard against hog cholera, farmers are urged to guard against letting sick swine be brought onto the premises.

There are many ways that cholera can be transmitted from one herd to another. Flies, for instance, may carry the virus. But many outbreaks have been traced to infection carried from farm to farm on the clothing of threshing crews, in uncooked garbage, in contaminated feed bags, on wagon and truck wheels and other equipment.

Still other dangers must be kept in mind. Hog cholera virus and hypodermic needles, carelessly handled by persons without the proper training, can spell disaster. Furthermore, pigs should be given a careful physical checkup by a veterinarian to be sure they are in proper condition for vaccination, because if they are not in satisfactory condition, they may not develop immunity.

SMILEY

4-H Quips

An exceptionally dandy meeting was enjoyed when the Smiley 4-H gang met at the Smiley Hall for their April meeting. The program started off with a snappy business meeting presided over by Jerald Nelson, vice president as Alan Cabot, president was unable to be present. One of the leaders, Mrs. Rudolph Hanson steered the business affairs into the proper channels. Roll call was answered by naming a beef type or a breed of chicken.

The program was turned over to the committee in charge, Joan Johnson and Donald Knutson. The affair started out with group singing and rounds. A reading, "To the Farmer," was given by Carolyn Thompson; a beef quiz was conducted by Donald Knutson; a demonstration "Scissor Scraps" was presented by Marilyn McCrum; a hilarious skit "Colored Wedding" was put on by Jerold Nelson, Duane Hanson, Delores Belswenger and Donald Knutson; a demonstration "Artificial Respiration" was given by Shirley Matske and Joan Johnson. This concluded the program and the recreation committee took over affairs. They were Shirley Matske and Duane Hanson. They certainly provided a lot of fun in which they had a stunt, "The Troublsome Ford" with various members forming parts of the car. There was a cracker eating and nursery rhyme contest; a talent show; and the "sucker ring" contest which was won by Adam Lendobeja and Delores Belswenger. There were also numerous circle games. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Art Knutson and Mrs. Norman Johnson.

The next meeting in May should prove to be a good meeting since it will be Parents night. Mrs. Allam Lendobeja and Mrs. Rudolph Hanson will arrange.

Visitors at the Mark Olson home Sunday afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. Otto Myhrer and girls of Thief River Falls, Mrs. O. N. Olson, Clara Olson, Mr. and Mrs. Jim McCrum and "young fry".

The Dave Christensen's have moved. They had all their belongings transferred to their new location two miles south of Hazel. Their host of Smiley friends wish them happiness and prosperity in their new venture. Mrs. Christensen's mother, Mrs. Regina Johnson arrived Friday evening after a four months visit in Long Beach, Calif. with her son-in-law and daughter, the Orton Olson's.

Bob Westacott has returned. He came the other day from Peoria, Ill., where he had visited with the Wm. Banik's. Mrs. Banik is his daughter. Mr. Westacott had spent the winter in Alhambra, Calif. with a son.

The Art Knutson's were in Erskine Sunday at the Peter Becker home for dinner. Mrs. Becker and Mrs. Knutson are sisters.

Miss Clara Olson was in Grand Forks Tuesday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Jondahl, who is the mother of Mrs. George Jacobson. Mrs. Jondahl died from after effects of a serious fall.

The Wm. Grundhaus' have started to build their new home. They had the basement dug Saturday and the footings poured Tuesday. John Rasmussen and son Roy will erect the house.

Our local leaders, Mrs. S. S. Nelson, Mrs. Adam Lendobeja, Mrs. Andrew Kinch, Mrs. Gust Hallberg attended an interesting session of the Homemakers project in town Wednesday. "First Aid in the Home" was the topic. The leaders will display their talents as instructors by showing the rest of us women back home here how to put this First Aid business to work in our own homes. Sounds good.

Alan Cabot was in Crookston Saturday to attend the choral practice. He is a member of the 40 voice high school choir. All choral groups of various high schools will compete in Crookston this Saturday evening and as a final gesture groups will sing together. Alan will take part in the Bemidji track meet Friday and a track meet in Grand Forks Saturday. He is a busy guy.

Rubber in Latin America

Cooperative natural rubber program which was established in South America during the war has emerged from the nursery state in Brazil, Colombia, Costa Rica, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, Mexico, and Peru, rubber investigators of the U. S. department of agriculture have reported. About 29,000 acres of field plantings now are established in government demonstration areas, on coffee, banana and other plantations, and on nearly a thousand small farms. The United States maintains scientists and technicians in various centers to conduct research and train local workers. The return of rubber as an economic crop in Latin America became possible by the introduction of clones from high-yielding Hevea trees from the Far East and by development of leaf-blight control methods.

The GRAHAM-HOEME PLOW

The Revolutionary Plow

Self Sharpening Points • No Side Draft
Extra Light Draft • Nothing to Grease
Plows All Types of Sod Without Adjustments
Prevents Erosion by Wind and Water
Cuts Plowing Cost in Half Doubles Sub-Soil Moisture

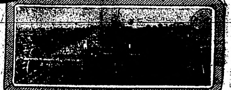
BUILT TO LAST A LIFETIME

KEEP VEGETATION ON TOP

Nature's own method is to keep vegetation on top. That cuts down evaporation, keeps the soil in place in spite of heavy winds. The Graham-Hoeme Plowing Method with the two-inch chisel, as shown in illustration, permits water to by-pass the top soil into the sub-soil. It's a moisture storage center.



WE HAVE 'EM ON HAND

Manufactured by GRAHAM-HOEME PLOW CO. Inc. AMARILLO, TEXAS

PROVEN FACTS

On the average, enough rain falls on your farm every year to make fine crops. But, after the first few minutes of rain a smooth surface seals itself, causing run-off. It has been scientifically proven that the same field will NOT seal itself when plowed with the Graham-Hoeme All Purpose Plow with a 2-inch chisel furrow every 12 inches. This method by-passes the rainfall through the top soil and keeps a straw mulch on TOP. Upwards of three times the moisture enters the ground.

If the next day is fair and hot, the bare soil would soon be steaming and losing its moisture rapidly. BUT NOT IF THAT GROUND IS COVERED. The Graham-Hoeme Plow leaves vegetation on top to shade and protect, and moisture stays in the soil longer to bridge between rains.

These are not just opinions, but proven facts. A covered corrugated field in a good, brisk rain, will absorb 200 per cent more moisture than a bare field and 60 per cent more than a field with vegetable matter plowed into the surface. To supply this covering for the soil without the expense of artificial cover, and to place the soil in a condition to by-pass the moisture through the top soil is the purpose and achievement of the Graham-Hoeme Plow.

Hurry, May Be Too Late

The first advertisement for a petroleum product was printed in the middle 1850s. It urged prospective buyers to "hurry before this wonderful product is depleted from nature's laboratory." Yet, despite similarly pessimistic predictions ever since then, reserves of crude petroleum and condensates were increased last year by more than one billion barrels.

Great Northern Pike

The great northern pike is an elongated slender type of fish with a color of bluish and greenish gray with more or less purplish luster on the back and sides; yellowish below and white on belly; sides with irregular rows of small round yellowish and gold spots. The top of the head is dark olive green; mouth slender and large. One of the most consistent marks for identification of this species is that the entire cheek is scaled while only the upper half of the opercle is scaled and the lower part is bare.

The general form of the muskellunge is similar to that of the common pickerel or northern pike. The muskellunge reaches a length of six or seven feet and specimens have been caught which weigh 50 to 60 pounds. Color is dark gray; sides have broken and unbroken stripes on a silvery background; the head is larger than that of the pickerel and both the cheek and opercle are scaled above but unscaled on the lower halves.

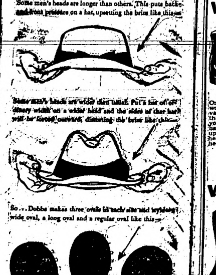
WHY DOBBS HATS FIT PERFECTLY

The story of the Three Ovals!

Some men's heads are longer than others. This puts backs and front pressure on a hat, upsetting the brim like this:

Some men's heads are wider than usual. Put a hat of ordinary width on a wider head and the sides of the hat will be forced outward, distorting the brim like this:

So... Dobbs makes three ovals in each size and style—a wide oval, a long oval and a regular oval like this:



Whatever the shape of your head, Dobbs fits you correctly, comfortably. Come in and we'll prove it.

500 STATE TRUCK OPERATORS FACE OVERLOAD CHARGE

Are Arrested Within Month for Violating Load Restrictions

As a part of Minnesota's determination drive to protect public roads from being spoiled for everyone by a few haulers of illegal overloads, state highway patrol officers have arrested more than 500 overweight-truck operators on state trunk highways within a month.

The drive is continuing thru April and early May to prevent hauling of over-limit loads from destroying or seriously damaging the driving surfaces of the state's highways during the spring breakup period, when surfaces and bases are weakened to 50 per cent or less of their normal carrying capacity.

Patrol arrests of this type totalled 298 from March 16 to March 31, alone, the first two weeks of general posted restrictions. Reports from patrol stations now indicate that the rigid enforcement results by reducing the number of heavy haulers who attempt to transport loads in excess of the maximum axle weight limits posted on virtually all unpaved trunk routes.

At the outset, approximately half of the trucks halted under circumstances indicating that maximum load limits for that particular type of highway were being violated were found to be carrying illegally overweight loads and their drivers were placed under arrest. Most of the arrests were result of weighing axle loads on the spot by means of portable loadometers, although 86 load limit violations were detected by weighing operations at established weighing stations.

State Highway Commissioner M. J. Hoffman pointed out that the state is just now entering the critical period when day-to-day weather, such as continuous rainy spells, will count heavily as to whether load restrictions can be eased on some sections of trunk routes or whether they must be continued. Normally the state can start increasing load limits on many routes some time between May 1 and May 15. However this is dependant entirely upon the conditions of the roads themselves, and the weights they are capable of carrying without suffering undue damage to surfaces and supporting bases which would: (1) dissipate the money expended in their development, (2) substantially reduce their serviceability for the balance of the year to the automobile and light truck drivers who constitute 95 percent of the state's traffic, (3) and increase the expense of their repair or rebuilding to a cost beyond the ability of the state to finance.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Senator Joseph H. Ball

It has been my job, as chairman of the Labor Subcommittee of the Senate's Labor and Public Welfare Committee, to conduct for two to four hours every morning for the past ten days hearings on proposed amendments to the Fair Labor Standards Act, sometimes called the Wage and Hour Law, which fixes a national minimum wage of 40 cents per hour and requires employers in interstate commerce to pay time and a half for all hours worked by their employees in excess of 40 hours per week.

There are a dozen bills before the Subcommittee, including one introduced by yours truly. There are three main issues involved.

One issue is the minimum wage rate. Living costs have increased about 50 per cent since the 40 cent minimum was reached in 1943, and average wages paid have doubled. Proposals before the Subcommittee would fix the minimum all the way from 50 cents to $1 an hour.

There are two aspects of a minimum wage. First, it prohibits a covered employer from paying less than the minimum rate and second, it prevents any worker from obtaining a job in covered employment unless he can find an employer who thinks he is worth the minimum rate. The task of Congress is to determine a minimum rate high enough to eliminate substandard and sweat shop wage rates, and yet not so high that its inflationary effects will wipe out the benefits to the lowest paid workers, or so high that any substantial number of least efficient workers will simply be unemployed because they connot find employers who think they are worth the minimum. This means as a practical proposition that the minimum can be only slightly above actual minimum wages being paid. This would be 60 or 65 cents today.

The second big problem is defining clearly an employee's "regular rate of pay, which is the basis of his time and a half pay for hours over 40 per week. This overtime provision was not in the bill first proposed in 1938 and was added later to force a "spread the work" policy. But it is the main headache of employers today and accounts for the great bulk of violations and also of employer liability.

There is no definition either of "regular rate of pay" or of "hours worked" in the law. Uncertainty over the latter and legalistic rather than practical court interpretations led to the billions of dolars of portal to portal" suits, and the problem was only partly solved by the Portal Act last year.

Recently a court held that daily overtime and all sorts of premium payments must be included in "regular rate of pay" on which overtime is calculated pyramiding an overtime and resulting in huge unforeseen liabilities for employers whose employees are paid far more than the minimum wage, often $1.50 and $1.75 an hour. Our Subcommittee is working on a definition which will clarify the term, and yet not drive small employers crazy with complicated bookkeeping—no small task. We heard one mine employer explain the intricacies of time keeping and wage computations under present law and our respect for payroll clerks rose 1,000 per cent.

The third issue involves all of the exemptions in the [illegible], chiefly from overtime provisions, for agriculture, some food processing, seasonal industries and the like, but chiefly the exemption for retail and service establishments.

Again, the law does not define [illegible] or service establishment, and the Administrator and courts have developed varying definitions which have given thousands of small employers a headache trying to figure out their position.

Defining a retail business looks simple, but try writing an exemption for such diverse concerns as the corner grocery, a big department store, an ice company, farm implement dealers, lumber yards and coal yards, without going too far and exempting interstate business that should be covered. We are finding it no simple task.

DEMAND FOR OIL, AND SUPPLY ALSO HIT RECORD PEAK

District Chairman of Industry Committee in Reassuring Report

Although petroleum supplies of record proportions will be available to the nation during the coming year, according to an official estimate reelased today, "the race to meet the enormous increase in consumption will be close," Walter L. Holmgren, district chairman of the oil industry information committee, said in making a public report of the national oil policy committee.

The committee estimates the total supply of petroleum available to meet domestic consumption for the 12 months' period starting April 1, 1948 will average 6,025,000 barrels a day, or approximately 8 percent above the demand in similar period starting April 1, 1947. "But, even with this increase, supply and demand promise to be in delicate balance," Mr. Holmgren stated.

This estimate is based in part upon the forecast of the U. S. Bureau of Mines, that, for this period, imports of oil will average 102,000 barrels per day more than exports.

"If conditions outside of its control do not retard the continued expansion of the oil industry," Mr. Holmgren declared, "all former records will be surpassed by quantities of gasoline and fuel oil produced during the coming twelve month period, and, if the public will practice reasonable restraint, deliveries will probably meet the increasing demands."

In arriving at this estimate, it was assumed that—

"There will continue to be freedom from governmental interference or controls;

"The excess of imports over exports will be at the levels estimated by the Bureau of Mines as of March 25, 1948;

"There will be no major interference with the industry's expansion resulting from strikes or disasters; and

"There will be no unusual outlays or supply failures in the flow of materials, on order and planned, which are required to carry out the expansion program during this period."

The committee believes that existing transportation facilities, plus new facilities which will be completed during the period, utilized to the maximum, will provide sufficient transportation to distribute the estimated supply availability shown in the report. Some of the present abnormal tank car movements, it is believed, will still be required.

Even though a breakdown in supply was avoided during the past winter, the race between unprecedented demand and record-breaking supply was so close that some spot shortages were unavoidable.

It is the committee's opinion that the industry will be able to meet a normal increase of 4 percent to 5 percent in demand during the coming summer-winter period without resorting to the various distribution expedients used last year.

Mr. Holmgren emphasized that the shortage of steel pipe for the drilling of the oil wells is causing great concern and unless more steel pipe becomes available to oil producers through regular channels the drilling program on which this estimate is based cannot be realized.

W. C. T. U. News Notes

Our president, Mrs. Ripley opened the meeting April 23, at First Lutheran Church. The program was given by the men. Rev. Johnson led in devotions with Jeremiah 35, and Torkel Ose spoke on John 3:17-22.

A mens' quartette consisting of Rev. Ronholm, Bernard Lanska, Wm. Gilbertson and Alfred Lasseson sang, "Jesus I Come".

Rev. Carl Fredrick Johnson gave a fine message on sobriety. He emphasized the need of knowing the truth. Approximately half the accidents are caused by drinking.

John Vielguth spoke on the effects of the liquor traffic. The war increased liquor consumption greatly. Liquor advertising is vicious and misrepresents true conditions. Laws are not enforced, for instance selling cigarettes and strong drink to minors. Thus far the Gideons have not been permitted to leave Testaments in the schools of Thief River Falls.

Mr. Serve spoke on the great need of continuing Temperance work. Even if the drys seem just a handful much can be and has been accomplished. We must continue and increase a strong educational program against liquor. Educators should not have their names on liquor petitions. Juvenile delinquency does not make a pleasant picture.

Mrs. Ripley reminded us again to write our senators and representatives on dry measures.

Miss Cook announced the District convention in Warren May 18, and told us about several of the attractions.

Notes of appreciation were read from the family of Mrs. Mary Longren, and from Miss Cook.

The speech contest will be May 11.

TAKING THE FIRE TO THE FIRE HALL

Hutchinson.—Charles W. Bell celebrated Spruce Up Day on his farm near here, burning some rubbish in the process. Later in the day he loaded a lot of litter into his truck, including the bonfire ashes. On the way to the dump the truck cab got noticeably hot, and the load was found ablaze. Instead of sending for the fire apparatus Mr. Bell exceeded the speed limit getting into town and to the fire hall, where the blaze was extinguished with negligible damage.

Early Fire Engines

Many early fire engines were destroyed by fire because the short range of the hose stream made it necessary to take the apparatus too close to the flames.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Institute of Child Welfare

Johnny Has a New Word

Four year old Johnny's parents were much amused one day as they watched him struggling with some difficult child-task and heard him mutter to himself at appropriate intervals and with proper emphasis: "Creesus Jeist." One could not help but wonder how they would have reacted if the little fellow had not gotten his syllables mixed. Their consternation would probably have been typical of many parents' feelings when their children first made use of what they think is bad or vulgar language.

No matter what the age of the child when he first uses some sort of objectionable language a good thing to do is look around close to home for his sources. Before you blame the neighbors' children for setting bad examples, listen to yourselves closely and be sure you haven't slipped into some careless habits of speech. Often we find ourselves using language that we would condemn in others, but do not realize that we use it.

Whatever words the small child uses, they have no value for him as good or bad words except as we attach the connotation to them. They only acquire significance when we become upset or when we remonstrate with the child. They become tools for him to use in many situations but especially as attention-getting devices.

If the undesirable words he uses are ignored they will drop out of his vocabulary as his skill in the use of meaningful words increases. If they do not disappear shortly, it can be explained to the child that they have no real meaning and substitutes may be suggested. Words which are not profitable as "attention getters" will soon be discarded.

WARNING GIVEN ON MEADOW BURNING

Beware of Forest Fires, Says Conservation Dept.

Spearheading the spring forest fire prevention program in Minnesota was the warning issued today by department of conservation officials relative to spring burning.

Early spring forest fires have usually spread from fires set to burn meadows and brush piles from land clearing operations. Right now it is particularly dry in the southern part of the state and the winds prevalent this time of year make purposeful burning extremely hazardous.

There is always a high hazard condition in spring in the northern part of Minnesota, and forestry regulations and laws require everyone to secure a permit to burn when the ground is not covered with snow. Each individual must use precautions to prevent permit fires from spreading out of control by plowing around the area to be burned and having ample water and manpower available to control the fire.

The best time for burning is usually in the evening, when the winds have subsided. Spring burning should never be attempted when there is a strong breeze prevailing. Permits to burn can be secured at forestry stations and from township fire wardens.

Spring fires not only destroy Minnesota's forest wealth, and endanger human life, but also constantly imperil the game-bird and other wildlife population of the state.

Minnesota Centennial Pageant Is Available from Historical Group

A pageant script, "Minnesota Hail to Thee!", written by Harold Searls, Centennial pageant director, has been published by the Minnesota Territorial Centennial Committee and is now ready for distribution, according to J. M. Nolte, director of the committee.

Nolte stated that the script was written especially for high schools or local communities and can be staged either indoors or outdoors effectively. The script is broad in scope, stressing many historical events of state-wide interest and is arranged to give communities an opportunity to include local happenings, folk arts, and significant local events, without detracting from the general pageant theme.

Upon request a copy of this publication will be sent to any Minnesota high school or community, Nolte said. Requests should be directed to the Territorial Centennial, Minnesota Historical Society, St. Paul 1.

PUBLIC OPINION

April 28, 1948

Editor The Times:

The Highway Patrol Officers stationed in Thief River Falls wish to express their thanks to two young men who through their alertness and cooperation were instrumental in the apprehension of a "Hit-run" driver on April 27.

Morris Owen Jr. and Maynard Wedul were witnesses to an accident which happened at 9:10 p. m. They carefully noted the license number of the vehicle and the time of the incident. They then went directly to the Police Station and reported their observations to the Police. Information furnished by them greatly facilitated the search and apprehension of the driver responsible.

Cooperation such as this is greatly appreciated and it is requested that anyone observing accidents carefully note the license number, make and color of the car if possible, the time of day and the exact location. Then notify the authorities immediately. If everyone will cooperate in this manner the authorities will be able to apprehend drivers who are a menace and thus make the streets and highways safer to travel on.

POWER PLANT BONDS SOLD ON BASIS OF 2 PCT.

Council Sells $250,000 Issue to Syndicate of Firms in Twin Cities

The city council at an adjourned session last Friday evening sold to a syndicate of Twin City firms $250,000 in bonds to finance the installation of a new 2,800-horsepower Diesel unit in the municipal power plant.

Two syndicates, headed by Kalman & company, the First National banks of Minneapolis and St. Paul and the Northwestern National bank of Minneapolis, joined in purchasing the issue on the basis of an interest rate of two percent per year, with the understanding that the city of Thief River Falls would pay $300 to apply on the cost of printing the bonds and securing a legal opinion as to their validity.

As has been the case in other recent bond sales, the sale was conducted on an auction basis, with oral bids being submitted, starting with an opening bid of 2.40 per cent. Also bidding at the start was Geo. A. Belto, president of the Northern State bank, representing the bank and the firm of Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis, of Chicago, who dropped out when the bidding got as low as an interest rate of 2.07 per cent.

The bonds will be dated July 1, 1948, and will be retired serially at the rate of $25,000 a year for ten years, starting after the third year. The new Diesel engine is expected to be delivered here late in June, and to be ready for use by early fall.

The two per cent interest rate on the bonds was considered favorable in view of the fact that rates on government obligations have risen one-half of one per cent during the past six months. The city obtained a record low rate of one and one-fourth per cent per year on the $250,000 issue of filtration plant bonds sold in October, 1945.

The council at its session also authorized City Engineer Douglas Stewart to make application to the state department of aeronautics for an allotment of funds to cover two-thirds of the cost of seeding the runways and ditches on the airport and repairing some erosion damage.

When no objectors appeared at the hearing called on the matter, the council granted to Andrew Norby a special permit to move a house on to Kinney av. S. between First and Day sts.

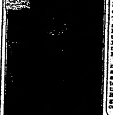
Judge Knutson Gets Associate Justice Post Appointment



JUDGE KNUTSON

Folowing the resignation of Justice Julius J. Olson of the Minnesota supreme court, Governor Luther W. Youngdahl Tuesday appointed Olson's former law partner, Judge Oscar R. Knutson of Warren, judge of the 14th judicial district since 1941, as his successor. He will take over his new duties next Monday.

At the request of the governor, officers of the district bar association met last night to arrange for a poll of attorneys to ascertain their recommendations as to a successor to Judge Knutson for the guidance of the governor in appointing a successor.

Knutson was appointed to serve on the supreme court until the fall election, when he will have to run for the office in order to retain it. The man appointed to the district judgeship also will be required to be a candidate this fall.

Justice Olson, who has served on the high court since 1934, said he is retiring because of poor health.

Justice Olson is 73 years old. He was born on the Isle of Dona, Norway, and came to Lake Park, Minn., when he was 8 years old. He graduated from Detroit Lakes high school and was admitted to the state bar in 1900.

Until 1930, Justice Olson practiced law at Warren. Judge Knutson was associated with him from 1927 to 1930.

Justice Olson was appointed district judge in 1930 and in 1934 was named to the state supreme court. He was elected to a six-year term the same year and was re-elected in 1940 and 1946.

He intends to spend the next few months, he said, at his summer home on Lake Miltona, near Alexandria.

Judge Knutson was born at Perry, Wis. Oct. 19, 1899, and moved to Warren when he was 17, after attending school at Superior, Wis. He graduated from the Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston, Minn., in 1919 and from the University of Minnesota law school in 1927.

The new justice was in private law practice at Warren until 1941, when he was appointed to the district court bench by former Gov. Harold E. Stassen. The next year he was elected for a six-year term.

Judge Knutson is president of the State District Judges association and is a member of the American Judicateur society and the district, state and American bar associations. He served three terms as mayor of Warren between 1936 and 1941.

The appointment was the first that Youngdahl has made to the supreme court since he took office. The only other judge who must make the race next November is Associate Justice Thomas F. Gallagher.

SENIORS PRESENT 'LOST HORIZON' AS CLASS PLAY MAY 14

Dramatization of Famous Book to be Presented in High School Auditorium

The senior class of Lincoln high school will present their class play "Lost Horizon," Friday evening, May 14, at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium. This play is a dramatization of James Hilton's novel of the same name.

The prologue, presenting a scene in an exclusive cafe, introduces a group of young people who are excited over seeing a distinguished party of four who come to occupy the reserved table. When these guests arrive they discuss a fragmentary musical composition said to be from an unpublished work of Chopin. To prove its authenticity, one of the men tells the story of Shangri-La as it was told to him by one who had been there.

The three acts of the play comprise his story which concerns a party of travelers kidnapped by a Tibetan pilot and brought to the secluded lamasary of Shangri-La. Here they meet scholars and musicians reputed to be over one hundred fifty years old. One of them had played this unfinished piece of music supposedly composed by Chopin whose student she claimed to be. All this the travelers find hard to believe as the inhabitants all have a decidedly youthful appearance.

The party try to get porters to take them back to the outside world but with little success. Meanwhile Conway, the leader of the group has many conferences with the High Lama of Shangri-La, a former priest now several hundred years of age. Knowing that he is about to die, Father Perrault selects Conway to take his place as ruler of the lamasary. Conway is fascinated with the idea, especially since he admires Helen, the girl said to be the former pupil of Chopin. However he feels an obligation to accompany his friend Mallinson out of the valley when the porters at last arrive.

In the retirement of Associate Justice Julius Olson Minnesota loses the service of a man who has been recognized as one of the outstanding Justices of the Supreme Court. In our corner of the state he was and still is just plain Julius, and that is as he would have it. He liked people and people liked him, and his decisions were distinguished for their down-to-earth, salty common sense. In his retirement there probably is much satisfaction for Justice Olson in knowing that he is succeeded to the Supreme Court as he was succeeded to the District Court bench by his partner and protege, Oscar Knutson. Judge Knutson has a good record to his credit as a district judge and he should make a valuable contribution to the deliberations and judgment of the state's highest tribunal of justice.

By winning nine delegates in Taft's home state Harold Stassen gets credit for another round in the pre-convention fight and the Senator from Ohio looks a little less like a champion. Now the scene shifts to Oregon where Stassen and Dewey square off for another slugfest. And neither candidate will pull his punches in this battle. For Dewey it is a last desperate chance to re-establish himself as a dragon slayer and if he fails to gain a vote of confidence from the people of this Pacific coast state then he no doubt will count himself out as a candidate. Isn't it strange how interesting a presidential campaign can be?

After more than a quarter of a century of good service the city's pavement is going to get a face lifting this summer. It cost in the neighborhood of a quarter of a million dollars, not counting interest on the bonds, to do the original paving job. That was back in the boom period that preceded the bust of the early twenties, and if the job had not been let when it was the city probably would have been without pavement several more years. Certainly there would have been no enthusiasm for big bond issues during the period of busted banks. As it worked out the paving resulted in considerable tax delinquency in the paving district and a few individuals had good property taxed away from them. That was bad, but nevertheless, from the standpoint of the city as a whole the paving was good. Fortunately the job was well done and with a new top coat the streets will be almost as good as new again.

It isn't only the streets in the business section that are going to be in the mess of reconstruction and repair this summer. There will be a lot of inconvenient detouring in and out and about the city during the summer months, caused by improvements of one kind or another. New sewer and water mains as well as street resurfacing will detract from the pleasure of driving. It is easy to be patient however when the inconveniences are temporary and essential to progress.

Lawyers of the fourteenth judicial district snapped to attention Tuesday as word spread that a judicial vacancy exists. Supreme Court Associate Justice Julius Olson had resigned. Governor Youngdahl had announced the appointment of District Court Judge Oscar Knutson to succeed him. And who, each lawyer asked, would succeed Oscar Knutson. Lawyers, rich and poor, aspire to judgeships, and lawyers in the fourteenth district are both rich and poor. The appointment will be made by the Governor but Governor Youngdahl has called for a poll of bar members to determine their preference. That brings up the question as to how judges should be selected and for our money we would let the lawyers name all of them. Lawyers have a greater personal interest in the qualifications of judges than any other group, and they are better qualified than any other group to appraise these qualifications.

Swede Lund's Northrop Yankees opened the Midget baseball program by defeating Herb Claffy's Northrop Lions, 11 to 10, Tuesday afternoon. Larry Gilbertson's stellar relief pitching was the factor that provided the Yankees with their win, for at one time during the game they trailed by a 10 to 2 score. Gilbertson also banged out 2 of the 3 hits that the Yankees garnered off the pitching of Don Johnson and Paul Hamilton.

In a twilight game Tuesday evening, the Knox Tigers, behind the steady pitching of LeRoy Aasland, took the measure of the Washington Wildcats, 9 to 3. Featuring the play of Tigers was the hitting of Bert Greenside, who connected for three hits, and the shortstop play of Jack Hoppe. For the losers, captain Kent Zabel, who punched out two hits in addition to turning in a first-rate defensive game, and Bob Helgeland, who pounded out a triple, were the standouts.

GRAND FORKS TEAM NOSES OUT LOCALS IN BEAVER RELAYS

Grand Forks Athletes Score 31½ Points to 31 for Prowler Team

Sparked by the record-breaking performances of Lloyd Hallada, who set new marks in the shot-put and broad jump, and Ronnie Thompson, who established a new 100-yard dash record, the Grand Forks Maroons edged out coach Quentin Jones' Prowlers, 34½ to 31 1-16 to win the Class A track and field championship in the sixth annual Beaver Relays held at Bemidji on Friday.

Hallada tossed the shot 40 feet, 10 inches, to break the old record set by Sebeka's Pete Sirrila in 1946; and in the broad jump, Hallada leaped 20 feet, 11 inches to add more than a foot to the old record set by Williams of Park Rapids in 1946. The Maroons jet-propelled Ronnie Thompson broke his own 100-yard dash record by racing the century in 10.3 seconds.

The Prowlers' mile relay team—Jack Winter, Norm Panek, Keith Rosengren, and Dick Davidson—set a new record in their event when they ran the distance in 3:47.8, breaking the record set by Bemidji in 1943. In addition to the first place scored by the blue-and-gold mile relay team, the Prowlers registered first places in the 120-yard high hurdles, with Al Williamson winning in 16.6; a win for the locals' two-mile relay team—Al Engelstad, Glen Johnson, Wes Olson, and Alan Cabot—and Al Williamson's first place tie in the high jump. The Prowlers out-pointed the Maroons on the first place finishes, four to three, but Grand Forks' greater strength in the 100-yard dash and the broad jump gave Don Hall's squad their three-point win.

Perham high school sprint medley team of Greiff, Lueders, Guck, and Meyer, accounted for the fifth record of the meet, having a mark of 3:49.5 for the event.

In the Class B division, Ada high school won first place with 63 2-5 points; while in the Class C division, St. James Academy, with 48½ points, was the winner.

8 RECORDS SET IN SIOUX RELAYS AT GRAND FORKS MAY 1

Grand Forks Track Men Place 1st with 47 Points; Prowlers Second with 39

Eight new records were established as more than 200 high high school track and field athletes participated in the third annual Sioux Relays held in the Memorial Stadium at Grand Forks on Saturday. The Grand Forks Maroons repeated their triumph of Friday at Bemidji by outscoring the defending champion Prowlers to win the Sioux Relays team title, 47 to 39, and again it was largely through the efforts of Ronnie Thompson and Lloyd Hallada that Grand Forks was successful.

Thompson, in addition to running the anchor leg in the 880-yard relay and which found Grand Forks setting a new record, marked up a new 100-yard dash record with a fine sprint of 10/10 seconds. And Lloyd Hallada pushed the shot out to the distance of 48 feet, 7½ inches for a new meet record.

The most exciting event of the meet was the 440-yard run and which found the Prowlers' captain, Dick Davidson, setting a new mark of 53.7 seconds to edge out Wilton's Bill Huhn by a yard. Davidson, leading all the way, was forced to his record-breaking performance by Huhn's "kick" in the final fifty yards, the Prowler red-head having enough stamina to hold off the challenge.

The Prowlers' Al Williamson, forced out the high hurdle event by a bruised leg received at Bemidji on Friday, leaped into a first place tie in the high jump event, sharing the new record with Arlin Amundson of Portland.

Other Sioux Relays records established were the mile run by Grafton's Gerald Goetz; the broad jump by Grand Forks' John Bennett; the pole vault by Grand Forks' Bradley Ford; and the 880-yard relay by Grand Forks. Goetz, a sophomore, ran the mile in 4:55.6, paring four seconds off the old record. Bennett's broad jump of 19 feet, 10½ inches, was an inch and a half longer than the record set by Sorenson of Minot last year. And Ford's pole vault of 10 feet, 3½ inches surpassed Myrom Lempe's old mark of 9 feet, 11¼ inches.

The Maroons and the Prowlers will continue their intense track rivalry this week when the two squads meet in the third annual North Valley conference track and field tournament at Grand Forks.

NO. VALLEY TRACK TOURNEY AT GRAND FORKS SATURDAY

Thief River Falls Squad Will Compete in Event with 5 Other Schools

Track and field squads from Thief River Falls, Crookston, Grafton, Grand Forks, E. Grand Forks, and Devils Lake will participate in the third annual North Valley tournament to be held in the Memorial Stadium at Grand Forks on Friday. On their performances to date, the Grand Forks Maroons and the Prowlers are favored to finish one-two for the team title. The Maroons have scored a pair of triumphs over the locals, winning the Beaver Relays by three points, and th Sioux Relays by eight points.

Giving a favorable break in the weather, a number of North Valley Conference records are certain to be broken. Prowler captain Dick Davidson appears a cinch to better his own mark in the 440-yard run. And Harvey Christianson's marks in the discus throw and shot-put are endangered. Al Williamson will probably shatter Cliff Aase's high jump mark of 5 feet, 1½ inches, for Al has been consistently been jumping 5 feet, 8 inches. Grafton's sophomore miler, Gerald Goetz, who won the Sioux Relays mile run in 4:55.6 should better the Conference mile record by several seconds.

The North Valley Conference records:

100-yard dash, Ron Thompson, Grand Forks, 10.1—1946.

220-yd dash, Ron Thompson, Grand Forks, 23.5—1946.

To Open School Baseball Season at Goodridge

The Plummer high school Cardinals will open play in the Goodridge-Oklee-Plummer high school league on Friday afternoon when they play the Goodridge Gold Sox on the Goodridge diamond.

Goodridge high school coach, Nonte Jarvi, announced that barring rain, the Community field would be in condition for the opening game. The Gold Sox have not named a lineup for the game, but coach Jarvi expects to start Ronald Buchols at first base, Irvin Dahle at second base, Lloyd Tanem at shortstop, and Wally Payne at third base. Harold Becker will likely get the hurling assignment with Tommy Thompson behind the plate.

Norman Bruneau, Ray Byklum, Loren Race, Vern Neuschwander, Carl Dahlin, Lloyd Wiseth, Ken Williams, and Roger Easthouse are contesting for the three outfield positions on the Gold Sox nine.

Elwood "Doc" Romnes, University of Minnesota hockey coach, and Jim Magnus, the Gophers freshman hockey coach, flew into town last Thursday and entertained a group of former Prowler hockey stars at an informal luncheon at the Rex. In attendance at the dinner were Bob Baker and Wes Hovie, Prowler All-State selections in 1945, and Bud Brossoit, Les Vigness, and Swede Lund, former all-regional players.

Doc Romnes made a favorable impression on the boys, and he presented some fine arguments on why they should make plans to attend the University and play their hockey for Minnesota. Romnes, a former National hockey league star with the Chicago Blackhawks, made some comments on professional hockey, and they weren't favorable, and he emphasized the fact that an education was much to be preferred over a "pro" hockey career.

It's just about time that the Minnesota hockey officials take notice of the high school hockey players that this region produces and that they make some effort to get the boys to enroll at the U. of North Dakota, though, has quite a toe-hold up here, and with a number of boys playing with the Sioux, and with hockey becoming the "big" sport over at Grand Forks, it will take some strenuous campaigning to get the eighth region's hockey players Minnesota-minded.

High Water.

The brook trout fishermen didn't fare so well in their excursions over the week-end, and they all have the same complaint—water was too high, and too rolled. Oscar Ellingson and Joel Nyquist found the streams at Kelliher overflowing the banks so they left there and tried Kabekona, south of Bemidji. That stream, too, was high and fishing was slow. The pair then headed for Straight river, south of Park Rapids, but they found that stream so heavily fished that it was impossible to get into the proper pools. On the way home, they fished Bad Boy creek east of Mahnomen, and there they picked up a few trout.

George Lowe spent a couple of days in the Park Rapids territory, fishing a stream north of town, and he, too, had slow fishing, coming home with four trout. And the Nesset creek, south of Clearbrook, was, according to Marsh Davidson, over-fished for there were forty or fifty anglers working that stream.

Notice to Ball Players.

Manager Clarence Rasmussen wishes to make this announcement for all prospective city team members: players wishing to try out for the team, and players wishing to know when and where the team is to practice, should contact The Pharmacy. Ras stated that the Pharmacy will be used as a "clearing house" for information pertaining to the ball team.

There are, perhaps, a number of capable ball players in town who are anxious to try out for the team, and who would enjoy playing some baseball. And that's the purpose of the baseball program here, to provide recreation and entertainment.

They Can Win.

Although the Prowler trackmen have been edged out of the team titles in the two meets they have entered this year, being runner-up to Grand Forks in both tourneys, Coach Quent Jones' squad, in spite of the fact that they will be competing against the Grand Forks team again, are a strong choice to take the North Valley Conference meet at Grand Forks on Friday.

While it is a question whether the Maroons or the Prowlers will take the conference team title, there's no question about track records being broken. That's a cinch. And doing these record-breaking performances will be Prowlers Dick Davidson and Al Williamson. Dick should better the 440-yard mark, and Al should post a new high jump mark; and push Pete Simonson's high hurdle record. Grand Forks' muscular Lloyd Hallada is sure to break the shot-put record; and Hallada, if he has recovered from his ankle injury, or John Bennett have a chance to beat the old broad jump mark.

SPORTSMEN WILL FIX FISH REARING PONDS ON MONDAY

Local Club Will Sponsor Evening Repair "Bee" on Thief River Golf Course

Members of the Pennington County Sportsmens club will use spades instead of golf clubs on the local golf course next Monday evening, May 10, at 6 o'clock to assist in putting the fish rearing ponds on the course in condition for the planting of a quantity of fish fry.

Arrangements for the "bee" were made Tuesday evening at the May meeting of the sportsmens club, and Tom Peck, president, expressed the hope there would be a large turnout of members. The fry planted this spring will be set out in the river here sometime during the fall.

It also was decided to extend the bird house building contest sponsored by the club until the June meeting. Entries are to be left at the Northern Woodwork company office.

Motion pictures were presented dealing with the canoe trip made last summer in Northeastern Minnesota by a group of local Boy Scouts.

BLUE SHIELD PLAN OR MEDICAL CARE STARTED IN STATE

National Director Cites Objections to Socialized Medicine

The inauguration of the Blue Shield plan for medical care in Minnesota is another step forward in the fight to prevent nationalization of medicine in America, according to Dr. Paul R. Hawley, executive officer of the national Blue Cross and Blue Shield commissions in Chicago.

Speaking at the inaugural dinner which launched the new Minnesota Blue Shield plan last week in Coffman Memorial Union, University of Minnesota, Dr. Hawley stated that the voluntary health plans, such as Blue Cross and Blue Shield, uphold the principles of democracy in their provisions for the hospital and medical needs of the American people and form a bulwark against the perils of socialized medicine.

"Socialized medicine would be the first step toward complete government control of all industry and of all free enterprise," he pointed out.

"The nationalization of our health services would destroy the feeling of independence, personal responsibility and security which is so essential to our democratic society," he added. "Government has destroyed these spiritual values wherever it has encroached upon the framework of individual enterprise and upon the personal responsibility and initiative of the individual citizen."

Dr. Hawley, who spent 30 years in the Army and upon retirement served two years as Veterans' Administration medical director before assuming his Blue Cross-Blue Shield post April 1, believes that if a compulsory government health insurance were adopted, it would be the "most extravagant experiment that U. S. taxpayers have yet been asked to support. I know, for I have spent 32 years in government service."

POLITICAL ROUNDUP

By Arthur Naftalin

Former Governor Harold Stassen may be in the peculiar position of being too successful. His series of smashing triumphs in the several presidential primaries has projected him into the No. 1 spot among the many Republican contenders with the result that, for the other candidates, he has become the man to beat. The GOP "old guard" is plainly worried that the Stassen momentum may sweep him into the nomination. If Stassen is to be blocked, his opponents may find that a coalition of their forces is their only hope. Thus, Stassen's show of strength may have been too big, too soon.

The man most likely to get the support of those determined to head off Stassen is Michigan's Senator Arthur Vandenberg. He has played a cautious game of avoiding involvement in the pre-convention maneuvering. As a result, all the other candidates would find him a convenient coalition choice. Stassen, himself has praised Vandenberg many times and has stayed out of Michigan, regarding that state as certain to enter Vandenberg as its "native son" candidate. Moreover, Vandenberg's position on the all-important foreign policy question is most nearly like Stassen's of all the various contenders.

Even if his opponents can prevent his nomination, Stassen will still be a source of worry for the "old guard." How can the national GOP convention find a spot for Stassen that will satisfy his large number of followers? This may be no easy question to settle. If the convention should select a nominee and adopt a platform which clearly repudiates Stassen's foreign and domestic views, the Republican Party may find itself confronted with a basic split on issues that would have wide ramifications. It is conceivable that feeling over candidates and issues could mount to the point where factionalism could upset the GOP's chances for victory in 1948.

Minnesota politicos will be interested in Stassen's role in the national GOP convention for many reasons. One important related matter is the state's contest for United States Senator. If Stassen gets the Presidential about Republican incumbent Joseph H. Ball? Stassen has shrewdly refrained from endorsing Ball for reelection, and, in his Presidential campaign, he will be seeking votes in large industrial centers where organized labor—which dislikes Ball with a vengeance—is strong. If he fails to get the nomination, will Stassen settle for the Vice Presidential spot, for the promise of a cabinet post, or will he move into the Minnesota Senatorial picture himself?

Governor Luther W. Youngdahl's action in investigating conditions in the state's mental hospitals has come with good timing for both his own campaign for reelection and for Stassen's Presidential campaign, should he be the candidate. Experts have known of the deplorable conditions for a long time, and, if corrective action were not instituted immediately, the matter might very well become a national issue with Stassen's opponents claiming that, despite all the ballyhoo about his administration as governor, he had failed to handle this problem. If Stassen is the candidate, you can be sure that Minnesota and its Republican administration of the last 10 years will go under the nation's political microscope.

The outcome of the struggle for control of the Democratic-Farmer-Labor party will not be conclusively known before the DFL county conventions which are set for Friday, May 14. The issue is now clearly drawn between the regular DFL'ers and those who are supporting Henry Wallace's Third Party. The final determination of the contest will come at the state convention in Brainard on June 12. It appears now as if, whatever the outcome so far as control is concerned, that two different parties will emerge out of the struggle, that there is no possible chance of any reconciliation.

The major objective involved in the DFL struggle is the use of the party's name. The regular DFL'ers naturally want the DFL to remain as part of the national Democratic Party; the Third Party is out to destroy that relationship. If two conventions are held, both claiming to be DFL, two sets of presidential electors will be filed with the Secretary of State. It will be up to him to determine who has the legal right to the use of the DFL name, and a court suit most likely would follow. Thus, the battle could conceivably rage thru the summer months into October.

SMILEY

4-H Sunday

A joint service of the Kratka 4-H club and the Smiley 4-H club was held at the Telemarken church in Kratka Sunday afternoon, May 2. The Kratka club members were the hosts. The service opened with everyone singing the hymn "What a Friend We Have in Jesus". Rev. E. O. Sabo gave a nice sermon based on the theme, "Loveth Thou Me?" The 4-H club program was then turned over to the Kratka president, Roger Mickleson who also extended a welcome to the Smiley club. Kenneth Skymanski led the two clubs in giving the 4-H pledge. All members of both clbs then joined in singing the 4-H hymn and Come Thou Almighty King. Oscar Breiland read an article on the origin of 4-H Sunday; the Wold sisters accompanied by Marilyn Runnestrand on a string instrument sang "The Old Rugged Cross"; a reading "My Home" was given by Donald Breiland; Glenn Lendobeja read a 4-H resolution and Betty Olson gave a prayer. This concluded the Kratka portion of the program and it was then turned over to the Smiley president, Alan Cabot who extended a "thank you" to the Kratka club for their kind invitation. Seven Smiley girls sang "A Song of the Open Country". Donald Knutson gave a reading, "The Country Church"; a group of Smiley parents sang, "Stand Up for Jesus" and "He Keeps Me Singing", and Jerald Nelson gave a reading "Courage". Prior to going to the church parlors for an excellent lunch the table grace was sung by everyone. The green and white 4-H colors were used in the decorative motif on the lunch tables and elsewhere.

They stressed the various interesting and unusual methods of cleaning upholstery, walls, and such. They showed how to repair furniture and screens and how to make an excellent newspaper filler for cracks in walls and furniture. Mrs. Ranum the hostess provided a guessing contest that was won by Mrs. Mary Lindholm and lost by Mrs. Stella Boese. Non-member guests were Mrs. Burdick and daughter, Mrs. Sherwin Ranum and son, Mrs. Gilfred Sannes and son. Olga Ranum served a lovely lunch. Look who gets squeezed!

Union leaders representing less than one-tenth of railroad employes reject recommendations of President's Emergency board—refuse to negotiate except on their own terms—threaten to paralyze nation by strike!

THE LEADERS of three railroad unions, representing less than one-tenth of all railroad employees, have called a railroad strike that would paralyze the nation.

These leaders refuse to accept a 15½ cents an hour wage increase retroactive to November 1, 1947. This increase was recommended by an impartial Emergency Board appointed by President Truman.

This increase of 15½ cents already has been accepted by the 19 other railroad unions. But the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the Switchmen's Union of North America won't accept what more than 90% of all railroad employes have accepted. They have called a strike to get more!

Unions refuse rules discussion

Certain rules changes demanded by these union leaders—which would increase wages still further—were recommended by the Board. But the union leaders want more—they demand that the railroads put into effect ALL the changes they asked for, including those the Board felt should be denied.

On top of this, they insist that certain rules changes proposed by the railroads be withdrawn—in spite of the fact that the Board recommended them! These union leaders have refused to negotiate except upon these arbitrary terms.

Greater wage increase not justified

Engineers and firemen are among the highest paid of all employes in America, as figures in the box show. This strike threat doesn't justify giving a greater increase than other railroad workers received.

Emergency Boards are a means provided by the Railway Labor Act in the public interest to avoid strikes. The President's Board, after hearing evidence for 33 days, made recommendations based on all the facts in the case. The railroads have accepted these recommendations.

Who's to blame?

Although they deplored so large an extra cost burden, the railroads accepted the report of the Board because they felt it was in the public interest to uphold the spirit and intent of the Railway Labor Act.

In contrast, this small group of railroad union leaders are attempting to flout the intent and spirit of the Railway Labor Act, and dictate their own terms.

They have dictated a paralyzing railroad strike.

You will be the victim!

How long will the American public stand for the undemocratic, arbitrary, and abusive use of the right to strike and the disregard of the obligation to provide transportation? How long can the American people permit a few dictatorial union leaders to defy the processes provided for peaceful settlement of disputes?

Force seldom produces settlements that are either fair or lasting. Moreover, a point is often reached when personal interests must be held subordinate to the greater public welfare. That is why the railroads have accepted the Emergency Board recommendations. That is also why the leaders of these three unions should reconsider their decision to call a paralyzing strike.

Compare these wages with what you make!

Here is a comparison of average annual earnings of engineers and firemen for 1939 (pre-war) and 1947. Also shown is what 1947 earnings would have been if the 15½ cents per hour increase, offered by the railroads and rejected by the union leaders, had been in effect throughout the entire year 1947.

Spring is here—12 months a year
It's always Spring where barley starts on its way to becoming malt in the Home of Budweiser. Spring-like conditions are necessary in order to make the kind of barley malt required by the most expensive brewing process known to America. So, by forcing air through a man-made rainstorm, we create a warm, moist atmosphere that coaxes the barley to sprout, the first big step in malting. This then is followed by many painstaking steps that in the end bring you the distinctive taste and elusive bouquet found only in Budweiser.

Looked at and looked up to
This is the one, of course, that you spot at a glance.
This is the one that sends a string of facts racing through your mind —if you know automobiles — the instant you see the name ROADMASTER spelled out on its fender.
Up to one hundred and fifty Fireball horsepower. Eighteen feet big — and spring-colt lively.
Gorgeously finished. Coil-spring cradled on all four wheels. Shod with oversize tires that take extra low pressures for added comfort.
Convenient too — with push-button controls not only for the top, but for door windows and the front-seat adjustment as well.
This, too, is the only passenger car in this country where the power plant does what gears used to do.
Here's the one place you'll find Dynaflow Drive,* in which liquid replaces not only the clutch and manually operated low, second and high, but mechanical gear-changers as well.
In short — here's liquid ease and smoothness in delightful new degree, through a sort of "magic muscle" that lets you forget about gear-changing practically entirely.
No wonder, then, this car is looked up to.
Looked up to for impressive appearance — looked up to for superlative ability.
Looked up to for what's newest in engineering advances.
If your standards call for a real performer — and for quality a cut above the ordinarily good — specify ROADMASTER when you see your dealer (with or without a car to trade) about getting an order in.
WHAT'S DIFFERENT ABOUT DYNAFLOW DRIVE?
BUICK alone has all these features
When better automobiles are built BUICK will build them

Placed End to End

If all the 192,000 railroad bridges in America were placed end to end, they would span from New York almost to Berlin. They represent an astronomical investment of $2,500,000,000 — about one-eighth the total value of all railroads. Just to keep them in good shape costs over 40 million dollars a year. Despite expenditures of 319 million for freight cars, locomotives and 1½ billion dollars for fuel and material, and 500 million for equipment and other improvements, railroads reduced their funded debt by more than 3½ billion dollars.

Spices Called Essential

In World War II the American spice industry was declared "essential" by the war manpower commission. A similar action was taken by the Romans in 61 B. C., when a law was passed exempting members of the spice industry from military service.

GOVERNORS AWARD DINNER IN STATE'S SAFETY SPOTLIGHT

Pennington County to Receive Top Award in Its Division May 11th

The spotlight of Minnesota's statewide accident prevention efforts will focus next week upon the Governor's safety award presentation dinner and a series of related safety conferences to be held at the Saint Paul Hotel on Tuesday, May 11.

State and local safety leaders from all parts of the state will attend the annual award dinner to be presided over by A. V. Rohweder of Duluth, president of the Minnesota Safety Council, who this week announced the completed program. Governor Luther W. Youngdahl will personally present hteplaques and certificates to the many counties, municipalities and organizations who won signal recognition for their success in accident prevention during 1947.

At the dinner Pennington county will receive the top award in Group AE, including counties with population ranging from 10,000 to 15,000.

President Rohweder will report to the gathering in the progress made during the first quarter of the year toward Minnesota's immediate goal to "Save 400 Lives in 1948, 399 and Yours."

Although advance figures from all divisions of the safety drive are not yet available, the traffic safety phase of the campaign will account for a saving of 47 lives during January, February and March, or nearly one-half of the 100 quarterly quota necessary for all divisions to attain the year's 400 goal. Traffic fatalities for the quarter were 83 as compared with 130 in 1947.

Children's Crusade Asks $3,465 in Pennington Co.

County goals for the Children's Crusade in Minnesota were announced this week by Harry Zinsmaster, Duluth, state chairman for the $1,050,000 American Overseas Aid-United Nations Appeal for Children. The quota for Pennington county has been set at $3,465; Marshall, $4,305; and Red Lake, $1,470. With announcement of the campaign came formal opening of the drive throughout the state and word from national headquarters that more than $1,000,000 of the national goal of $60,000,000 had been contributed before the campaign opened.

10,755 INSPECT FREEDOM TRAIN AT GRAND FORKS

Lines Many Blocks Long Wait for Hours to View Historical Collection

A total of 10,775 persons filed through the Freedom Train in Grand Forks Friday to view its cargo of priceless historical documents. Many from this community inspected the exhibits.

The steel doors of the seven-car cavalcade opened shortly after 9 a. m., but a line began forming as early as 6 a. m. and at various times during the day it was estimated that 5,000 persons were massed in lines five blocks long.

After waiting from five hours during the day to two hours toward evening, those who filed through the train viewing the historic documents emerged with an expression of satisfaction on their faces, a manifestation that it really was worth the while.

The red, white and blue train glistened in a warm sun all day and at night it presented an even more thrilling spectacle under a barrage of floodlights from both sides.

Only complaint voiced by the spectators was that they had to move through the train too fast to be able to read the priceless documents.

FARM BUREAU ASKS END OF PACKING HOUSE STRIKE

State Organization Urges Workers to Accept 9-cent Hourly Pay Boost

A plea to CIO strikers to accept the 9-cent an hour wage increase offered by the packing companies, and go back to work, was made by the board of directors of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, in session in St. Paul this morning. The Farm Bureau directors, governing board of the 65,050 farm families that make up the Minnesota Farm Bureau, declared that the prolonging of the strike would merely add to the misery of the CIO workers who have been unemployed since March 16, and would place additional burdens on farmers and consumers, who are innocent victims of the strike.

President Truman's board of inquiry pointed out, the farm leaders said, that the 9-cent wage increase offered by the packing industry was a "substantial offer and adequate to cover changes in the workers' cost of living."

Lewis M. Larson, of Albert Lea, chairman of the federation's livestock committee, said that the Truman commission's report hinted at a hidden reason for the CIO strike — in fact, strongly intimated that the CIO might have accepted the 9-cent wage boost if the two rival meat packing unions, the AFL and the National Brotherhood, had not accepted it.

"There are strong intimations," Larson said, "that the leaders of the CIO are jockeying for position against the other two unions, with the hope of getting more than the 9-cent pay hike the other unions accepted, so that the way can be paved for CIO raids on the membership of the two rival organizations.

The Farm Bureau appeal to the strikers also was directed to the packers, who were asked to make every effort to resume full operations.
